Gangster Victim Found Stabbed At Upper Falls

Thrown From Car Seriously Wounded

Frank Joyce, 30, of 580 Gallivan Boulevard, Dorchester, was thrown out of an automobile on Oak street, Newton Upper Falls, Monday night about 11 o'clock after he had been seriously stabbed by some unknown person. Clement Joyal of Carl street, Upper Falls, was walking on Oak street near the railroad, accompanied by his wife, when he observed Joyce staggering across the street bleeding from severe wounds in the abdomen and face. Joyal noticed a large sedan disappearing down the street. He assisted Joyce into Tocci's barber shop at 112 Oak street and the police were notified. The police ambulance with Patrolmen Murphy and Walker took Joyce to the Newton Hospital. Questioned by Inspector Goode of the Newton police, Joyce stated that he had been "taken for a ride" by three men who carried him in the automobile from downtown Boston to the Oak street spot where he was ejected from the car. He claimed that he only knew his three assailants slightly and did not reveal their identity to the police. Inspector Goode believes that Joyce was stabbed before the car arrived at Upper Falls and that the wounded man is the victim of some gangsters. The man also had a bad head wound where his assailants had hit him with a stone.

Joyce was a construction worker, but had been unemployed. He resided with his parents at the Dorchester address. He had been confined in the past of carrying burglars' tools and of shoplifting.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S PLAY

The play, to be given at the church at 8:00 o'clock is entitled "Nightmare" and deals with the humorous, exciting, and scandalous happenings in the combined lobby and lunch room of a would-be exclusive and up-to-date small-town hotel.

The cast includes Garfield Anderson, Carl Timble, Bonney Jean Cleland, Earl Butler, Gwen Brown, Winston Mercer, Laura Jane Beebe, Ruth Granger, Gladys Anderson, Betty Seeley, Chester Brown, Vivian Purdy, and Edwin Halliday. Miss Dorothy Drew is in charge of costumes, and Mr. Everett Johnson, assisted by Howell DuPay and William Jones, has arranged a very unique stage setting.

Masons Strike At New City Hall Building

Refuse To Accept Wage Reduction on Wednesday

About 30 men employed at the new city hall went out on strike Wednesday. The men who went out included bricklayers, marble setters and cement finishers. Their grievance was a reduction in wages, of 20c an hour by C. S. Cunningham & Sons, the contractors, who are building the structure. The announcement that the new wage scale would go into effect Wednesday was objected to by the strikers because they stated their union had not agreed to accept the reduction. The other workers on the building, including roofers, plumbers and steam fitters, continued at work as they contended the strike had not been formally authorized by union officials.

A conference was held at the office of the contractors in Boston on Wednesday afternoon but no agreement was reached. The strikers contended that they should continue to be paid $1.50 per hour and Cunningham insisted on the new wage of $1.30. No attempt has been made to replace the strikers by non-union workers. Should this be done the other tradesmen on the building would probably stop work.

ANNUAL MEETING OF NEWTON CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The annual meeting of the Newton Chamber of Commerce will be held on Wednesday night, May 18 at the Brae Burn Club, Fuller street, West Newton. Dinner will be served at 6:30 and reservations must be in by noon on May 17. The subject "Modern Merchandising" will be discussed by Edward J. Frost, Vice President and Director of Finance of William Filene Sons of Boston. Others who have been invited to speak are Mayors Weeks and Carl P. Dennett, capitalist. Reservations may be made at the office of the Chamber of Commerce, 277 Washington street, Newton.

TEST OLD CITY HALL BELL

The large bell which hangs in the tower at the old City Hall at West Newton was tested to determine its tone yesterday. James Newell of the Public Buildings Department struck the bell while an expert tuner listened to register the tone. Mr. Willis of the firm of architects who designed the new city hall will endeavor to find a purchaser for the old bell, which has sounded from the building for generations; first as a church bell when the structure was used as the Congregational Church and then for many years as a fire alarm bell.

Appropriation of $74,000 Made for Work on Streets

Demands for Soldiers' Relief Rapidly Increase

The meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night started at 8 o'clock. There was a "short recess" from 9:35 to 10:40 and the meeting adjourned at 10:55. It can thus be observed that the meeting actually occupied 110 minutes and the short recess 65 minutes; which shows an improvement over some preceding meetings. All of the Aldermen were present except Alderman Howlett.

The principal features of the meeting were the attendance by three score Hunnewell Hillites and hearings on several petitions regarding gasoline filling stations, details of which are printed elsewhere. The first matters on the docket were hearings on petitions of the Telephone Company for underground conduits on Boylston street along the route of the proposed Worcester turnpike, and on Washington street, near Peabody street. None appeared to oppose. George H. Hall of Kewadin road appeared to protest against being assessed for a sewer betterment on Tamworth road. He said he had endeavored to get information from various city officials, but couldn't seem to get to first base.

John Peakes of Plymouth road was kept busy when in turn he arose to favor the improving and acceptance of Kingston, Plymouth and Sagamore roads. He stated that the residents of these streets are not anxious to have sewers laid in them, but if this is necessary in order to have the streets accepted, no objections will be raised.

On the favorable recommendation of the Licenses Committee the Board granted a common victualler license to Henry O'Brien at 100 Needham street and a permit to the Edison Company for an underground conduit on Homer street. The Board accepted the adverse report of the Licenses Committee and refused to grant permits to John B. Johnson for pool tables in the building at Bacon and Washington streets; to Martin Witmyer to conduct a garage repair shop at 169 Lexington street; to the Mexican Petroleum Corp. for another driveway at the station, 349 Lexington street.

The petition of Rev. Charles Bryson for a waiver of the setback line on Wiltshire road from 15 to 12 feet was granted; an irregularly shaped lot necessitated this waiver. Charles M. Boyd was granted a permit to erect an addition to a greenhouse at 130 Washington street.

The appointment of A. Stuart Pratt as a member of the Retirement Board was confirmed. The appointment of James B. Melcher of George street, Newton, as a member of the Playground Commission, to succeed Charles F. Johnson who has resigned, was received from Mayor Weeks.

Appropriations made by the Board included — Street Department for street construction work, $48,000; construction of streets under the Law, Bernard street, $9534; Dwindle road, $7699; Hammondwood road, $2835; Varick road, $4437; Waban avenue, $6510; sewer in Varick road, $1209; in Waban avenue, $6510; soldiers relief, addition $10,000. Alderman Bail for the Finance Committee called attention to the appropriation for soldiers relief and said it is in addition to $20,000 already expended for this purpose so far this year. This amount is larger than what has been heretofore expended in any entire year.

FIRE AT AUBURNDALE

A large shed on the property formerly owned by the late William H. Mague at the rear of 18 Lexington street, Auburndale was burned Wednesday afternoon about 4:30. The structure caught fire from burning grass.

Newton Y.M.C.A. Holds Its 55th Annual Meeting

Frederic D. Fuller of Newton Re-Elected President

President Frederic D. Fuller was re-elected President of the Newton Y. M. C. A. at the Annual Meeting on May 2nd, Frank A. Day was chosen Vice-President, Edwin O. Childs, Clerk, and Walter C. Wrye, Treasurer.

Mr. William H. Rice, Chairman of the Nominating Committee, presented the names of Frederic D. Fuller, Marvin B. Perry, Charles D. Kepner, Edwin O. Childs, D. Webster Anders, Frederic B. Eastman, E. Graham Bates, and Walter C. Wrye to serve as Directors for three years; William C. Pickersgill to serve for two years; Paul M. Goddard to serve for one year; Charles E. Riley and Henry B. Day to serve as Trustees for four years, and William Hall Best to serve for two years. The resignations of G. Clement Colburn, Charles B. Floyd, and J. William Blaisdell were received with regret. Mr. Colburn has served as a Director and a member of the camp Committee since 1923. Mr. Floyd has served as a member of the Physical Department Committee since 1925, and Mr. Blaisdell has served as a Director for twenty-five years, thirteen years as Treasurer of the Association and eight years as Vice-President.

Mr. Fuller presented Mr. D. Fletcher Barber, who has been a member of the association since its organization in 1877 and Mr. Pitt F. Parker who was 4th General Secretary of the Association, serving from 1894-1900.

The Guest and Speaker of the evening was Rev. Ralph H. Rogers, Minister of the Auburndale Congregational Church. Mr. Rogers made a plea for Christian neighborliness and commended the work of the Y. M. C. A. as it is conducted both at home and abroad. At the close of his address he urged the young men to work for international goodwill and friendliness among all races.

Mr. Frederic B. Eastman, reporting for the Men's Activities, first called attention to the work of the Y. M. C. A. in China. He said in part, "It is unnecessary to remind you that in China, civilization itself appears to be in ferment. Bled white by twenty years of civil war, tortured by the most disastrous floods and famines known to modern history, China now faces perhaps the most trying ordeal of all—the thunder of the invaders' guns. It is an appalling spectacle—hundreds of millions of people, practically helpless before all the forces which are grappling there of which we easily recognize two: Communism and Christianity. The echoes we hear, are the echoes of that mighty battle. Its outcome is important to our future. And such letters as the one recently received from Mr. Brockman tell us of the fight, in which the Y. M. C. A. has borne a gallant part. The 'Y' at Soochow has helped with just about everything in the catalogue—food, medical care, social services for the restless and discouraged, religious services for the sick of heart."

Speaking of the work of the "Y" in Newton, Mr. Eastman said "It has been an inspiration to every member of this Y. M. C. A. to come here throughout the month of the year and find the whole outfit busy as a beehive, working for the health, the character, and the ideals of the young men of this community. Clean sport, clean recreation, and good companionship have been here in abundance. The Y. M. C. A. has supplied something that is fundamental to American citizenship. President Hoover, Owen D. Young, and every other leader in the Unemployment Relief Campaigns, have stressed the value of those services which maintain the morale and character of our people, that unbreakable combination which was the rock-ribbed strength of the founders of our country—the sound mind and the sound body."

"The work of raising funds has been handled in the past largely by the Directors and Secretaries, who have given their best energies to it. Nevertheless, it is probably true that the financial support has come mostly from the same group, year after year. Now, the Y. M. C. A. has done its work for the Community. Who can say that the 'Y' has not helped the very essence of Newton's citizenship, past, present, and future? It would seem, therefore, that we might work to extend the circle of our supporters."

At the close of Mr. Eastman's very fine presentation, Mr. Clarence V. Moore, Chairman of the Physical Department, presented the Blaisdell Cup to Mr. John L. Sullivan who has won the trophy three times in the Blaisdell Cup Squash Tournament during the past four years. Mr. Sullivan has been Captain of the Squash Team for a number of years and so far has proven to be the best player among the members of the Association. In a few well chosen words, Mr. Sullivan thanked Mr. Blaisdell and Mr. Moore for the cup which now becomes his personal property.

Mr. Martin A. Campbell, speaking for the work of the Junior Department, called attention to the large number of (Continued on Page 5)

Water Pageant At Crystal Lake June 3rd and 4th

To Be Conducted By Newton Civic Arts Asso.

The Newton Civic Arts Association, the outgrowth of the organization which was formed to produce the Newton Tercentenary Pageant in 1930, announces a Water Pageant to be held on Crystal Lake, Newton Centre on the evenings of June 3rd and 4th. Preparation for the event has definitely advanced. All the Newton villages will participate in the staging of a colorful pageant of water floats portraying costumed scenes from famous operas under the charm of night illumination and with fitting accompaniment of musical excerpts from the operas. Among those chosen are Verdi's "Trovatore", Bizet's "Carmen", Wagner's "Lohengrin", "Tannhauser", and "Walkure". Singing and dancing will also be featured.

Great care and much time are being devoted to the creation of a varied picture of rare appeal to the senses and to the imagination. As the association undertakes no activity for the purpose of commercial benefit all funds over necessary expenses will be held in trust for application to the assistance of worthy talent and for similar future enterprises for the entertainment and benefit of the community as a whole. The stimulation of interest and actual participation by Newton citizens, young and old, who desire to develop talent in pageantry, drama, music, the dance or any of the fine and decorative arts, is a main object of the association. The success of the Tercentenary Pageant demonstrated that there is an array of talent in the city that had previously been somewhat obscured through the lack of opportunity to express itself. Last year open air concerts were given at the Newton Centre Pageant Amphitheatre under the Association's direction which were largely attended and greatly enjoyed.

The coming Water Pageant will be under the direction of C. Hasler Capron with the assistance of various committee chairmen. Mr. Ernest Herrman, Superintendent of Playgrounds for the City of Newton, will have charge of playground activities which will have a share in the program, and Rupert C. Thompson, Jr., of Newton Centre will be the pageant treasurer. Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., and Mrs. John F. Capron of Newton Centre will be co-chairmen of patronesses and Mrs. Arthur W. Lane and Miss Anne E. Bunker of Auburndale will be in charge of tickets. D. Ralph MacLean of Newton Centre will head the music committee and Mr. Percie E. Woodward of Newtonville the committee on floats. Benjamin Q. Bologna will be in charge of construction. Mrs. Worthing L. West and Mrs. Roger E. Hall will have charge of the refreshments. Mrs. Ralph Henry will be in charge of the cast. Publicity chairmen are Mrs. J. Earle Parker and Ralph Henry.

NEAR EAST BUNDLE DAY

To the Citizens of Newton:
The Near East Relief, an organization chartered under an Act of Congress for the purpose of aiding and clothing the destitute orphans and adult refugees in the Near East, has appealed to us for co-operation in the furtherance of the most worthy cause.
MONDAY, MAY 16, 1932 designated as NEAR EAST BUNDLE DAY, and I sincerely hope all citizens will be as generous as possible in donating clothing.

I realize that during the past year the demand upon our citizens for the relief of our people at home has been very heavy, but I hope it will be possible to spare a little for the Needy in the Near East.

Fire and Police Stations through the community are offered as depositories for bundles for the Near East Relief.

Auburndale Man Honored on His 90th Birthday

George M. Fiske Long Active in Civic Affairs

George M. Fiske of 438 Wolcott St., Auburndale observed his 90th birthday at his residence on Monday, May 2nd. There was an informal reception attended by his son, J. Parker B. Fiske of Detroit; his daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Albert R. Bacon of Medford; his grandchildren, Charles P. and Robert B. Fiske of New York, Helen Fiske and George A. Fiske of Auburndale. Also present were about 40 neighbors and friends.

George Mann Fiske was born in Medfield, Massachusetts in 1842. At the age of 19 he enlisted in the 42nd Mass. Regiment to serve the Union in the Civil War. Returning from the war he engaged in farming for several years and moved to Boston in 1871. He engaged in the business of making and dealing in cements and fire brick, specializing in terra cotta and fine face brick. His products were shipped all over the world. In his 87th year he completed a book—"Evolution of Brick and Brickmaking in America."

He came to Auburndale in 1875 and during his long residence there took a prominent part in civic affairs. He served on the old Common Council and was an Alderman in 1883 and 1884. He has held about every position in Charles Ward Post, G. A. R., and was Vice Commander of the Massachusetts Dept. G. A. R. For many years he served as President of the Boston Rescue Mission and has been prominent in temperance work. He was active in the affairs of the Congregational Church. In 1864 Mr. Fiske married Sarah Wilder of Medfield. She died some years ago.

Hunnewell Hill Folks Crowd City Hall Again

Come To Protest Against Extending Hunnewell Ave.

For the second time in the past few months a large number of residents of the Hunnewell Hill section of Newton crowded the aldermanic chamber at City Hall on Monday night to protest against a second petition for the extending of Hunnewell avenue from Elmhurst road to the Brighton line. To be exact, this latest petition asks that the street be extended to approximately 15 feet west of the Brighton line. The petition which was presented a few months ago by the heirs of the Whiting estate was refused by the Board of Aldermen following a hearing which was largely attended by protesting Hunnewell Hillites.

John W. Webber of —, one of the petitioners, opened the case for the proponents by telling the Aldermen that the granting of the petition would not only permit the owners of the former Whiting property to make beneficial use of their land, but it is also for public interest. The building of the street extension and the erection of several houses would provide work for some of the unemployed. Also the street would permit the police to patrol the back land of the Whiting estate where, according to Mr. Webber, rough characters congregate and idle and disorderly persons gather.

Frank P. Scofield of 11 Washington street displayed a map to show the Aldermen the location of the property in question and the advantage the proposed extension will give. He said the plan calls for a 5-foot strip of land at the end of the extension which will serve as a barrier to prevent traffic coming over the street from the Brighton side. Alderman Jamieson asked City Solicitor Bartlett if such a strip can be deeded to trustees and thus serve as a permanent barrier to through traffic. Mr. Bartlett answered that any future Board of Aldermen can vote to accept a street through this strip.

Payson T. Lowell, Jr., of Day street, Auburndale, son-in-law of Mrs. Scofield, one of the petitioners, stated that the Scofield family will reside at 11 Washington street and so they are interested in keeping the neighborhood a desirable section. He repeated the statement made by Mr. Webber that the back land on the Whiting property, near the railroad property, is frequented by idle and disorderly persons, and this nuisance would end if the property is developed. Mr. Lowell stated that the plans on city atlases have shown for many years that the avenue was supposed to be extended through to the Brighton line. (Continued on Page 6)

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

TRACK TITLE

The Newton High outdoor track team opens its season tomorrow afternoon at the Worcester Tech intercollegiate. The orange and black will be defending the title it won last year with its strong outfit and will attempt to annex its third victory in four years as Newton also triumphed in 1929. In the indoor season this past winter Newton failed to win a solitary title in considerable contrast to the previous season when it annexed all but one of the major titles. But the outdoor team this spring gives indication of being a considerably stronger outfit than the indoor team. Coach Don Enoch has high hopes of his lads coming through tomorrow although they will be pitted against such strong teams as Brookline, Lawrence, and Brockton among others. Interest in outdoor track has taken a great leap since the new track has been made available and the Newton mentor has been watching the candidates for the team develop in their favorite events.

Stanley Johnson, star of the indoor team, is captain of the outdoor outfit and is looking forward to a great season. He negotiated the high hurdles in 16 3/5 seconds last week which is fast stepping for a schoolboy. He has high hopes of pressing John Donovan, the Lawrence star, for ranking honors. Last year Green and Donovan had some great battles and Johnson is running almost as well as Green did a year ago. He will also be a possible point scorer in both the high and broad jumps.

Douglas Sloane has been timed in 10 2/5 seconds for the 100-yard dash on several occasions which should be almost fast enough for a first place at Worcester. Bill Cusamano, a tall sophomore who made good indoors with but little experience, is the best 220-yarder on the Newton squad. He has acquired considerable confidence in himself through his indoor running and is looked upon as a good prospect.

The 440-yard run will be well taken care of by Frank Tuschner who ran the 300-yards in doors and looks even better at the longer distance. Tommy Fitzgerald, 1000-yard runner, is available again and will be a strong competitor in the 880. Phil Andres will also run the half mile.

With Johnson in the field events team will be other members of the indoor team such as Joyce Blume in the high jump, Tom Molloy, George Gullian, Tom Kiraide, and John Howley in the shotput and discus throw.

SPORT NOTES

Fessenden Wins

Fessenden School intermediates baseball team defeated the Winchester State Day school on Wednesday at the winners' diamond in West Newton, 10 to 6. Carver and Quinn were the local battery. The Fessenden team made five hits, 10 passes and five Winchester errors aided them in their run.

Sutcliffe With Seconds

Bill Sutcliffe, former Newton High and Bridgeton Academy athlete, is playing in the outfield for the Harvard second. Wednesday the seconds were beaten by Dean Academy, 14 to 3, with Andy Madden, former Brookline High star pitcher, on the mound for Dean. In Monday's game with St. John's which the Crimson won in the 16th inning, 5 to 4, a pass, a poorly fielded ball, Sutcliffe's sacrifice and a long fly to centre produced the winning tally.

Gallagher Wins Fourth

Herb Gallagher, local youth and star athlete of Northeastern, won his fourth straight game off the season on Wednesday pitching the Huskies to a 13 to 4 win over the Bowdoin nine. Gallagher had but one bad inning, the fifth, when Bowdoin bunched four hits for four runs.

Signore In Road Race

Augustus Signore of Newton Centre, running for the Cathedral Club, has entered the 10-mile N. E. A. U. handicap road race at Fitchburg tomorrow.

Dartmouth Losses

The Brown tennis team triumphed over the Dartmouth netmen last week Friday at Providence, 5 to 4. Arthur Noble, local youth and number two player on the Green team lost his singles match after a long battle, 2-6, 12-10, 6-1, but then teamed with Captain Richardson to win at doubles, 9-7, 6-3.

Tech Tops Tufts

M. I. T. topped Tufts on the tennis courts last Friday, 8 to 1 in the opening match of the season for both teams. Bob Hanley of Newton, No. 5 player for Tech, won his singles match and then teamed with Koener, Tech No. 1 player, in doubles to win again, Saturday M. I. T. defeated Amherst 6-3 with Hanley winning at singles and doubles again and Norman Harris of Newton blanking his opponent A. singles, 6-0, 6-0.

Colby at Third

Warren Colby, local youth on the Yale freshman nine, helped his mates to an 11 to 3 victory over Andover last Saturday. In five times at bat he connected for one single and in the field accepted eight out of nine chances faultlessly. He played the entire game at third base as the Eli yearling pitcher, Harrington, went the route. In a previous game Colby had relieved Harrington in the box as the opposition staged an eight run rally. Colby was successful in halting the rally.

Get Revenge

Yale got revenge on Pennsylvania last Saturday defeating the Quakers 8 to 0 and taking first place in the intercollegiate league. Allie Fletcher performed well at second base with one single in four times at bat and handling four chances without error.

NEWTON COMES THROUGH TO BEAT
SOMERVILLE 9-6

For the first time this season the Newton high baseball team came through in the pinches with resounding hits to upset the opposition when in the opening Suburban league game of the season at Somerville on Wednesday the orange and black cohorts subdued the favored Somerville coached outfit, 9 to 6. As Somerville meets the strong Cambridge Latin team in its second league game this afternoon the Somerville mentor saved his pitching ace, Danny Lynch, and sent his sophomore southpaw sensation, McCaskill against Newton. The Newtons took kindly to his offerings for thirteen hits while Captain Tommy Rhodes, Newton southpaw ace, was limiting Somerville to nine scattered hits, not more than two coming in any one inning. In the ninth inning with Newton leading 6 to 3 Coach Dickerman sent Lynch to the mound for an inning's workout and Newton promptly tallied three more counts.

Coach Jones of Newton made a couple of changes in his line-up which worked to great advantage. Patterson replaced Flagg at third base and Tommy Lyons donned the catcher's mask and protector in place of either Channagane or Kevenik. Coach collected three hits five times at bat and were important factors in the Newton victory. Patterson, perhaps, is not quite as valuable as Flagg on the defensive but Lyons bolstered up the receiving job considerably.

Terry beat out a hit to shortstop Colombo and took second on the last play of the first inning. Newton was down in the first but Huston and Houghton were both thrown out at first. In the Somerville half things began to look bad for Rhodes as two tallies were quickly chalked up but he eventually settled down with little difficulty thereafter. Landani smacked a single over second and Donahue laid down a sacrifice. Rogan drew a walk and both moved along on a short passed ball. Houghton gathered in Davis' high fly and Rappl and came to bat. The Somerville catcher drove a single to right centre to score his two mates. Ash fanned to end the inning.

Newton came right back with two runs in the second inning. Waters tied to short to start. Hudson hit to Davis and was safe when the Somerville third baseman booted the rap. Patterson singled to right, sending Hudson to third. Lyons hit to the pitcher and was tossed out at first. Patterson taking second but Hudson being held at third. Rhodes crashed a single to right centre and Hudson and single to right centre. Mullen's liner to center was taken on the run by Buckley.

Hudson made a nice running catch of Buckley's long fly near the left field foul line to keep Rhodes out of trouble in the last of the second. Newton fumbled Colombo's rap just long enough for the Somerville shortstop to reach first. Rhodes fanned. McCaskill and Mullen took Landani's fly to halt the Somerville attack.

Newton added three in the third. After one was down Huston beat out a rap which Davis stopped back of third, stole second and went to third on a wild pitch. Houghton fanned. Huston scored. Waters grounded to centre which the latter booted for his second error. Hudson drew a pass. Patterson singled to centre and Waters tallied with Hudson going to third. Lyons singled to right to score Hudson but Patterson was caught at third by Richfield. Ash's throw to Davis to end the rally. It was one, two, three for Somerville in the last of this inning.

With two down in the fourth Terry dropped a Texas leaguer in centre for a hit, stole second and went to third on Colombo's error of Huston's ground. Both were left when Houghton fanned. Rappl led off with a single to centre. Chesterfield, Somerville star athlete, went to bat for Ash and later resumed his usual position in centre-field with Buckley moving over into right. Chesterfield worked Rhodes for a pass. Huston took Buckley's fly back of third for the first out. Colombo hit an infield fly to Houghton and was automatically out but Houghton dropped the ball and Rappl and Chesterfield started to advance. The Newton infield threw the ball around. Uncertain just what to do, and the Somerville basemen got back to their right bases without being tagged out. Houghton took care of McCaskill's grounder for the first out. Rhodes was pulled out of a bad situation.

It was down in order for Newton in the fifth on three infield raps. Somerville got two runners on in its half but failed to tally. Landani led off with a single to centre. Donahue fanned to Hudson and Rogan to Hudson. Davis singled to left but Rhodes bore down to fan Rappl who had delivered in the pinch in the first inning.

Newton filled the bases in the sixth but could not score. With one down Rhodes walked. Mullen stopped a McCaskill pitch with his ankle. Terry sacrificed the two runners along and the Somerville pitcher purposely walked Huston. The strategy worked as Houghton grounded to Davis and was thrown out at first. Somerville was pulled out of its half on Patterson's error on Buckley's fly and Colombo's double to the fence in left centre.

Waters got a hit on a liner to Colombo which the latter knocked down but could not field and was out stealing second a moment later in the Newton seventh. Hudson fanned and Patterson grounded to Colombo. With one down Davis singled in Somerville's half but Mullen saved trouble with a nifty running catch of Rappl's long fly and then grabbed Chesterfield's fly for third out.

Lyons' single to right, Rhodes sacrifice and Terry's single to left added another Newton tally in the eighth. Somerville got runners on first and

OUR LADY LOSES
TO THIRD PLACE

Losing two games in the past week the Our Lady High School baseball team, defending champions in the Greater Boston Catholic High School league, dropped to third place in the standing. The St. John's team of Cambridge, now holding second place, forced the Newton team off the top perch last Friday by staging a ninth inning rally of four runs to win 6 to 3. On Monday the present leaders, Immaculate Conception of Revere, again put the skids under Our Lady to win 7 to 2 and tumble the locals into third place.

The game scheduled for today at St. Charles was put ahead a day and was staged yesterday with the Our Lady nine getting back onto the winning path with a 9 to 5 victory. Timely two-base hits by Gallagher, O'Connell and Murphy brought the local team victory with rallies in the second, fourth, seventh and ninth innings. The fourth inning rally was of three runs and each of the others of two tallies. Moran was the leading batter for Our Lady with three singles in five times at bat. Lombardi, O'Connell and Gallagher each got two safeties as their share of the total of twelve hits. Jimmy Murphy pitched and fanned twelve, while issuing six passes and allowing but five hits. The St. Charles runs were chalked up one at a time except in the fourth inning when two runs counted.

In the St. John's game at Victory field Jimmy Murphy of Our Lady and Phil Vahey of St. John's staged a great pitching battle. Vahey allowed a few more hits than Murphy but the latter passed five against no free tickets by Vahey. Vahey also fanned eleven while Murphy sent back eight by the strikeout route. In the ninth Our Lady led by a 3 to 2 margin when Murphy weakened and passed two to field one-handed and his comeback a hit produced four St. John's runs and sewed up the game.

On Monday at Revere the Newton team was held to two hits by Captain Joe Donnelly of the Immaculate Conception High team, one a double by Moran and the other a triple by Moran. Moran twirled for Our Lady and allowed but five hits. He passed nine and fanned seven. The Revere team staged a four run rally in the eighth to clinch the game after taking a 3 to 2 lead in the fourth inning. Both teams had tallied two runs in the third frame.

Next week Tuesday, May 10, St. Mary's of Brookline comes to Newton and on Friday Our Lady meets Mission High at Roxbury.

second with one out in its half but the two next batters could not get the ball out of the infield and the inning ended without a score to send the game into the ninth. Calder batted for McCaskill in the eighth and Lynch went to the mound to pitch the final inning.

Houghton drew a walk and Waters sacrificed. Hudson hit a Texas leaguer to centre to score Houghton. Patterson doubled to left centre and Lyons smacked a single to centre to score both his teammates. Mr. Lynch was finding the going rough but Rhodes and Mullen grounded out. Somerville made a bid and produced two runs in its half but the rally was stopped long before it became dangerous. Patterson booted Rogan's rap. Houghton made a great catch of pinch-hitter Falco's foul fly near the concrete stand. Rappl rapped out a grounder but the throw to second was half a step late and both runners were safe. A passed ball moved them along and Rogan tallied when Chesterfield beat out an infield hit. Buckley's single scored Rappl and Chesterfield was held at second. Colombo fanned to Terry in right field and Chesterfield, apparently thinking two were out dashed for third and continued on towards home. Terry threw to Patterson and the latter tossed to Huston at second to double up Chesterfield and end the game.

This afternoon Newton entertains Rindge Tech at Claffin Field in the second league game of the season. As Rindge topped Brookline on Tuesday, 7 to 1, the game will result in the breaking of a deadlock for first place. Coach Jones will probably send Phil Giles to the mound with Jimmie MacAdams in reserve. Lyons has earned the right to start behind the bat as Patterson has at third. Unless Flagg, Channagane or Kevenik perk up in hitting the shift is quite likely to be permanent.

Next week Newton will entertain Framingham High at Claffin Field on Tuesday and will go after another Suburban League victory on Friday when Cambridge Latin is the visitor. Should Giles go the route against Rindge Tech today as expected Coach Jones will then have MacAdams primed for Framingham with Choquette and Murphy in reserve while Captain Rhodes will be available again next Friday after plenty of rest.

The game next Friday with Cambridge Latin should go a long way towards deciding the outcome of this year's league race. With "Muggsy" Kelley, Cantab pitching ace, pitching the best ball shown in schoolboy games this year, it should be quite a contest. Last year Rhodes twirled a no-hit game against the Cantabs and will have to be at his best to grab off another victory.

WARREN STARS IN YALE VICTORY

Playing his first game of the season for the Yale baseball team this week Tuesday Captain Edgar Warren led his mates to a 15 to 2 victory over Wesleyan playing in right field. Last summer Warren was injured in a motorboat accident and suffered the loss of his left arm. The injury was thought to have terminated his baseball career which gave prospects of carrying him to great heights. He was regarded as one of the best shortstops in college baseball. While the injury undoubtedly prevented the popular Eli captain from reaching greater athletic heights it failed to keep him on the bench. Displaying remarkable courage and perseverance, he learned to bat and to field one-handed and his comeback has brought many expressions of admiration.

Using a special bat and swinging with his powerful right arm the former Newton High athlete played a prominent part in his first game since the unfortunate accident. He scored two of Yale's runs against Wesleyan, drove in another, got one hit in four times at bat and drew one base on balls. In the field he had but one chance to field the ball but on this occasion held the batter to a two-base hit on what might well have been a triple. The ball rolled to the right field fence but Warren retrieved it in time to hold the runner at second.

The many friends of the Yale captain will watch with interest his return to the game and trust that he will play an active part in whatever success the Yale nine may have in its future games.

ARBOR DAY

One of the very interesting events which took place on Arbor Day was the planting of a tree, a Norway Maple, in Nye Park, Auburndale, by the West Newton W. C. T. U., in memory of Miss Anna Adams Gordon, World's President, who passed on in July, 1931. Miss Gordon came to live in Auburndale when a child and the house where the family resided for many years is still on Grove street. She was one of a family of seven children and many of the older residents of Auburndale can well remember the Gordon family. She was a most remarkable woman, devoted to every good for the betterment of humanity. She became an ardent admirer of Frances Willard and took up the temperance work with vigor.

After serving this organization in many official ways, at the death of Miss Willard, she was made World's President, an office which she held at the time of her death.

The exercises were under the leadership of the President, Mrs. M. Millie Beardsley.

Two songs which Miss Gordon wrote, "March of Allegiance" and "Work for Enforcement", were sung. Mrs. Helen Merriman led in prayer. Interesting sketches of Miss Gordon's life written and read by Dr. N. Louise Rand followed. Mrs. Sue Hector sang in a most impressive manner "Trees", by Joyce Kilmer.

Rev. R. H. Rogers of the Congregational Church, which Miss Gordon attended, offered the closing prayer which was followed by singing of "America the Beautiful". A canteen was buried under the tree with a record of her life and each one at the exercises placed a shovel of earth in the opening and laid flowers at the base of the tree. Thus ended a very lively and impressive service in honor of a noble and beautiful woman.

The members who attended the banquet chartered a special bus for transportation. The program included a very fine turkey supper, followed by a fine entertainment.

The members of the two winning teams were presented with beautiful cups with their names engraved thereon. The two teams were composed of the following:

Jack Hines, captain; George Monks, Patrick Donohue, and John Burke.

John Priest, captain; Jack Higgins, James Connors, Jack Sheade, and Edward Foley.

The highest single prize was awarded to Thomas Foley.

At a short business meeting of the bowling committee, over which Exalted Ruler D. Walter Kearn presided, plans were made to entertain the Bowling League of the Winthrop Lodge of Elks at the Newton Home on the evening of May 16.

Map of Hammond Pond Parkway Section

The accompanying map shows the proposed change in the route of the parkway which will carry the boulevard from West Roxbury and Brookline to Newton Centre. The present plan would bring this parkway by the shore of Hammond Pond to a point on Beacon street near Hobart Road. The proposed change routes the boulevard to the extreme westerly side of Hammond Woods and brings it out by Glen avenue onto Beacon St.

NEWTONVILLE MAN CHARGED WITH $36,000 THEFT

Arthur L. Bulling, 36, of 22 Arden road, Newtonville was indicted by the Middlesex Grand Jury on Tuesday charged with the larceny of about $36,000 from the Roxbury Carpet Company of Saxonville. Bulling was cashier and head bookkeeper for this company and had been in its employ for 12 years. It is claimed that by using false entries on his books, the alleged thefts were not discovered until March of this year when an audit was made. In the Superior Court at Cambridge on Wednesday Bulling was sentenced by Judge Hammond to serve from 4½ to 5 years in State Prison.

St. Bernard's Court, M. C. O. F. will hold a class initiation on Monday, May 9, at 8 p. m. in Hibernian Hall, Cherry and Washington streets, West Newton. It is expected that a large number of members will be present.

NORUMBEGA DISTRICT COUNCIL OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

The Executive Committee of the Norumbega District has been re-organized with the following members: Mr. G. M. Willmarth, Mrs. Edmund I. Wilson, Mr. Wm. A. MacCormick, Mrs. E. W. Taylor, Mr. Paul Leslie Jones, and Mrs. R. H. Bird. The officers and this group met last Thursday evening, at the Eliot Church.

Plans were made at that time to promote the Home Study Standard which has been adopted by the District, under the slogan, "At least one-half hour of work by the pupil outside of class in connection with each lesson in every Sunday School of this District."

The first local church school to adopt this standard has been the Auburndale Congregational Church. Others are expected to follow, as soon as the executive committee members can assist in explaining the plan to church school leaders.

The task of religious education of children and youth is the joint responsibility of home and church. In homes where lesson study has been encouraged, great help has been given not only to the pupils who gain more from the lesson, but to the teachers, who can make the lesson period more valuable.

Aldermen Hear More Petitions for Gasoline Stations

Arguments for and against gasoline stations occupied some of the time at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night. For some months gasoline station hearings have not held held the place of prominence they formerly did at meetings of the Aldermen, but at the last meeting they were quite in evidence.

The first "gasoline" hearing on the docket was that on the petition of William R. Scully for a permit to erect and conduct a filling station on Winchester street, Newton Highlands, near Boylston street. Thomas Weston appeared as attorney for Mr. Scully. He explained that Scully bought the land 3 years ago and then offered to trade it for city owned land across Winchester street, near Cook street. According to Mr. Weston, this trade would have been beneficial to the city as it would give them the land owned by Scully adjacent to the Newton Highlands playground; and the city, he believes, will eventually want this land. But, Mayor Weeks and the Assessors did not enthrone over the offer made at that time by Mr. Weston. Instead of swapping the city owned land for an equal area of the Scully owned land with a bonus of $400 given by Scully, the city officials asked for a bonus of $10,000. Later, Mr. Weston stated, the city was offered $4000 by Scully in addition to the swap of land.

As the city refused to make the trade, Mr. Weston argued that it should grant Scully the permit on his own land. He made the agreement that if this permit is granted, Scully will ask payment for the value of the land, buildings which may be erected on it, and value of any business established, should the city take this land within 10 years. If the city does not take the land until after 10 years, no damages would be claimed for the value of the business.

The reason the Mayor and Assessors value the city owned land at a fair figure is because this land abuts the Boston & Albany Railroad and so has desirable facilities for freight service by a spur track. This makes the land valuable either for a city storage or receiving yard, or for a gasoline station where tank car rates could be obtained; especially with the new Worcester turnpike just around the corner.

The second gasoline hearing was on the petition of Emmanuel DeFazio for a permit to install an additional tank and pump at 123 River street, West Newton. DeFazio said the permit, if granted, would allow the removal of two smaller tanks, make it unnecessary for tank trucks to enter the place so frequently and improve the appearance of the station.

Miss Annie Dignim of Auburndale avenue, owner of property next to DeFazio's filling station, objected to the petition. She termed the station a nuisance and said there is a crowd hanging out there all the time. Frank O'Donnell, a member of the Newton police force, who resides in the house adjoining the filling station, also objected. He said that DeFazio had agreed to keep the existing tank away from the O'Donnell residence, but did not keep his word and placed the tank so near the house that the fumes from the gasoline are a nuisance. O'Donnell told the Aldermen that one day recently he had been informed that gambling was going on at the station. He also charged that cars obtaining gasoline there were parked across the sidewalk when being filled, and that small children attending the nearby Franklin School had to walk out on the street as a result.

The third gasoline act on the Aldermanic program Monday night was another episode in the Kligman gasoline serial which has been running before the Aldermen for years. It might appear that this is the final episode, as the Board voted to grant the permit to Kligman, provided that certain conditions are complied with. These conditions are—that the locus must be filled to the grade of the street with good gravel-fill, a retaining wall must be built at the rear, a fence on one side of the lot and shrubbery planted on the other side; two 25-foot drives must have concrete ramps from the street over the sidewalk; the surface of the yard must be of crushed stone, the pumps and air-towers must be located according to plans; the service building must be erected and constructed in accordance with the plan. When all these conditions have been complied with, and not until then, can Mr. Kligman exercise the permit and sell gasoline at 456 Watertown street.

Alderman Smith was the only dissenter on the report of the Licenses Committee which recommended the granting of the permit to Kligman. He did not favor the permit because Kligman's house stands close to the street line and Smith thinks it causes a menace to traffic with cars entering and leaving the station. He raised a charter objection so that the matter could be held over for 2 weeks to allow all the Aldermen to visit the locus and view conditions. President Collins ruled Smith's charter objection out of order as this matter had been discussed at a previous meeting. Smith then moved that the matter be referred back to the committee. Aldermen Hawkins and Holden objected. They argued that this matter has been before the Board for a long time and the conditions are thoroughly known. Alderman Temperley called attention to the fact that the principal objector to Kligman's former petition, the Newtonville Improvement Association, does not now object. Smith's motion to refer back was defeated and then the Board voted to grant the permit. So, if Kligman meets the conditions imposed, he can finally start to sell gasoline.

Romances of Furniture

Hepplewhite, 1789, had the classicism of French Art under Louis XVI as his chief inspiration.

He is mainly credited with development of the modern sideboard, invariably with concave curves at the ends, to distinguish them. Many of his sideboards were erroneously attributed to the Brothers Adam because of an urn surmounting a pedestal cupboard.

Chairs were Hepplewhite's hobby with the shield and interlacing heart backs predominating though a mention should be made of his Prince of Wales Plumes, made in a set of chairs for the then Prince of Wales. His chairs invariably were made with suspended backs, unbroken from post to post.

Hepplewhite did very little carving and such as he used was very light and delicate; depending for ornamentation upon painting, japanning, inlays and small brass studded nails.

The chief factor in the beauty of Hepplewhite furniture is its fine proportions. His favored wood was mahogany but also employing satinwood extensively.

Police News

In the Newton court on Friday Robert Whittemore of 35 Harvard street, Newtonville, was fined $50 for driving after his license had been revoked. In court the same day Francis Lambert, 17, of Winthrop avenue, Newton, and John Keaveney, 17, of Elmwood street, Newton, each charged with burglaries, were held for the Grand Jury.

Enrico Bartolomei of 35 Dalby St., Nonantum, was in the Newton court last Friday and received a suspended fine of $25 for disturbing the peace when he agreed to pay Patrolman Mooney $12.50 for a pair of pants. Enrico had got drunk, become ram-bunctious, and when Mooney went to arrest him, he tore the policeman's pants to ruin.

Edwin C. Johnson of 43 Carver Rd., Newton Highlands, on the night of April 23rd made a few mistakes, according to testimony of Patrolmen Smith and Sullivan given in the Newton court on Monday. Johnson made the mistake of driving so recklessly that he forced another automobile off the north roadway of Boylston street, Newton Highlands, and he made the mistake of doing this to a car occupied by two policemen. The policemen testified that Johnson, driving westerly, passed another car and then approached them on the left side of the road until they were forced to steer the cruising car onto the railway reservation to avoid a collision. Turning the car around, they pursued the reckless driver and caught him at Hartford street. The driver proved to be Johnson. According to their testimony, Johnson explained his action by saying that he forced them off the road to teach them to keep on the south roadway of Boylston street, where cars going easterly belong. This was another mistake, because the north roadway of Boylston street is not a one-way street and cars can be operated either direction on it. Johnson's attorney asked that the case be placed on file so that his client would not have his license suspended. The judge refused to comply and fined Johnson $20. He appealed.

COMING EVENTS

Newton Community Club

On May 16th, the Newton Community Club is giving a May Party and Bridge at the Hunnewell Club. The committee in charge of this affair consists of Mrs. Robert F. Estabrook, chairman; Mrs. Louis J. Hunter, tickets; and Mrs. Charles M. S. Foster, who is in charge of the luncheon, which will be served at one o'clock. Bridge will follow. Tickets for both luncheon and bridge are $1.00. For those who are interested only in the bridge, tickets are 75 cents.

A second and equally delightful event, sponsored by the Newton Community Club, through the Conservation Committee, of which Mrs. Frederick H. Loveland is chairman; the Social Science Club and the Newton Garden Club, is the Flower Show which will be held in Channing Church on Tuesday, May 10th, from 2 to 7 o'clock.

The public is cordially invited to attend this affair. Tea will be served to those who wish it, at a small fee. There is no charge for admission. There are six classes of exhibits, entries for which must be made by May 7th, with Mrs. Ralph N. Hall, vice chairman of the Conservation Committee of the Community Club, whose telephone number is New. No. 0442R, and address, 226 Park street.

Prizes will be awarded for the outstanding exhibits, judged on special points for each group. The entire schedule for these may be found in last week's GRAPHIC.

Members of the Conservation Committee who are assisting in this exhibit include Mrs. Philip Jamieson, Mrs. Clarence E. Allen, Mrs. Maurice W. Dennison, Mrs. Ralph W. Angier, Mrs. Joseph W. Gerrity, Mrs. Herbert C. Fraser, Mrs. Frank F. Lamson, Mrs. Robert G. Howard, Mrs. Nicholas Young, and Mrs. Frank P. Scofield.

Newtonville Woman's Club

A Special Meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Club has been called for Tuesday, May 10th, at 2:30 p. m., to consider the advisability of purchasing the Universalist Church, on Washington Park, Newtonville, for use as a Club House. This meeting will be held in the Universalist Church, so giving members an opportunity to inspect the property under discussion.

Newton Centre Junior Woman's Club

The energetic Juniors of Newton Centre, under the direction of Mrs. Fred D. Bond, are this season putting over a strenuous program. The Club has greatly enlarged its membership this season, and in addition to its regular activities along social and philanthropic lines, has added a chorus, which has also been very busy.

The first offering, a varied and interesting concert, given in January, was remarkably well patronized and much applauded, and now the chorus have in preparation a delightful Musical Fantasy, entitled "The Bells and Roses," written by the well-known Boston composer, Charles Reppe, which will be given in the Newton Centre Woman's Club auditorium, on June 2nd under the direction of the chorus leader, Mme. Russell.

In addition to this undertaking, the Junior Club is staging one number for the May Festival to be held at the Boston Y. W. C. A., on May 7th, when they will put on a couple of Florida songs, in appropriate costume, with soloists.

Further, they will send at least twenty delegates to the Junior Chorus at Swampscott for Junior Day, where they will be assisted by a number of singing societies from Auburndale and West Newton, who are rehearsing under Mme. Russell's direction in the Newton Centre, in preparation for the big Junior event of the State Federation on May 21st.

Presidents' Club

The many Newton women who are members of the Presidents' Club by eligibility of having served as Club presidents, will be interested in the announcement that the Annual Meeting of this Club will be held at the Hotel Vendome, Boston, on Wednesday, May 11th, at 2 o'clock. The program will be given by Mrs. Benjamin Derby, who will sing Indian songs, in costume; Mrs. Helen M. Harmon, Reader; and Mrs. Howard G. Simonds, Trumpeter, all members of the Presidents' Club. Mrs. Simonds will be accompanied by Mr. William Hoyle. Mrs. Fred L. Pigeon will be the guest of honor, and the program will be followed by a social tea in charge of the Hospitality Committee, of which Mrs. F. D. Lawley is chairman. Mrs. Walter A. Hall, president, will preside, and there will be the election of officers for the ensuing year.

State Federation

MAY FESTIVAL. The event of the week that is stirring the interest of State Clubwomen and enthusiastic Juniors is the attractive Festival planned by Mrs. L. William Crowell, chairman of Junior Membership, for Saturday evening, the 7th, in the auditorium of the Boston Y. W. C. A. Music by the Club Chorus, entertainment by talented Juniors, the Victory Song, written in honor of Mrs. Poole, played for a soloist, Mrs. Rose Zuhalian, by its composer, Mrs. M. H. Gulesian, of Newton Centre, a playlet by the South Weymouth Juniors, speeches by Mrs. Poole and Mrs. Schrader, and lastly, but by no means least, dancing, will make up a delightful evening, by which funds are to be raised to send a Junior delegate to the Biennial in June, at Seattle. Junior Club presidents will act as ushers.

Seats at 50 and 75 cents may be obtained by all interested to attend this affair, which will open at 8 p. m. Of special interest to Newton, which is well represented in plans of entertainment, is the list of Juniors who will officiate from this city: Miss Polly Godfrey, of Auburndale, will dance; the Chorus of the Newton Centre Junior Woman's Club have prepared selections from operas, to be conducted by Mrs. Florence Wood Russell, and Miss Dorothy Brackett, of West Newton, will be seen in her beautiful dance number "The Phoenix."

ANNUAL MEETING. The Massachusetts State Federation celebrates forty years of active service in this state, in its Annual Meeting which will be held at Swampscott, opening Wednesday afternoon, May 18th, at 2 o'clock, and continuing until noon on Saturday, the 21st.

Delegates are reminded that they must make their own reservations with the hotel, the New Ocean House, and as soon as possible. Rates for a double room with bath, single beds, are $8 per day, per person; and for a large room, three or more single beds, $7 per day, per person. There is a reduction of 50 cents per day for those staying through the entire period of the convention.

For the benefit of those who may wish to go down for one or more days to attend the sessions, combination tickets will be issued, for meals taken in one day as follows: breakfast, luncheon and dinner, $5; luncheon and dinner, $4; luncheon, $2.50; and dinner, $3. This service is in the main dining room, where the guests who are resident for the entire period are served. Such combination tickets for luncheon and dinner should be purchased in the morning, for the convenience of the management in planning service. A modified luncheon may be obtained on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, in the Tea Room and Grill Room of Puritan Hall, at $1.00, and dinner at $1.50.

The New Ocean House may be reached by train from the North Station, Boston, to Lynn or Swampscott. A trolley goes close to the hotel from Lynn; taxi must be used from Swampscott. There is a great saving in cost of fare by purchasing twelve-ride tickets.

The Credential committee will be on duty Wednesday, from 10:30 a. m. to 12 noon and from 4 to 5:30 p. m., on Thursday, and Friday from 8 to 11:30 a. m. This is an interesting election year, with new officers, and delegates will wish to have a full quota show for their Clubs in voting, so that they should register. The polls (voting) will be open Friday, from 12 to 5:30 p. m.

These instructions and this information will be repeated, so Clubwomen should save this item for reference.

JUNIORS AT SWAMPSCOTT. On Saturday, May 21st, ENTER THE JUNIORS! Mrs. Crowell is to be congratulated on this happy thought of having the Juniors meet, as do the Seniors, at Swampscott, for an Annual convention, and for arranging it so that they may join in the final day of festivity, the installation of senior officers. At this time, the Junior Clubidents will be presented, and the Juniors will share in the brilliant Flower Parade, which is always so beautiful and spectacular a feature of the closing session.

It may be said safely that the thrill and pleasure of these girls in this convention of their own and of their seniors' doings will never be equalled again through their lives in a similar gathering. It will start on Friday evening, for Junior presidents, in a supper. Reservations should be made with the committee; supper being $1.00. Those living too far away to return home that night will be provided for, if notice is sent to this effect to Mrs. Crowell a few days in advance. Events for Friday evening, in addition to the supper and after-dinner speeches, will include attendance at Governor's Night, which is the big evening affair for the seniors, with the colorful Professional of Presidents, in which the Junior presidents will participate.

On Saturday morning Juniors from over forty Junior Clubs will gather from all over the state. Their own formal program will open at 2 o'clock, in the Ball Room. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 o'clock, when Mrs. Frederick Glazier Smith, former State president, will speak; and for which music will be furnished by the Juniors of the Women's Italian Club. Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, former chairman of Junior Membership, and Mrs. Crowell will preside at the afternoon meeting. Mrs. Bennett will have a "Message"; Mrs. Thomas J. Walker will conduct a Club Institute, and then for entertainment there will be a variety of delightful things, including a Play by a Junior Club, and presentation of prizes.

PRESIDENTS' LUNCHEON. Annual Meeting will offer a variety of interests, and one of them which always makes for further acquaintance in intimate sociability is the Annual Luncheon for Presidents. Those who are in office on May 18th have the privilege of attending this year's event, which is to take place on that date, at 12 o'clock noon in the Colonial Room. Since the capacity of the room is limited, only those making reservations in writing, by the 11th, with Mrs. Thomas J. Walker, 33 Pleasant street, Waltham, will be sure of a place. No money should be sent, as luncheon tickets will be sold only at the hotel.

"Madame President" is quite aptly, as well as quaintly, the title announced for the event, since speakers will extol her in the past and present. "The Club President of Twenty Years Ago," Mrs. Eleazer N. Thacher, Dorchester; "Yesterday's President," Mrs. Edward B. Botsford, Marblehead; "Half Way," Mrs. W. Scott Austin, Wollaston; "Tomorrow's President," Mrs. Percy C. Campbell, Watertown; "President of Presidents," Mrs. John W. Gould, Worcester; and lastly, and most fittingly, "Our President," Mrs. Carl L. Schrader.

RADIO. Greetings from New Hampshire will be extended over WBZ by Mrs. George F. Boutwell, of Portsmouth, speaking during the radio hour of the State Federation on Saturday, May 7th, at 11:30 o'clock. Mrs. Boutwell is chairman of press and publicity of the New Hampshire Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Harold P. Johnson of Woburn, director of the Eighth District, will speak on "Utilizing Leisure in my District." Joseph Levate will give violin selections, accompanied by Frances P. Boleman.

On the 14th, the State broadcasts will close in a flurry of enthusiasm and tribute to Mrs. Poole. Mrs. Schrader, president, will speak on "The Good Ship Success," the Federation, which has sailed the Club seas this year. Miss Alice F. Titus, Publicity director for Mrs. Poole, will give hopes and plans of "Westward Ho," which Mrs. Poole sets forth in June for the great adventure of the election of the General Federation. And lastly, there will be Campaign Songs for Mrs. Poole.

A program fostering wise spending all over the country, in a radio course on "Getting Most out of Your Dollar," includes as speaker Mrs. Carl L. Schrader, State president, one of ten authorities to be heard in a semi-weekly program during the next month over WNAC. For Thursday, May 12th, at 11 a. m., on "The Consumer and the Returned Goods Problem."

The purpose of the course as stated by Daniel Bloomfield, manager of the Retail Trade Board, is to give consumers a constructive picture of their part in the economics of retail distribution and to guide them in buying goods wisely and well.

Newton Community Club

The Annual Meeting of the Newton Community Club was held in the Underwood School auditorium on Thursday the 28th of April, with the president, Mrs. Daniel M. Goodridge, presiding. The meeting opened with the salute of the flag, and after a few announcements were made, ballots were passed and the following were elected to office: President, Mrs. Daniel M. Goodridge; first vice-president, Mrs. Harold Moore; second vice-president, Mrs. Joseph N. Palmer; recording secretary, Mrs. Thomas V. Cleveland, corresponding secretary, Mrs. Kendall A. Woodrough; treasurer, Mrs. George L. Parker, auditor, Miss Margaret H. Aubin; directors, Mrs. Emmett LaCrosse, and Mrs. Ralph C. Marden; nominating committee, Mrs. Leon M. Brockway, Mrs. James F. Bosdan, Mrs. Ronald Jones, Mrs. Joseph H. Powers and Mrs. Charles Nicholas Young.

Annual reports were read by the following committee chairmen: American Home, Art, Christmas Seal, Club Bulletin, Community Service, Conservation, Education, Finance, House, Inter-racial Unity, Junior Membership, Legislative, Literature, Membership, Music, Press, Program, Public Health and Social. Mrs. Goodridge thanked each chairman for the work she had done for the year.

Next year a new committee will be started, and that is for Dramatics with Mrs. William C. Ridge, as chairman. Members of the Club who are interested in dramatics are urged to get in touch with Mrs. Ridge.

The musical program of the afternoon consisted of the Cynthia Haydn Duo. The first group of pieces included Colonial songs played on two harps. Following this came a reader, Miss Florence King, who delighted her audience and held them spellbound. Next, was a group of lively Irish pieces, ending with the playing of the Irish harp by the Duo, and then a monologue by Miss King which sent the audiences into gales of laughter. Last, but, unusually interesting to all, was Mr. Cundance in giving his impression of a famous operatic star.

A social hour followed, with tea and cakes served by the Social committee. The powers were Mrs. Leon M. Brockway, Mrs. Laurie Kattella, Mrs. Philip Jamieson, and Mrs. Newton Merritt, Jr.

A display of hooked rugs, chair seats, and table mats was shown by Mrs. M. W. Tyler in the interest of the Girl Scout Campership fund.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

The concert given by the Club Chorus on the evening of April 29th proved to be a most delightful and festive occasion. Mme. Apolline Blair, director of the Chorus, was beautifully gowned in a dress made especially for the occasion of blue exactly the Club color. Mrs. John W. Merrill, in costume, sang the "Spinning Song" from the "Flying Dutchman." Mrs. Edward Estavor gave some beautiful violin solos, and Mme. Maria Conde and Mr. James R. Houghton sang in their usual delightful manner. Special interest was added to the singing of "Good-Bye Sweet Day" by the presence of the author Mme. Vannah Harts, a remarkable lady of over eighty years, who came forward and spoke a few words to the audience which received her most enthusiastically.

The tour of Colonial, English, Italian, and Spanish homes arranged by the American Home committee was pronounced an unmitigated success. (Continued on Page 9)

"THE DRAMATEURS" PRESENT "NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH"

On Wednesday and Thursday evenings of this week The Dramateurs presented "Nothing But The Truth" in the auditorium of the New Church on Highland avenue, Newtonville. The well-known comedy by Walter Montgomery was admirably staged and presented by a cast of well-known local amateur actors.

Mr. Carl Swan took the role of the "generous" broker with his customary excellence while John Wakefield, as the young partner who waged $10,000 that he could tell the truth for 24 hours, played his most difficult part remarkably well. While much of the plot centered around this pair the entire cast deserves commendation for the portrayal of their respective roles. Others in the cast included Norman W. Willey, Robert R. Reed, Allan R. Bliss, Ruth B. Fuller, Eleanor Warren, Hazel Wood, Muriel Pearce, Edith Horton, and Isabel Skipwith. The play was coached by Miss Louise Wetherbee, to whom much of the success of the affair is due. boys using the privileges of the Association, the Free Swimming Campaign where one hundred non-swimmers were taught to swim, to activities of Clubs, Gymnasium Classes, and other features too numerous to mention. One of the outstanding privileges of membership in the Boy's Department is Camp Frank A. Day where one hundred and eighty-one boys spent their summer in the beautiful grove beside Lake Quannapscutt. Deep in the Good Old Pines. He also spoke of the Community Work which gives twenty-seven Scout Troops, seventeen Church Groups, and four Community Groups the privilege of using certain activities at the "Y" under the supervision of their own Adult Leaders.

Mr. Campbell reported that one hundred and thirty-four High School boys were members in four Hi-Y Clubs in Newton, Watertown, and Wellesley. These groups are organized to "Create, Maintain and Extend Throughout the School and Community a High Standard of Christian Character". These boys have given liberally to the work of the Y. M. C. A. and have been the support of the Newton Y. M. C. A. conducted parties for underprivileged boys, furnished food for an old needy couple, and conducted discussions at their own meetings during the week. One of the Hi-Y Clubs has sent out a Gospel Team of twenty-two boys who have conducted meetings in twelve churches before the end of the week.

These boys take charge of the entire service, including speakers, ushers, and musicians. Just before and immediately after the conclusion of Mr. Campbell's report, members of the Watertown Hi-Y Club rendered two of the musical selections which they used in connection with their meetings.

A comedy in one act by Nathan Chatterton entitled "2,000, Cash" was presented by members of the Village Players of Newton Centre. The parts were taken by Miss Mollie Draper, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Moore Dryer, and Mr. Dan Tracy. At the close of the play, hearty applause showed appreciation for the clever acting and fine interpretation of the characters in the play.

Mr. D. Webster Anders, Chairman of the Social Committee, and his Committee were in charge of the plans for the Annual Meeting and Banquet. The tables were beautifully decorated by flowers furnished by Mr. Matthew F. Ruane, a member of the Round Table Club. A large number of members were present.

Rotary Club

The Rotary Club met as usual at the Woodland Golf Club on Monday. Mr. Fletcher Taft of Lexington spoke on the subject of "Personality in Business". His message proved both interesting and entertaining. Underlying the many humorous stories was a current of seriousness which dealt with the importance of making one's individuality an asset to one's business.

There are three ways in which personality may be expressed in business—physical, written and personal. The first method is in the physical appearance of the store. It is accomplished by making the store or office distinctive. The second method takes into consideration advertising, letter heads, etc., which can readily be made outstanding to the public. The personal means of expressing one's personality in business are entirely at the command of the individual behind the business. By injecting his personality into his work, he can do for himself what no one else can do for him.

SCHOOL AFFAIRS

At the last meeting of the School Committee it was voted to grant the request of the Newton Upper Falls Improvement Association and have the portable school at the Emerson School grounds moved in order to allow more playing space on the grounds. The portable is not in use. It was voted to give a six weeks leave of absence without pay to John Cosgrove, janitor at the Bowen School. He desires to visit his old home in Ireland this summer. It was voted to allow the Sea Scouts to use the high school auditorium to hold a lecture by Donal McMillan.

A letter from the executive committee of the Newtonville Women's Club was read calling attention to alleged inadequate sanitary facilities at school buildings in that section, especially the Claffin School. Chairman Tracy remarked that statements made about these schools had been found, on investigation, to have been exaggerated, but it had been learned that the Claffin School is not properly supplied with soap. Secretary Kellar stated that he has supposed this school has been sufficiently supplied and that he would see it will be. He stated that the toilets in some of the schools should have ventilating fans, but several requests made in past years to the Public Building Department for such fans had always been turned down as unnecessary. It was voted to install one such fan, at the expense of the School Department, and if this proves effective, a request for others will be made.

The request of the Wilbur Improvement Association for a new school near Waltham and Crafts streets, West Newton was disapproved by the sub-committee on new schools. Mr. Church of this committee remarked that additional transportation facilities should be furnished for some of the younger pupils from the section in question. He added that there are ample seating facilities in the existing schools at West Newton.

Mrs. Cornell advocated that a charge be levied on organizations using school buildings to defray the cost of heating and lighting. She said the School Department is being criticised for alleged extravagance and considerable expense is caused by the use of buildings nights by outside organizations. Chairman Tracy called attention to the ruling of the City Solicitor that any attempt to charge for the use of the school buildings will bring complications. Mr. Amesbury suggested that the expenses entailed by use of school buildings for other than school purposes be segregated, rather than any attempt be made to charge for the buildings. He urged more use of the buildings for community purposes. He criticised the charge by janitors for their services at the schools nights when Boy Scouts hold meetings. He thinks the janitors should contribute their services to such a commendable activity. Secretary Kellar informed Mr. Amesbury that the janitors cannot be compelled to do extra work nights for Boy Scouts or any other non-school activities. The law will uphold them in such a refusal. He called attention to the fact that the janitors must get to the buildings in cold weather an hour before the meetings start and remain after the meetings are over. Mr. Church agreed with Mrs. Cornell that a charge should be made for the use of the school buildings. He expressed the opinion that the ruling of the City Solicitor need not be followed in the matter.

The school calendar for the coming year was adopted as follows:—

September 12 to December 22—First Term: 15 weeks, 70 days. Holidays: October 12, November 11, Armistice Day, Thanksgiving Recess: November 23 (noon) to November 28.

February 27 to April 13—Third Term: 7 weeks, 34 days.
(April 14—Good Friday).
April 24 to June 23—Fourth Term: 9 weeks, 44 days. June 27 (teachers).
Holiday: May 30.
Total—38 weeks, 182 days.

ANNUAL BENEFIT CHILDREN'S ENTERTAINMENT

At the Women's Club House, Newton Centre, corner Centre and Beacon streets, on Saturday morning, May 21, at 10:30, children of the Baneey Street Industrial School, Boston, will give a performance of "The Gypsy". Sixty children will sing, dance, and act in this delightful little operetta which was written especially for them.

"The Gypsy" tells the story of a little Italian girl of noble family abducted in infancy by Spanish gypsies from the home of her father. Later, with her noble parents during a grand carnival at Florence, where dancers, troubadours, puppeteers, clowns, and balloon vendors join the colorful crowd of gypsies in merry-making.

This is the sixteenth year that children from the North End of Boston have entertained in the Newtons. The proceeds of the performance—played entirely by children—are used to assist in carrying on their own summer recreations in Boston during the hottest months of the year. Every purchase of tickets helps maintain much needed kindergarten, story hour, roof parties and picnic pleasure for these city children.

TREE PLANTING

At the recent meeting of the Newton Centre Improvement Association the question of the planting of trees along the streets was among the matters discussed. It was urged that these trees be planted on the edge of private property in the future instead of on the borders between the sidewalk and the street. The tarred surface of streets is said to restrict the growth of the trees to some extent. A growing practice in such plantings is to plant the trees in a shallow well. This method allows water to remain around the roots of the trees instead of running off into the gutters as under the present method. In cases where it is impractical to plant trees upon the edge of private property it might be well to adopt some such method.

MOTHER'S DAY

Sunday is Mother's Day. It is not only a duty but a pleasure to make a special effort to honor the one to whom we owe so much. In these times we wonder if all of us cannot draw an added inspiration. All mothers believe in their sons and daughters. They believe we can win out in the battle of life despite the handicaps and obstacles we face along the way. Knowing that others believe in our ability makes it easier for us to believe in ourselves. Only by believing in ourselves can we face the present with the faith that we can build for the future.

MORE DELAY

It is to be regretted that politics in regard to the Boston & Worcester Street Railway franchise is delaying the completion of the new Boston-Worcester Turnpike through the Newtons and Wellesley. Undoubtedly there is some merit to both sides of the situation and we trust that the Legislature may be able to straighten out the controversy between Gov. Ely and Lieut. Gov. Youngman speedily in order that the construction of the highway in this section may be completed this summer.

Birds of Newton

Eleanor Mellen

May First to Tenth

The most fascinating and tantalizing days of all the year for the bird student have arrived. According to the records of the Boston Society of Natural History, between the dates of May first and May tenth forty different varieties of birds arrive hereabouts from the south. Slightly over three-quarters of them remain with us until autumn and the others leave for northern homes before the tenth of June. This number would of itself make a fair-sized season's list for many people.

The seabirds included are the black-headed Laughing Gull, so named from its laughter-like calls, hundreds of which were about Cape Cod shores last week, and the Common and Roseate Terns. All these breed on our coast. The terns dive into the water for their food, are smaller birds, trim in outline and so fast in flight that they have been called "Sea Swallows." Gulls are slower and less graceful in flight, larger, and take their food from the surface of the water. The gull that is seen everywhere about our coast and often visits lakes miles inland, Crystal Lake among them, is the Herring Gull, a winter resident of less frequency during the summer.

The birds of marshes and shore now due, are the Least Bittern (rare), the Least and Solitary Sandpipers, and the Black-bellied and Semipalmated Plover. Of the balance of the list, all but one thrush and three warblers breed here and may easily become familiar to anyone seeking to know them. They are grouped below according to the place where they are mostly likely to be seen.

In orchards and shade trees, and therefore about our houses, will be found the Kingbird, Baltimore Oriole, Rose-breasted Grosbeak, Red-eyed Vireo, Warbling Vireo, Yellow-throated Vireo, the Yellow Warbler, often called Wild Canary, and the Redstart, whose Cuban name means "little torch." Thickets, and hence lawn shrubbery, attract the Black-billed Cuckoo, Catbird, Yellow Warbler and House Wren. This wren enjoys wren houses also, as his name might imply. Other thickets-loving birds, who prefer woods and meadows to homelands, are the Whippoorwill, the White-eyed Vireo (rare), and these warblers, Golden-winged, Nashville, Black-throated Blue, Chestnut-sided, Prairie, and Yellowthroat. The Wood Thrush and Veery (Wilson's Thrush), prefer that their thickets be in moist locations.

Bobolinks choose grassy meadows. Short-billed Marsh Wrens want wet meadows with tall grass, and Long-billed Marsh Wrens select cattail swamps. The Black-throated Green Warbler builds in the tops of tall pines in the woods, but the Ovenbird, a warbler, makes his oven-like nest on the ground in any woodland. The Ruby-throated Hummingbird, which is far more numerous than most people suppose, builds his tiny home near our own, in open country near flower-beds, especially where the flowers are red.

The Olive-backed Thrush leaves us before June 10th until next fall when it is a friendly visitor in our dooryards, and the brilliant Magnolia Warbler departs in about two weeks for northern woods. This bird is well worth seeking in his favorite haunts, blossoming apple trees. All of these, except the sea and shore species, and the few migrants, breed in Newton.

HUNNEWELL HILL RESIDENTS GATHER AT CITY HALL

He said the petitioners offer to give a deed of a strip of land 5 feet wide and 40 feet in depth to any committee named by the opponents of the petition. On this strip a wall, fence, or similar barrier can be erected. Thus the objection made by the protestant at the former hearing will be met.

Judge Thomas Weston, who represented the remonstrants at the previous hearing, again appeared to head the opposition. He told the Aldermen that 192 residents of Hunnewell Hill had signed a petition against the street extension. This number includes every resident of the section except one, who is a close friend of the Whiting heirs. He argued that properties which would be reduced in value if the street is extended, are assessed for $1,250,000, whereas the Whiting property affected is assessed for but $7000. He claimed that 30 years ago when Burton street, Brighton (adjoining the Whiting property) was laid out, a Mr. Lynch purchased land there and later sold it to the Whiting heirs in 1925. By this transaction, he said, the street was extended on the Brighton side from the back land of the Whiting estate. He contended that the 5 foot barrier will not tie the hands of future Boards of Aldermen from voting to continue the street through it, and in all probability this would happen.

He stated that the late Edward Smille had made a practical plan to develop the Whiting property by means of a street from Washington street paralleling Elmhurst road, but the petitioners do not want this plan because it would bring traffic near their residence at 11 Washington street. Mr. Weston also said that the Whiting heirs had stated that they intend to build a high fence to shut off the view of the houses which may be erected at the rear of their Washington street residence. He read a letter from Rev. Laurens MacLure objecting to the street extension.

Others who spoke against the petition were Charles Barba of Willard street, Sidney Smith of 124 Hunnewell avenue, ex-Alderman Howard North of Hunnewell avenue, Mrs. Mary Kendrick of Hunnewell avenue and Arthur Hansen of Barnes road. They contended that the quiet of the section will be ended if Hunnewell avenue is extended, that the safety of children there will be menaced and the many small side streets would create traffic hazards. John P. O'Hara of Hunnewell avenue referred to the alleged "Bum rendezvous" at the rear of the Whiting property and stated that he has not seen idle and disorderly gatherings there, as claimed. Howard North commented that if the petitioners would erect a high fence on the easterly side of their property, similar to that erected on the other side, they could keep out alleged undesirable. President Collins of the Aldermen asked those in the hall who opposed the petition to stand. About 60 residents of the Hunnewell Hill section arose. The petition was referred to the Claims and Rules Committee.

Danger From Gasoline

The United States bureau of standards says that gasoline in an open tank will burn, but not explode. In a closed tank a mixture of gasoline and air explodes, the nature of the explosion depending upon the proportions of air and gasoline.

One Point of View

Education is an ornament in prosperity and a refuge in adversity.

Under The Gilded Dome

The Judiciary Committee has before it the matter of the franchise of the Boston, Worcester & New York Street Railway which Gov. Ely and Lieut. Gov. Youngman have expressed decided differences of opinion. The Governor wants legislation to provide for the taking of franchise and payment to the franchisee. The Lieut. Governor declares the franchise is worthless. The latter by the way created a sensation when he sent a special message to the Legislature, during the absence of Gov. Ely, setting forth his views. The oldest observer does not remember when a Lieutenant Governor, as Acting Governor, sent a message to the Legislature on a matter in which he differed from the Governor. The messages of the two officials had created no end of discussion with the inevitable reference to the political ambitions of both men. The Judiciary Committee has a considerable task before it in its effort to straighten out the matter.

Both branches have rejected a bill for a special commission to consider the advisability of the State proving home aid for war veterans and also the bill to exempt temporarily from taxation newly constructed single family dwellings.

Both branches are in accord on the bill to clarify the law relating to the voting rights of paupers. It started this year when the City Solicitor of Lynn made a ruling, at the request of the Mayor of that city, to the effect that persons receiving aid from the city were paupers and therefore lost their right to vote. The question was put up to Attorney General Warren who said that the law was capable of more than one interpretation. He intimated that it was possible to rule that persons receiving temporary aid were not to be deprived of suffrage. But he also admitted there might be a basis for the ruling of the Lynn City Solicitor. The Attorney General concluded by recommending that the Legislature pass some form of legislation whereby it would be made clear that because an individual received temporary aid from a city or town he was not necessarily prevented from voting. In consequence a bill was drafted and finally passed to be engrossed by both branches. Inasmuch as it is an important law the text of it is given herewith:

"No person who actually supports himself and his family shall be deemed to be a pauper by reason of the commitment of his wife, child or other relative to a State hospital or institution of charity, reform or correction by order of a court or magistrate, or of his inability to maintain such person therein; or who, to the best of his ability, has been exempted to provide for himself and his dependents and has not been a mendicant, and who, through no crime or misdemeanor of his own has come into grievous need and receives aid or assistance given temporarily, or partial support continuously, to him or his family, or who receives assistance under the General Laws."

It is seldom that Speaker Saltonstall takes the floor. He is not inclined to spectacular methods. Apparently he felt it necessary to argue for the temporary rejection at least of a resolve to provide for a study of the advisability of establishing a veterans' home and farm bureau to enable the State to finance the purchase for war veterans of farms and homes. The Speaker said he was a veteran and did not believe the majority of veterans were in favor of committing the Commonwealth to such a policy. He further declared that it would be putting the State into the real estate business. His arguments were convincing to a large majority of his colleagues and by roll-call, 130 to 80, the measure was referred to the next annual session.

Representatives Baker, Luitwiler and Thompson voted with the Speaker. The House of Representatives has suffered the loss of eight members since the beginning of the 1931-32 session. The death this week of Representative Daniel J. Coakley of Chicopee, who was serving his fourth two-year term, was a distinct loss to the lower branch membership. He was an experienced legislator, having been Mayor of his home town for five years, and possessed many friends. Evidence of his popularity was the fact that he always received both Democratic and Republican nominations from his district.

A bill that went through the House and was killed in the Senate but concerned with the matter of hospital care would have required that hospitals be paid for care of patients injured in automobile accidents, the money to come from the insurance policies or bonds held by the victim. It was argued that in many cases hospitals give treatment to an accident victim in emergencies, but frequently never receive any compensation. However, the Senate felt that it would be upsetting the automobile law and also discriminating against individual doctors, nurses, etc. Thus the bill was thrown out.

There is much talk of prorogation. Under ordinary conditions it might be reached easily within two weeks, which would be about May 20. There is no great amount of work and few important measures which would seem to require a lot of time. The committees have lost a lot of time the past few weeks what with holidays, baseball games, etc. However, they can accomplish a great deal once they apply themselves. It seems highly probable at this writing that final adjournment will be accomplished some time this month.

Fine Cotton Cloth

The white cotton cloth used largely by the upper class of India is known as "khadi." It is of native manufacture, and only the finest of long staple cotton is used. It is exceedingly fine, does not wrinkle and wears a very long time.

About Town

By Edw. H. Powers

A few weeks ago a man came into our office to voice an indignant protest. He stated that he was one of 12 unemployed men who had been sent to a golf club in this city to obtain work. These men had been getting paid at the rate of 50¢ per hour. When they arrived at the place where they were to work, they were informed that they would receive 35¢ per hour for actual time worked. Even though desperately in need, they indignantly refused to accept the work at the wage offered. They believed they were being imposed upon. The contractor who is building a State highway in a neighboring town is paying the men working on this job only 35¢ an hour. We have been informed that the Boston & Albany Railroad is paying some of its laborers but 30¢ per hour. We have also been informed that a large nursery in a nearby town is paying laborers even much lower wages.

If the inexorable law of supply and demand is to be ruthlessly applied to wages of working men and women, if the distress of the unemployed is to be taken advantage of to the degree that the much vaunted American standard of living will be cast into the discard, then prosperity isn't just around the corner. It will have vanished so far over the horizon that it will be a difficult task to overtake it again.

It is only about a year ago that political and industrial leaders in this country, under the lead of President Hoover, were insistent that the wage scale in this country must be maintained; that more positions must be created to provide work for the unemployed. Then the pendulum swung the other way. Workers have been fired instead of hired; wages and salaries have been on the toboggan. All of which has decreased, instead of increased, the buying power of the people—and conditions have gone from bad to worse.

Beginning in 1929 when the downward trend started, financiers, industrialists, experts in economics, masters of business administration, doctors of statistics—and our near-statesmen at Washington have been explaining what caused the depression and how to end it. But, until lately, most of them regarded the slump as a transitory affair. Gradually some of the credits of the political, financial and industrial life have awakened to the realization that the troubled times we have been enduring the past three years are not the result of a transitory condition which will correct itself. The world-wide depression is the result largely of the epochal change caused by the machine age. Many millions of men and women have been thrown out of employment because of the use of machinery in practically every line of industry; including agriculture which machines have made an industry. Machines manufactured in this country, England, Germany and France have for years been shipped to East European and Asiatic countries which now are competitors, rather than customers.

The small business man has largely been eliminated by big business combines. Thus, hundreds of thousands of former prosperous citizens have been deprived of livelihoods. The chain store systems have invaded not only the food store field, but clothing, hardware, dry goods, in fact about all branches of business. Department stores in big cities have consolidated. Big banks in big cities have gobbled up smaller banks in little cities. Public utilities throughout the country have been sucked in by the tentacles of huge corporations. All of which has resulted in the loss of positions to many thousands.

What is going to be done to provide millions of men with employment with incomes sufficient to obtain even the bare necessities of life? It is against American principles to have a large percentage of our people reduced to the status of paupers. Most of the persons out of employment are self-respecting and would strenuously object to becoming permanently impoverished. What is to be done to correct the existing economic situation? Certainly the earth still possesses and produces an ample sufficiency of raw materials to meet the requirements of mankind. Science and invention have created infinitely better methods of converting raw materials into the necessities of life. Improved methods of production are largely responsible for the world-wide depression. They have glutted the market. Therefore, men could and should live on a higher standard rather than revert to a lower one again, as suggested by some economists who argue that we have been indulging in too many luxuries. It is positive that some changes must be made to synchronize modern production methods with economic needs. A sufficiently equitable distribution of wealth must be devised to end the present intolerable situation; even if radical changes must be made. It has been necessary in the past to make radical changes, not only to advance civilization, but to save it.

An inexpensive lattice placed on the end of the old wooden block on Washington street, where the two tenements were recently razed at the Thornton street end of this structure, would hide the unsightly wall which now is an eyesore.

The Republican Club of Newton recently petitioned the Aldermen to keep the polls open until 7 p. m. in this city instead of closing them at 4:30. Now the Republican City Committee presents a similar petition. It was too late to have this change made at the Presidential Primary, but it is a safe bet that these petitions will be granted and the polls kept open later at the elections this coming autumn. In 1928, the writer, then a member of the Aldermen, made a motion at a regular meeting of the Board to have the polls kept open later. The present Mayor and 10 mem-

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. Bentley

If you haven't already, this is a good time to plant the hope for a better year, remembering that in order to grow it must have a reasonable amount of care and attention.

"It's the Upkeep—"

It would be an honor and privilege, together with several other proud moments, to be a worthy "prospector" for all the people who seek to sell me clothing and haberdashery. I wish I could show my appreciation of the thoughtfulness of manufacturers of expensive shoes by writing a check for a dozen pair, or half a dozen, or even one pair. In this way they would know that I am pleased to receive regularly announcements of new styles, etc. If it were within my means I would reward the shirt manufacturers who remind me every month or so of the splendid stock they possess and which is mine for the asking, plus a check or postal order (don't send bills or coin). I would also replenish my collection of socks from some of the dealers who keep me posted as to sales that ought to appeal to a thrifty purchaser. For the present my hosiery is well worn before it is abandoned.

These pleasant possibilities I speak of to show you how I could—all things being equal—take my place among the smartly dressed male members of our population. As it is, changes of fashion do not perplex me. Not to any great extent, I should add. I shall have to admit, however, that one matter has me worried. It relates to the choice between suspenders and belts. The drive is on, I understand, to increase the sale of the former. Doubtless advertising men are doing their utmost to make us men suspender-minded. Probably the belt makers will try to upset this plan, but as far as I have been able to observe the suspender manufacturers are in the lead.

There is one thing about the whole business that I can't get over. Not so long ago it was supposed to be the height of bad taste to wear suspenders before women. O, pardon me, I meant to appear in the presence of the fair ones with your coat and vest off and suspenders instead of a belt. To disport yourself without coat and vest was perfectly O. K. providing you wore a belt. Now—and how things change!—suspenders in the heat of (mixed) company. Score one for suspenders.

Members of the present Board of Aldermen were then members of the Aldermen. Not one of them seconded our motion. Neither did any other Alderman. Observe how these same Aldermen will vote favorably for this proposition later this year. We were quite in the minority on this matter four years ago; labelled as the impracticable member of the Board. And we were also very much in the minority. From time to time we shall refer to some of these matters; when conditions justify. Merely to show that irregulars in Legislative bodies frequently are proven to have been in the right. Either because they possess more foresight, or more sand than the regulars.

From time to time we have received complaints about the attitude assumed by some of the operators of Middlesex & Boston busses who seem to think they have a first mortgage on the streets at Newton Corner. Granting that the drivers of the busses frequently find it difficult to park where they are supposed to park because of the intrusion of automobiles in the bus spaces, or the presence of too many busses at one time, it sometimes is evident that a few of the operators appear to be arrogant in the way they park or operate the big vehicles. This morning about 7:30 we were backing our small car from a space in front of the Bacon Building. It was almost out far enough on Washington street to allow us to drive westerly on the street when a bus operator pulled out from in front of the Whitman Building and came so close to our car that we could neither back the remaining small distance required, nor proceed along the street. Then the bus driver held his ground and started to toot the horn on the bus until we steered back into the parking space again. Had he shown less pomposity, the work would have been done in a few seconds when he observed us backing out our car instead of hogging the road. But, there is that type of driver who operates a big vehicle such as a bus or truck and bullies drivers of small cars. This wall on our part reminds us that recently a Newton resident asked that we mention about busses parking at Newton Corner unnecessarily far out from the curbing.

In fact suspenders are supposed to be smarter than belts. Personally, I have always felt them more secure. But you are up-to-date if you have suspenders and not so much a Beau Brummel when you wear a belt. At least, that is the prevailing rule of fashion as it comes to me. The whole thing has upset me to some extent but not until the weather is such that I may march down the street without cost or vest shall I worry about the upkeep of the rest of costume. No use in crossing a street if you can keep on one side and still get to your destination.

Calling Policemen Names

No doubt it is necessary to begin somewhere if we hope to improve our daily speech. For that reason I rejoice to find that in Evanston, Illinois, there has been started a movement to treat with more respect, in words at least, the members of the police department. According to dispatches, citizens are urged to refrain from the use of such appellations as "Flatfoot," "Cops" and "Bulls." Just what the process of refinement is expected to produce I cannot learn, but it will probably be "policemen," the common way of saying "policeman." Whatever the word, it will mean a start in the right direction.

It appears that the plan of the Evanston purists includes a belief that to give the officers a name that is fitting, appropriate and pleasing will bring about a kindlier feeling in the hearts of the bluecoats. There, by the way, is an old-fashioned word for policemen which is probably too poetic for these days. "Mister Officer" is to my mind a bit formal, although I have no doubt it pays when one is stopped for some violation of the motor vehicle laws. I believe, too, it is used by presiding justices and trial lawyers and their example, of course, is one that may well be followed at all times.

Personally, I never have thought much of "Cops"—I mean the word, you understand—or "Flatfoot." Plainly intended to disparage these and that atrocious product of gangdom "bulls," have seemed coarse and not especially descriptive. You may retort that there is an anti-probability duty, which is all right, but big feet are not necessarily flat. Whatever your point of view, I am sure you will agree that the average police official is deserving of at least a name that is not contemptuous or undignified.

Before we dismiss the subject, did you know—I didn't until this week—how the word "cop" came about? It was way back in the 1840's in New York. The Night Watch wore heavy leather caps, with an extension rearward to keep off the rain. This unusual headgear caused them to be called "Leatherheads." When, however, the New York Legislature authorized the organization of Municipal Police, the officers abandoned their leather hats. I should have said that except for these hats their dress was that of other ordinary men. With the establishment of a police force to succeed the "watch" the officers were given star-shaped copper shields or badges. Thereupon they were called "Star Police" or "Copper Police," and eventually "Coppers" and then "Cops."

Local Crystal-gazing

Once in a while it is good fun to assume the role of prophet. I have no wish to get into the habit of prognostication but I would like to say some things about the new City Hall. My venture is that the same eyes that have been rolling upward in disapproval at the expenditures demanded by this imposing structure, now rapidly nearing completion, will later on gaze in admiration. I speak only as a humble pilgrim; no individual has whispered in my ear or attempted to lead me one way or the other. The impressions I submit were gathered by myself and therein lies their only value. Not much, I'll agree.

Newton has had a city hall that might be called an architectural blot on the skyline. Such a description would be exalting it, however, and the true picture calls for harsh words. These I refrain from employing in view of the fact that soon we are to see it empty and, I hope, swept from the earth.

How interesting that our beloved burg should go in for contrasts. For generations "City Hall" has been a place that was never pointed out to visitors. If they discovered it themselves they indulged in comment that was tinged with pity or contained unadulterated derision. The most friendly stranger would add, for our comfort, "Too bad it isn't on a back street!" Now what does the future hold? Just this, the spectacle of Newton citizens leading their visitors to the junction of Commonwealth Avenue, Homer Street and Walnut Street to see "Our magnificent new City Hall." Actually we've got a new sight to see and, mark my word, it will be an attraction. For a while some people will mutter, "What a lot of money to spend at a time like this," eventually it will be the pride of every taxpayer. I realize fully that the citizens will not be unanimous until business picks up, but they'll arrive at that state of ecstasy and satisfaction as sure as anything. I recall that the construction of the Commonwealth Avenue boulevard itself was hailed as an extravagance, a burden on the taxpayers, etc. Well, it has justified itself hasn't it? And the vision that created it was not inspired by any advance tip of the coming prevalence of automobiles.

Newton has taken a forward step in its plans for the city hall. Anything less would have been standing still. The great stretch of lawn that surrounds it, the reflecting pools with their arched bridges of stone, which are to be covered with English ivy, the arrangement of shrub-bordered paths—all these will contribute to the brilliance of a municipal group the like of which is not possessed by any city in the State. The building would not arouse so much enthusiasm if not ornamented by landscape gardeners and it is this very touch that sets it off.

Suppose it has required imagination and money, haven't we got something for the expenditure of both? And isn't Newton "stepping out"? Sure, it is, and why shouldn't it?

A baby's crib needed by the Welfare Bureau; also continual need of clothing.

Weeks Junior H. S.

Parent-Teacher Association

At the meeting of the John W. Weeks Parent-Teacher Association, which was held on Friday evening, April 29, the Auditorium was filled with a large and enthusiastic audience. Since it was the final meeting of the season, the election of officers for the coming year was held with the following results:

President, Mr. Albert M. Chandler; Vice-President, Miss Dorothy V. Sylvester; Treasurer, Mr. Abner H. Bailey; Secretary, Mrs. Jarvis Preble; Historian, Mrs. Stanley Lovell; Chairmen of Committees: Hospitality, Mrs. George W. Palmer; Program, Mrs. Lawrence Chapman; Membership, Mrs. Grosvenor Marcy; Publicity, Mrs. Albert M. Chandler.

After the business meeting, Principal Frank F. Car discussed at length the program of studies offered by the school and the necessity of great care in the selection of a curriculum.

The work of the school clubs was explained by Miss Katherine A. Wilder of the faculty, assisted by the following pupils: Betty Marvin, Richard Lovell, Clarke Case, James Montgomery, Dorothy Perrin, James Gridley, William Squier, James Newcomb, Victor Ciccarello and Carl Lancaster.

Miss Eva Grenier, Supervisor of General Language, in an interesting talk on the work of her department and Miss Ellen G. McGrath, Assistant Principal, told of the work in Guidance.

Plans are now being made for the four meetings to be held next year. The meetings held this year have been well attended, and the programs have been planned to assist parents in understanding the work of the junior high school. The management of the Association hopes during the coming year to continue this type of program at the meetings which will foster the closest possible co-operation between the parents and the Weeks' Junior High School.

Display Cases

The display cases this week contain exhibits by the Foreign Language Department. In one the seventh grade General Language classes have placed a large map of France, around which are samples of various products of the country, pictures of its architectural monuments, photographs of some of its great leaders, and dolls dressed in provincial costumes.

In the other case is a display of Latin notebooks done in the General Language classes, and a collection of Roman material made by pupils in Grade VIII. This includes a small Roman lamp from Pompeii, dolls dressed in the characteristic Roman costumes, figures made of soap to represent Roman boats and buildings, posters, charts showing the use of Latin in modern advertising and in school and state seals, and samples of rock gathered from the Roman Forum.

Assembly

The Wednesday morning Assembly this week was in charge of the Mask and Make-Up Drama Club, which presented a one-act play, entitled "In Arden Forest." The leading parts were taken by Charles Callanan, Barbara Carrick, Ray Goodman, Janet Dinner, William Abrahams, Brooks Dietz, Natalie Grow, Ann Decker and Rolande Lebrun.

NEWTON CENTRE IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Newton Centre Improvement Association was held last Friday night at Mason School Hall. About 30 persons attended. The officers elected were—Dr. E. A. Andrews, president; Joseph T. Bishop, secretary; Henry Whitmore, treasurer. The speaker of the evening was James H. Taylor, supervisor of highway landscape for the Commonwealth. His subject was "Beautifying the Highways." He told of the work which has been done by the State in planting trees and shrubs along highways.

Attention was called to the many shade trees along the streets of this city which are dying, or have died. Many of these trees have been damaged by automobiles, but most of them die because modern street surfacing prevents water seeping into the ground and thus the trees die of thirst. It was suggested that new trees be planted by the city on private property adjacent to street lines. The question as to whether, or not the city can do this legally was brought up. An attorney present stated that the city can do so, provided it obtains the consent of property owners.

NEWTON CENTRE SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

The Annual Meeting of the Newton Centre School Association will be held on Monday, May 9, at 3 o'clock in the Mason School Hall.

Following the reports of the year's work there will be a general discussion of any questions the parents may bring in about the Association or the school work. Bring your questions or problems or send them to Mrs. H. F. Friedman, Grafton St., Newton Centre before the meeting.

Here is your chance to give your ideas and opinions to the school and other mothers. Don't miss it. Mr. Paul will be there to help answer any questions about the school.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Over ninety people responded and thoroughly enjoyed the wide variety of beautiful homes which were opened for their inspection. The houses visited were those of Mrs. William H. Coburn, Early American; Mrs. William H. Raye, Old English; Mrs. G. Harry Adalian, Spanish; Mrs. G. Hubert Ripley, Italian; and Mr. Warren Ordway, Paul Revere type. The home of Mrs. Coburn, which is known as the old Hammond place and stands at the junction of Hammond and Beacon streets and faces Old Orchard road, is probably the oldest house in Newton, part of the original house, which was built in 1645, is still standing and has been cleverly incorporated into the modern wings which have been added. After the trip was completed, many returned to the Club House and enjoyed the delicious luncheon prepared by members of the American Home committee, assisted by members of the Hospitality committee.

Those who stayed on into the afternoon to attend the monthly business meeting and the interesting talk given by Mrs. Katherine Osborne on "Oriental Art and the Romance of Fabrics" felt that their day had been filled to overflowing with inspiration and beauty.

Newton Federation

The hospitality of the Newton Centre Woman's Club, which was extended to the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs for its Annual Meeting, was enjoyed by a large group of Clubwomen on Monday, May 2nd. The rooms used in the beautiful and adequate Club House were prettily decorated with flowers, and the session was begun at one o'clock, when about one hundred members sat down to an attractive and efficiently-served luncheon, managed by Mrs. C. H. Lippincott and her Social committee.

At the close of the luncheon, Mrs. Samuel N. Braham, the Federation president, requested Mrs. Van Patten Steiger, of the Auburndale Woman's Club, to read her very cleverly rhymed thoughts of a Club president, which she gave at the Club Institute at Hopedale, last month. An opportunity was then given to meet the retiring officers in the reception room.

The regular business meeting was called at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. Braham presiding, Mrs. John F. Capron, president of the hostess Club, spoke a few words of welcome, after which Mrs. Harold Moore read the reports of the Fall Meeting, November 9th, 1931, which included round table conferences and open forum on club problems, and of the Mid-Year Meeting held March 18th, 1932, which commemorated the Bicentennial of George Washington. It was announced that the Fall Meeting of 1932 would be held at the Second Congregational Church, West Newton, by invitation of the West Newton Women's Educational Club.

Mrs. Moore next read the combined reports of the chairmen of Standing Committees, all of which showed an interesting year and one of work and progress. The corresponding secretary, Mrs. Charles E. Cunningham; the treasurer, Mrs. Sidney B. Thomas; and the auditor, Mrs. George G. Wolkins, gave concise reports of their departments for the year, and the business was then pleasantly interrupted for the great enjoyment of the violin selections played by Miss Ruth Posselt, accompanied by her sister Miss Gladys Posselt.

Business being resumed, the proposed amendments to the constitution were read, discussed, voted upon and accepted, after which Mrs. Joseph A. Otis, chairman, read the list of candidates proposed by the Nominating committee for the ensuing year. The following ballot was voted upon and unanimously accepted:

President, Mrs. Samuel N. Braham, of the Social Science Club, Newton; first vice-president, Mrs. Charles C. Willson, of the Auburndale Woman's Club; second vice-president, Mrs. J. Earle Parker, of the Waban Woman's Club; third vice-president, Mrs. Edwin H. Gibbs, of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands; recording secretary, Mrs. George J. Murphy, of the Newton Centre Woman's Club; corresponding secretary, Mrs. George H. Jackson, of the West Newton Women's Educational Club; treasurer, Mrs. Sidney B. Thomas, of the West Newton Community Service Club; auditor, Mrs. George G. Wolkins, of the Newton Highlands Woman's Club; directors for 1932-1933, Mrs. Thomas E. Loes, Newton Upper Falls; and Mrs. Paul E. Elicker, Newtonville; and Nominating committee for 1932-1933: Mrs. Hiram Miller, Newton Highlands; Mrs. Edward A. Andrews, Newton Centre; Mrs. Joseph A. Otis, Auburndale; Mrs. Oliver Lothrop, Waban; Mrs. Thomas E. Loes, Newton; Mrs. Robert Hills, Newtonville; Mrs. Philip Jamieson, Newton; Mrs. Justin Starkie, Newton Upper Falls; and Mrs. Edwin Dyer, Auburndale. The Nominating committee for 1931-1932, presenting this list included: Mrs. David A. Ambrose, Mrs. Harold O. Cook, Mrs. Krickle, K. Carick, Mrs. Austin H. Decatur, Mrs. Ralph C. Henry, Mrs. Robert B. McLaughlin, Mrs. Frances Newhall, Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., and Mrs. Joseph A. Otis, chairman.

The program continued with the Misses Posselt offering another interlude of charming music. The applause these musicians received testified to the appreciation of their art. The reports of the presidents of the twelve "Member" Clubs were presented in comprehensive form by Mrs. Alden H. Speare, and by this could be judged the real interest and effort that so many women are showing in working for the success of the numerous and varied projects sponsored by the different groups. Aside from Junior Clubs, a business, and professional Club, Garden Clubs, Chorus and Study Classes in many subjects being formed and carried on, perhaps the report of the philanthropies dispensed by these twelve clubs will best indicate the result of the 1931-32 season's endeavors. The gifts during the season totaled $669.34; of this $466.54 was given locally and $157.54 was awarded as scholarships by six of the clubs.

Mrs. George F. Reinhardt represented the Associate Organizations in a report covering their many outstanding achievements for the year. They all showed great interest and progress in their particular fields. These organizations number eight.

Mrs. Braham closed the meeting with remarks of appreciation for the friendliness so evident among the members working in Federation affairs, several of whom retire this year after terms of faithful and most valuable assistance in their different branches of service. While feeling regret that some of the associations of the past year must be broken, the president greeted the new officers with a cordial welcome and anticipated the pleasant alliances of the Club season 1932-33.

Auburndale Woman's Club

The Auburndale Woman's Club celebrated Arbor Day, April 30th, in a most fitting way, by planting a living Christmas Tree on the grounds of the Plummer Memorial Library. To Mrs. Edward Dyer, chairman of the Conservation Department of the Club, goes great credit for securing most of the sum—$50—which the tree cost, by personal subscriptions, assisted by the president, Mrs. Walter Van Patten Steiger, and the first vice-president, Mrs. Arthur W. Shaw.

A bottle containing Club data was buried at the base of the tree. During the ceremony of planting, school children of the Charles River Country Club, Needham, followed by the Annual Meeting and election of officers.

It is the hope of the Club later to have one of the Washington Bi-Centennial markers to place by the tree. The second interesting event of the week, and one which closes the 18th year for the Club, was a luncheon held at the Charles River Country Club, Needham, followed by the Annual Meeting and election of officers.

The president, Mrs. Walter Van Patten Steiger, presided, and nearly all of the reports were given in rhyme so overcoming much of the possible dullness of such reports. The balloting had taken place at the Auburndale Club previous to the start for Needham, and the result was announced by Mrs. Richard O. Walter, chairman of the Nominating committee. Mrs. Walter Patten Steiger, who had served but one term, was re-elected to the presidency. Mrs. Ernest F. Drew was elected first vice-president; Mrs. Herbert J. Athens, second vice-president; Mrs. Bradley Hill will be the recording secretary; and Mrs. Elbridge Minard was re-elected as corresponding secretary. Miss Anne Bunker retained the office of treasurer, and the two new directors are Mrs. J. Warren Buckman, and Mrs. John A. Gordon.

The president thanked the Club for its loyal support and asked for its continuance for the coming year. A very amusing skit written by members of the Program committee, and managed by the retiring chairman, Mrs. James Dunlop, preceded the business hour, this being a clever burlesque of several of the program meetings.

The meeting closed with the Club members standing in silent tribute to the memory of Mrs. Ossian Brett, who had passed on during the year.

MOTHERS' REST PLANS LUNCHEON AND BRIDGE

A delightful afternoon is being planned for Monday, June 6th, at the Mothers' Rest Home in Oak Hill Village. Mrs. S. Hardy Mitchell, president of the Mothers' Rest Association of the Newtons, is in charge of the luncheon to be served from 12:30 until 2:00 p. m. Mrs. H. Reginald Bankart of Newtonville, vice president of the association, will direct a bridge to be held from 2 until 4:30. A very nominal fee will be charged for both the luncheon and the bridge, the primary desire being to interest a greater number in the work of the organization. The Rest will open officially on Wednesday, June 8th, when the first group of tired mothers and their children will be given two weeks' vacation. In a setting of several acres of wooded land, away from the noise of the city, they enjoy airy, sunny bedrooms, good food, best of care at the hands of a trained nurse, with a matron in charge and a kindergarten to direct the play of the children. Entertainments are planned, religious services are carried on by various ministers of the community and the doctors freely give their services if needed. The affair to be held at the Rest on Monday, June 6, will afford an opportunity to visit at first hand the object for which the members of the Mothers' Rest Association of Newton and its affiliated clubs have worked tirelessly for several years.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

The annual meeting of the Hunnewell Club will be held on Monday evening, May 9th. Preceding the business session which will be called at eight o'clock there will be a dinner at 6:30. The nominating committee comprised of F. O. Stanley, chairman, Peter Turbow, Elmer L. Gibbs, Thomas F. Murray, Thomas E. Eustis, Edgar M. Horne, and Elmer L. Ford will present its report.

Girl Scouts

Girl Scout leaders from Newton and surrounding towns spent last week-end at Camp Mary Day putting the "Outing" into Scouting. This outing was in the form of an overnight camping course planned to encourage and help leaders who take their Scouts on overnight hikes.

Camp Mary Day is an ideal place for overnight hiking and practically all of the week-end was spent out-of-doors playing games, gadget making, and cooking meals at the patrol fire places.

Mr. Liscomb Bruce, Executive of the Norumbega Council Boy Scouts was the Trainer on Saturday and put the leaders through their paces in a grand fashion. Axeman, use of the jack knife, first aid, pack rolling, fire places, and fire building, stalking and obstacle games and a number of questions that naturally come up when a group of campers get together, were taken up Saturday. The new bean hole up on the ridge was christened when bean hole beans were baked in it for Saturday evening.

A chicken barbecue was planned for Sunday, but at the last moment plans were changed and a luscious chicken dinner was served instead. A Scouts' Own on Sunday afternoon, planned by the patrols, ended the course.

Camping is becoming more and more an important part of the Scout program and in order that our girls may have the best there is in the camping line, the leaders must be well versed in the art of camping. Newton hopes to have this week-end training an annual affair and if all goes well, Newton will give her leaders a taste of winter camping at Mary Day next year.

ZONTA CLUB

A regular dinner and business meeting of the Zonta Club of Newton was held on Monday evening, May 2, at 19 Applegraph street, Newton Centre. The club entertained Mrs. Hatfield Hutchinson, Mrs. Edmund Kingsbury, and Miss Louise Wetherbee who was the guest speaker. The members gave their classifications.

President Marion Fuller read a paper on Club Spirit which had been presented at the Ithaca Conference by Calista Roy. Miss Wetherbee, who is teacher of English and popular, successful dramatic coach, at Newton High School, talked about Modern Drama. She traced the development and background of the Little Theatre Movement which started in 1887 as a revolt against the commercial theatre. The study of production of plays in High School is a comparatively new thing. Miss Wetherbee has very definite ideals and standards which she is fostering through the Drama Club organized in the High School.

The next meeting of the Zonta Club will be a luncheon at Brae Burn on May 16, when the Newton Rotary Club will be guests.

Vaughan Dabney, Dean of the Andover Theological School in Newton Centre. Mr. Wilfred G. Gunn, head of the "Revelers", will give a concert for the benefit of the Senior Endowment Fund of Lasell, Monday evening, May 9, at the Auburndale Club. "Any Odd Jobs
MA'AM?"

A NEW screen door? Shutters painted? Lots of capable men need work . . . and can't find it. Let's see what can be done to help—will you? Being in the electric business, the special thing we think of is work for an electrical contractor . . . installing new outlets for added convenience—on the porch, perhaps, so you can read there on summer evenings . . . a light for a dark closet that goes on automatically as the door is opened, and off the instant it's closed . . . a modern new ceiling fixture for the kitchen that gives you a light like daylight to work in.

You will help? That's fine! If you'll get in touch with your local Job-Finding Office, they'll supply a man for the work—or, if it's more convenient, tell us the "clean-up, paint-up, fix-up" jobs you want done—and we'll turn this over to them . . . We also might add—it won't cost much to get this work done—prices are the lowest in years.

BULL FIGHT AT CABARET DANCE

A Spanish Bull Fight will be one of the spectacular features of the Cabaret Dance to be given by the Newton Dramatic Club Saturday evening, May 14th at the Longwood Towers Ball Room. The entrance march of the peasants, priest, Spanish señoritas and matadors will be followed by singing and a graceful Spanish Dance. The "bull" interpreted by two actors under a bull exterior will be led in and an exciting and humorous fight will ensue. Great interest is centering around the great Human Contract Bridge Game which will be the final episode of the evening. The fifty-two cards and their modernistic backs, worn sandwichman style will be an artistic success. Artists from Waban, Wollaston, Boston and the various Newtons have cooperated in the difficult task. Kyoshi Oye, a Japanese artist, made the Jacks. Mrs. Charles Norton designed the Queens and Mrs. Bartholomae the Kings. Mrs. H. B. Wilder designed the intricate headgear of the royal family. The hands to be played has been made up by Mrs. Prescott Warren who will be one of the four to play it. The hand to be played is North, Spades 10, 9, 8, 7, Hearts, K, 8, 7, 6, 5, Diamonds, A, K, Q, J. Clubs none. East, Spades 5, Hearts 10, 9, 4, 3, 2, Diamonds 4, 2, Clubs 7, 6, 4, 3, 2, South Spades A, K, Q, J, Hearts none, Diamonds 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 3, Clubs A, 9, 8, West Spades 6, 5, 3, 2, Hearts A, Q, J, Diamond 5, Clubs K, Q, J, 10, 5.

There will be a blue dance by Mary Hagan to the music of Drigo's "Waltz". An old English pantomime will be given by Martha Swail, Edgar Swail and Arthur Logan with violin accompaniment by Emory Leonard. There will be general dancing between cabaret episodes.

ANNUAL MEETING AT LINCOLN PARK CHURCH

The annual meeting of the Lincoln Park Baptist Church was held on Wednesday evening, May 4th. Reports showed excellent growth in all departments, especially in membership and in the Church School. Mr. Otis Robinson Heath, new Associate Minister, was introduced.

The church treasurers reported all bills paid for the past year. The Missionary Quota of $1100 met in full, and the mortgage on the building reduced 12 per cent during the year. This has been achieved only by the sacrificial giving of many in the parish together with the generous help of friends and the faithful management of our Executive Committee and Financial officers.

AUBURNDALE CLUB ELECTION

The annual meeting of the Auburndale Club will take place next Wednesday, May 11. Those nominated for officers are President, Norman Cate; vice-president, James Dunlop; secretary, Herbert McGill; Treasurer, Edward B. Gray; Directors, Mrs. Ashley Wight, John E

Two Burned To Death In Auto Crash in Brighton

Newton Centre Couple Victims Of Tragic Accident

Fred D. Pollard, Jr. of 195 Morton street, Newton Centre, 40 years of age, and his wife, Frances G. Pollard, age 31, met horrible deaths about 1 o'clock Wednesday morning when the small coupe in which they were riding was struck by a larger sedan. Both cars were traveling at high rates of speed and the crash not only demolished the vehicles, but the gasoline tanks on the cars burst into flames at once and Mr. Pollard and his wife were so burned that it was difficult to identify them. The sedan which collided with their car was operated by George Heuser, 22, of Nesponset avenue, Roslindale and was owned by his father, Thomas McCaffrey, 21, of Arcola street, Roxbury, who was riding in the car driven by Heuser, was also burned to death. The crash occurred opposite the entrance to Evergreen cemetery, a short distance below Lake street, on Commonwealth avenue, Brighton.

Mr. Pollard and his wife had been visiting friends in Brookline and were returning to their home. Heuser and McCaffrey had been to a camp in Marlboro and were riding towards Boston. In the car with them were Agnes Collins, 18, of Bolton street, South Boston and Josephine Carey, 19, of Third street, South Boston. Heuser escaped with slight injuries; the Collins girl received a broken leg, severe burns and other injuries. The Carey woman received a broken leg, had her teeth knocked out, both she and Heuser also received burns. They were rescued from the flaming car by John Donovan of Harrington street, Newtonville and by Fred and Thomas Cassidy of Brighton. Donovan was driving along in his automobile some distance behind Pollard's car. In an endeavor to separate the jammed cars he repeatedly drove his automobile against the tangled wreckage. The Cassidy brothers ran to the wreck from their taxi-stand at Lake street. One of the men pulled an alarm which brought the Brighton fire apparatus, but the flames blazed so fiercely for several minutes that the three unfortunate victims could not be extricated. A detail of Brighton police detoured traffic off the avenue from the scene of the tragedy.

Pollard was a member of the law firm of Dallinger, Pollard & Richardson of Boston. He was born at Proctorsville, Vermont 40 years ago and was a second cousin of former President Coolidge. He graduated from Black River Academy at Ludlow, Vermont; from Dartmouth College in (Continued on Page 7)

Plan Program To Combat Wet Propaganda

Federation of Temperance Forces Being Formed

There is now being formed a Federation of Allied Temperance Forces to further sane temperance education from a scientific, physiological, social and moral standpoint, and to cooperate in the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment. This movement is to carry on its work in the Newtons, Watertown, Waltham, Belmont and Waverley, as Wet propaganda has been circulated in these districts. Many are being deluded by this constant outpouring of misinformation and half truths, it is said.

The organization meeting of the Norumbega Federation of Allied Temperance Forces will be held on Sunday, May 22nd, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, at the Newton Y. M. C. A. auditorium. Among the speakers will be Carlton Sherwood, Mrs. Rose Bull, Hon. Edwin O. Childs, E. P. Gates, and probably Dr. Richard C. Cabot, a prominent physician and professor of Social Ethics at Harvard.

Officers and leaders of the W. C. T. U., Norumbega Christian Endeavor Union, Y. M. C. A., Prohibition Loyalty League, Y. P. B.'s, Norumbega Council of Religious Education, Men's Clubs, Women's Clubs, and other organizations will be present.

In a notice sent out by the Norumbega Federation of Allied Temperance Forces, the following was printed: "All the friends of Prohibition must be more active in combating Wet propaganda by presenting facts to 'those on the fence.' To do this we must further sane temperance education from a scientific, physiological, social and moral standpoint. Alcoholized brains and mechanical and scientifically progressive age. We must work together for social and moral progress if this world is to be made a healthier and better place for future generations. The only obvious way to this is through the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment. No other way will do it. We are aware that the enforcement of this amendment is not all that it could or should be. The Wet interests and the Wet organizations are doing all they can to block its progress. However, this is no time to give up the boat! A leaking boat is far better than no boat. Sane instructive temperance education will in time plug up the leaks. Social progress demands it. But this will take time and will not occur over night. It means a hard fight for the right.

Aldermen Vote Against Changing Hammond Pond Parkway Route At Special Meeting on Monday

Meeting Called by Mayor To Ask Legislature To Amend Act Authorizing Present Extension Plan Carrying Parkway to Beacon Street

A special meeting of the Newton Board of Aldermen was held on Monday night for the purpose of asking the Legislature to pass legislation that would amend Chapter 358, Acts of 1929 which authorized the Metropolitan District Commission to lay out and construct a continuation of the West Roxbury Parkway from Brookline through Hammond Woods, skirting Hammond Pond near its westerly shore to a point about 600 feet north of the pond; thence through land formerly owned by Edwin S. Webster and others to Beacon street, about opposite Hobart road. Subsequently money was appropriated by the Legislature for the construction of this roadway and work on it was supposed to start this Spring.

Several weeks ago a group of Chestnut Hill residents living on or near Hammond street petitioned Mayor Weeks to have the route of the parkway changed so that it would follow approximately a route which had been proposed several years ago as an alternative route for this parkway instead of that originally proposed and accepted. This alternative route would keep the parkway away from Hammond's Pond, would carry it about 800 feet westerly of the accepted plan, bring it down Glen avenue, through the underpass at the Boston & Albany railroad and bring it out to Beacon street by Glen avenue. The petitioners contended that if the parkway is constructed along the planned route it will destroy the scenic beauty of Hammond's Pond and woods and they believe the noise of traffic on the proposed parkway would be objectionable if not removed further from their estates. The special meeting held on Monday night was for the purpose of having the Aldermen vote to ask the Legislature to amend the Acts of 1929 so that bids could be obtained on the route to Glen avenue desired by the Chestnut Hill group.

The Aldermen met informally as a committee of the whole in the large committee room at City Hall. Also present were City Solicitor Bartlett, the Planning Board of the City of Newton, City Engineer Morse and Otis D. Pellos, Jr., planning engineer of the Metropolitan District Commission. President Collins of the Aldermen announced that the meeting would be open and press representatives were given the opportunity to listen to the discussion. He called on City Solicitor Bartlett to explain the purpose of the meeting. Mr. Bartlett stated that the Chestnut Hill petitioners desire the parkway kept away from the shore of Hammond's Pond, and that Mayor Weeks wished the Aldermen to seek legislation which would allow the Metropolitan District Commission to advertise for new bids on an alternate route which would carry the parkway about 800 feet away from Hammond's Pond, but yet emerge it near Hobart road on Beacon street. This deviation from the Glen avenue route was agreed to by Mayor Weeks upon Alderman Pratt's insistence. The Mayor also would ask in the changed plan to have the Legislature authorize the expenditure of any balance from the original appropriation of $415,000 to widen Chesley road and Willow street, Newton Centre and build an approach to it for a connecting link of the West Roxbury traffic route between Beacon street and Centre street; with the proviso that this balance might also be used with the connecting link to be routed between Beacon street and Commonwealth avenue, near Hobart road, should a study prove this to be preferable. This balance might be expended within the next 3 years. Mr. Bartlett stated that if it is attempted to route the traffic highway through Glen avenue, controversy will ensue and no legislation would be obtained.

Mr. Bartlett explained that he, City Engineer Morse and Mr. Harvey, assistant to Mr. Morse, had planned a route along Glen avenue, but the Metropolitan District Commission refused to consider this proposition as Glen avenue would be merely a traffic route and not a parkway. Alderman Holden stated that he had attended the hearings held recently by the Metropolitan District Commission on the change of route as proposed by the Chestnut Hill group, and last week with Commissioner Keniston and others had walked over this route. It was found that 8 per cent grades would be encountered, as well as sharp curves, therefore the commission would not agree to route the parkway in that direction.

Alderman Collins requested the Chairman of the Planning Board to express his views. Mr. Albert M. Lyon, the Chairman, said that the Board had been informed by the engineer of the Metropolitan District Commission regarding the accepted route which has long been proposed and also the alternate route towards Glen avenue. The latter route in addition to its 8 per cent grades and curves, would cost $120,000 more than the accepted route. Also, City Engineer Morse had informed the Planning Board that Route 1, the accepted route, is shorter, has the better grades and is less expensive to build. Asked by Alderman Collins if the route along the shore of Hammond's Pond is objectionable, Mr. Lyon replied "Not from a public point of view. The time has passed when private citizens can monopolize a large area of public owned land for private benefit. There is no good reason for making the change."

In answer to questions by Mr. Collins, Engineer Fellows of the Metropolitan District Commission stated that on the accepted route the grades are easy, there are no bad curves and the proposed alternate route is not desirable. Mr. Collins asked Mr. Fellows if, in his opinion, the Legislature would agree to the Legislation which Mayor Weeks wanted the Aldermen to seek? He received a negative answer. Alderman Floyd inquired if the Metropolitan District Commission had surveyed other routes than Route 1, the accepted plan. He was informed by Mr. Bartlett that several other routes, including that along Glen avenue, sought by the Chestnut Hill group, had been surveyed, and Route 1 was selected as the best. Mr. Floyd then commented that the Commission certainly had gone over this problem thoroughly.

Alderman Pratt said that there is no good reason why the parkway should not be built along Route 1 as planned. Mr. Pratt said: "Hammond's Pond, known locally as the Ice Pond, is a State pond, and belongs to the people, the same as Crystal Lake. To change the route to satisfy a few owners located more than a third of a mile away by actual measurement, is not the right thing for us to do. The majority of owners (Continued on Page 6)

Newton Girl Wins State Title As Bugler Again

Elizabeth Hovey Retains 1931 Honors In Contest

Newton was very proud of the record made by the Girl Scout Bugle and Drum Corps on Bugle and Drum Corps Day which was held May 7 at the Boston Arena.

Two of the eighteen buglers who tried out in the morning were from Newton. Both of these girls were in the semi-finals and when the three who had won places in the finals were called on the floor in the afternoon before the large audience present, Newton was tremendously excited that its two girls were among the three.

Elizabeth Hovey of Newton Highlands—Troop 21, won the championship a year ago and on Saturday she received the honor for the second time. Helen Hallas of Newton Centre—Troop 13, won second place, and a Girl Scout from Quincy came in third. Mrs. Wellman, the State Commissioner from Massachusetts, presented the Champion cup to Elizabeth Hovey.

Sixteen corps competed in the afternoon from as many different councils coming to the Arena for this event from all parts of the State. A large audience assembled at the Arena to see the event and great enthusiasm was shown as the cups and banners were awarded. With the keen competition Newton was very pleased to be rated, and a purple banner was received by Ann Cummings, Drum Major, for the Newton Corps. Mrs. Walton S. Redfield, Commissioner for the Newton Girl Scouts, is chairman of the State Bugle and Drum Corps Committee and as such with her committee had charge of the affair which proved to be one of the most successful Girl Scout Bugle and Drum Corps Days ever put on by the State Organization.

BIDS ADVERTISED FOR WASHINGTON STREET

A conference was held last Friday at the State House between F. B. Sabin, engineer of the Massachusetts Department of Public Works, Street Commissioner Stuart and City Engineer Morse of Newton. They discussed the proposed resurfacing of Washington street between West Newton and Newton Corner. As a result an advertisement was published last Saturday calling for bids on this work. The bids will be opened on May 17 and the contract will specify that the work be completed on or before August 29, 1932.

There will be a 40 foot concrete roadway in the centre of the street, flanked by roadways of bituminized

Newton Ctr. Man Is Charged With Extortion Attempt

Two Newton Centre Residents Receive Demands for Money

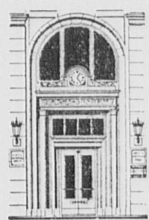

Ettore Pellegrini, 42, of 360 Langley road, in the Thompsonville section of Newton Centre, was arrested Wednesday night by Newton police charged with attempted extortion. Wednesday morning Leslie Hawkrigge of 230 Dudley road, Newton Centre and Frederic C. Kennard of 246 Dudley road, Newton Centre received letters almost identical. The letter received by Mr. Hawkrigge read:

By order of Mr. Capone and Company deposit $4000 in the waiting room at Dudley road and Boylston street at 16 minutes before 6 o'clock on Wednesday, May 11 and if you fail we will do as they did to Lindbergh's son. We will torture you and your children. Save your life!

The letter sent to Mr. Kennard specified $5000 and the time as 6.05. Both letters were turned over to the Newton police. Late in the afternoon Inspectors Goode and King and Special Officer Foeley hid near the waiting room mentioned in the letters. Shortly after 6 o'clock Pellegrini drove to the place in an automobile and started searching through the shelter. The police had placed two envelopes in a crevice there. They pounced on Pellegrini and took him into custody. He refused to talk and later he was bailed in $4000 bonds which were furnished by Amedeo Di Carlo of 32 Beecher place, Newton Centre. Pellegrini has been a gardener by occupation and has been unemployed.

Pellegrini was arraigned in the Newton Court yesterday and was held in $20,000 bail for appearance on May 26. The high bail was asked by Asst. District Attorney Volpe who was present. Volpe stated that if Pellegrini is found guilty, he will ask that the maximum sentence, 16 years, be imposed. Pellegrini said he was innocent. He is married, is naturalized and has resided in this country 19 years. His wife and child are in Italy. He has been employed recently as a laborer at the new City Hall.

macadam. It is estimated that the work will cost around $220,000. The State will contribute $35,000 to this work; in addition to $23,000 already paid for damages to Washington street when the big water main was laid last year. Middlesex County will contribute $30,000. Whether, or not Newton residents will be given employment on the job depends on the contractor who obtains the bid. He cannot be compelled to hire local men. The State officials will have charge of the work.

Protests Against Dance Hall At Norumbega Pk.

Rev. Albert J. Coleman of 10 Phillips street, Auburndale has written a letter to the Newton Board of Aldermen asking that a refusal be given to the Norumbega Park Company to conduct a dance hall at the park. Apparently Mr. Coleman was not aware that the license had already been granted on April 18. His letter reads:

"I am addressing an open letter to your honorable board, to ask you to stop a serious menace to private morals and a direct nuisance to the people who live in the vicinity of Norumbega Park. I am asking you not to vote for the continuance of the dance hall now operated at Norumbega Park. I know from personal observation, especially after the dancing, that the conduct of many of the dancers is not only a disgrace to private and public morals but that the attendant noise is a poisonous nuisance to decent people who need their sleep. It is a common thing to find empty whiskey bottles on my lawn after these nightly carousals. Have we taxpayers and decent citizens of Newton no rights in the matter? How would the members of your honorable board feel if each was a subject to this form of persecution? I am asking that each one of you act as if he personally were the subject of this invasion of his rights. Cut the thing right out from our beloved city! Refuse to grant the petition asked for by the Norumbega Park Company and do the honorable thing for the safety and morals of the people of Newton as well as for those outsiders who use us for their own selfish interest."

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

NEW TRADE SCHOOL ATHLETIC SITUATION NOT YET DISCUSSED

It would seem rather premature that any announcement should be made regarding the athletic situation at the new Newton Trade School. A few weeks ago the Newton School Committee voted to separate the present Vocational School course from the High School curriculum and form a distinct system to be designated the Newton Trade School.

This week Metropolitan press notices carried the announcement that John L. Sullivan, former head coach of football and basketball at the Newton High School, would receive the appointment as head coach of all athletics at the Trade School. Mr. Sullivan is head of the drafting department and a teacher in the present Vocational School.

Facts in the matter show that the School Committee, at the time of its authority such an appointment would be made, has not yet considered the athletic situation which will undoubtedly be created. Other rumors regarding the outside competition among such athletic teams would meet are also entirely without foundation. It can readily be shown through the fact that there are less than 200 students, all boys, in the Vocational School and the Trade School enrollment is not expected to be increased materially because of the separation of the two systems.

Undoubtedly if the School Committee authorized the new Trade School to maintain its own athletic program Mr. Sullivan will be considered for the position as coach, as with little question he has had more athletic experience both as player and coach than any other member of the Trade School faculty. It is expected that the Trade School athletic situation will be discussed somewhat at the next meeting of the School Committee.

NEWTON LEADS SUBURBAN LEAGUE

With victories in both of its Suburban league games to date the Newton High School baseball team leads that circuit with a crucial game listed for this afternoon at Clafin Field. Coach Jeff Jones will send his captain and star southpaw to the mound again in an effort to gain a third straight victory at the expense of the Cambridge Latin outfit. Coach Leander MacDonald has saved his ace, "Mugsy" Kelly, and has high hopes of going home in a tie for the league lead which will result from a Cantab victory.

Coach Jeff Jones of Newton has been forced to do considerable experimenting the early part of the season and now that the team is back in the season's schedule has nearly been reached he can concentrate on the drive down the home stretch. A weakness behind the bat was the Newton mentor's first problem which was solved satisfactorily to all concerned with the return of Tommy Lyons to the game. At the start of the season Lyons was not permitted by his parents to catch because of the injury he received last year which resulted in a long siege of blood poisoning. With the doctor's approval he received consent to catch last week and his return has bolstered up the receiving end.

Transferring Kevorkian to the role of catcher weakened the local team at third base. Francis Flagg, a sophomore, and Bob Patterson, a senior, have been battling for the right to start at the hot corner. Flagg, because of his better defensive play, got the first call but in an effort to improve the batting strength of the team he finally gave way to Patterson. Patterson came through nicely at the bat but the advantage gained was offset through the fact that his fielding was not up to par with the result that the Newton pitchers often found themselves in trouble. With Lyons back as a catcher it permitted Coach Jones to give Kevorkian his chance to play third base. Kevorkian has been the intermediate varsity third baseman for the past two seasons. In the game with Framingham on Tuesday he made two beautiful stops and his strong throwing arm enabled him to get his man at first every time. At the bat he came through with a timely single. In all probability he has clinched the third base berth with the likelihood that Patterson will serve frequently as a pinch hitter. The remainder of the infield, Huston at short, Waters at second and Houghton at first remains the same. As all of these players have more years of experience with Waters having still another, the Newton infield is getting the experience which should prove invaluable next year as well as being able to keep Newton in the running this season.

The loss of Jimmy MacAdams, star right hand pitcher, will be keenly felt. MacAdams becomes ineligible on Monday. This will bring the burden of the relief pitching upon either Phil Giles or Cliff Choquette. Captain Tommy Rhodes has the stuff to pitch one full game each week and it looks as though Giles would get the call to start the second game with Choquette in reserve. Giles has pitched good ball on each occasion he has been called upon and he will get his first chance to go the route next Tuesday at Brookline in the wind-up of the first round of the league games.

Should Brookline defeat Somerville this afternoon a triple tie for first place will exist should Cambridge Latin also stop Newton. But Captain Rhodes and his mates will have something to say about that.

TENNIS TEAM WINS AGAIN— IS UNDEFEATED

By defeating Worcester Commerce High last Friday afternoon on the Newton High tennis courts the Newton High tennis team maintained its clean slate for the season. Newton won two single matches and all three doubles for a 5 to 3 victory. The summary:

Singles—Cobb (N) defeated Sweeney (WC), 6-4, 10-8, Cotton (WC) defeated Ridgeway (N), 9-7, 7-5; Cohen (WC) defeated Spurrier (N), 6-1, 6-3; Burke (WC) defeated Ash-Newtonville, last week Friday with Newton staying off a ninth inning rally to win 10 to 9. It was Newton's second Suburban league victory of the season and put Coach Jones' nine in the lead. Cambridge Latin edged Somerville, 3 to 2, in a duel between "Mugsy" Kelly and Danny Lyons for its first league victory which put Cantabs half a game behind the Newton team. This afternoon Newton and Cambridge Latin will face each other at Clafin Field in the first meeting of the season between the two and another great game is predicted. Captain Tommy Rhodes will probably face Kelly. A victory for Newton will give the orange and black a decided edge on the field as the half-way marker is nearly reached.

After spotting Rindge Tech to a two-run lead in the second inning Newton came back with a seven-run rally against Mahoney to drive him from the box. Chapman, Rindge pitching star, came in to stop the rally although Huston's homer in the next inning gave the Newton nine an 8 to 2 edge. Jimmy MacAdams was on the mound for Newton and in the sixth Rindge staged a five-run rally that put them within one run of a tying score. Newton came back in the eighth inning with two more runs. In the ninth Rindge got going again and after a Mahoney fly in left field and a Huston home run by Mahoney accounted for one run and an error by Huston and Spartichino's two-base hit had put runners on second and third Coach Jones yanked MacAdams. Tommy Rhodes went to the mound in an attempt to halt the rally. Falese smacked one at Flagg who deflected it to the right field corner. Huston threw home and Tommy Lyons tagged Jim Lyons, the Rindge runner coming home from third. MacDonald smacked another at Flagg and he tried to nail Spartichino at the plate but the throw was not quite on the mark and the run scored. Runners were now on first and second. Huston threw to first and the winning runs were left stranded on the bases.

In the first inning Rindge got two men on with one out as Huston dropped Burgess' fly in left field and MacAdams walked. Maloney, MacAdams then fanned the next two batters. In Newton's half Mullen beat out an infield fly but Terry hit into a double play, second to short to first, and Houghton was tossed out by third baseman J. Lyons. The two Rindge tallies in the second were both unearned. Patterson threw wild on Falese's grounder to the Rindge first baseman. The second MacDonald attempted to sacrifice and was safe when MacAdams fielded the ball poorly. Averitt dropped a bunt down towards first and MacAdams slipped and fell going after it. Falese scored on the play and Averitt got credit for a hit. Mahoney went out on a foul bunt on his third strike. MacDonald set sail for third. Huston's throw was over Patterson's head and the Rindge shortstop scored. Burgess fanned to end the rally. Newton went out in order in its half.

MacAdams fanned Maloney and J. Lyons in the third and Waters drew out Falese after Spartichino had singled to right field. Then came Newton's big inning. Patterson, the first batter up, singled between short and third and took second on a wild pitch. Tommy Lyons beat out an infield rally and MacAdams laid down a sacrifice to move both runners along. Mullen's sacrifice throw back to the plate but catcher Spartichino dropped the ball and Patterson scored with run number one and Lyons scored all the way from second with run number two as the ball rolled halfway between home and first. Mullen stole second and runner number three on Terry's blow to right field which he stretched into a two-bagger by daring baserunning. Huston drew a pass. Houghton slashed a single to right to score Terry with run number four and put Huston on third. Houghton taking second on an unsuccessful throw to

NEWTON PLACES THIRD IN FIRST MEET ON CINDERS

Newton High's outdoor track team placed third at the annual Worcester Tech interscholastic track meet at Worcester last Saturday afternoon. The honors in the meet which were won last year by Newton High, were divided between Everett and Lawrence High with 25 points each. Newton totaled 30 points to lead Fairhaven, 17, Brookline 16, Lowell 15½ and other schools with fewer points.

Although a heavy drizzle fell most of the afternoon there were excellent times turned in and two new records established. Roberts of Lawrence set a new record of 10 1/5 seconds in his trial heat of the 100-yard dash which was later equalled by Ado Committo of Everett in winning the final. In the final Roberts was second and Douglas Sloane of Newton was third. Sloane was about a yard behind Committo at the tape.

Newton failed to place anyone in the finals of the 220-yard dash which was won by Battles of Lowell. The 120-yard high hurdles was a real battle between John Donovan of Lawrence and Captain Stanley Johnson of Newton. Johnson pushed the Lawrence flier to the limit. Johnson led his rival over the first three barriers but tipped the fourth which gave Donovan the opportunity to pull up in fast and win by a less than a yard in 16 3/5 seconds. In the 220-yard dash final Donovan and Johnson staged another race, speeding along for over 150 yards on about even terms. In the last 50 yards Donovan pulled away to win by about 4 yards in 25 4/5 seconds for a new record for the event. Elliot Bradley of Newton took third.

Frank Tuscher of Newton placed fourth in the 440-yard run to keep Newton in the race for honors. Newton placed no one in the half-mile run. Both the half and the quarter were won by the Everett star, Don McKee.

The mile run was the best race of the day. Not because it was won by Tommy Fitzgerald of Newton but because it was one of the most stubborn distance duels ever put on in schoolboy racing. Fitz went out from the gun to take a lead but before the end of the first lap Shugrue of Lowell snatched the lead away. From then on first one and then the other of this pair took turns at taking the lead. Six times the lead shifted until, going into the gun lap Fitz led his rival by about a yard. Coming down the home stretch Shugrue drew up on even terms with the Newton miler and they battled shoulder to shoulder for nearly 500 yards. A few yards from the tape Fitz gave a lift to win by about a yard.

Newton's weakness in the field events cost it the chance to defend its 1931 title successfully. Newton entries scored but four points in the broad jump, high jump, shot put, discus throw and pole vault. Stan Johnson took second in the broad jump with a leap of 20 ft. 5½ inches and Tom Molloy took fourth in the same event with 18 ft. 7¾ inches.

NEWTON TRACK TEAM AT HARVARD INTERSCHOLASTICS

Coach Donald Enoch and his Newton high school outdoor track team have hopes of winning the State championship of schools in Newton's class at the annual Harvard Interscholastic meet to be held at the Stadium tomorrow afternoon.

Although the orange and black failed to come through in the Worcester meet last Saturday a tie for first honors was a matter of about a yard. Doug Sloane was third in the 100-yard dash final which was won by Committo of Everett with Roberts of Lawrence second. Everett and Lawrence were tied with 25 points at the conclusion of the meet with Newton following with 20 points. Had Sloane won it would have boosted the Newton total to 23 points and reduced the points of the other two schools to put Newton in a tie with one or the other. Committo led Sloane at the tape by about a yard.

Sloane is in the right frame of mind to reverse the decision tomorrow and give Newton a start in its battle to dethrone Boston English High as the Everett team will compete in Class C, with the smaller schools in the state. This will also bolster Newton's chances of scoring in the 440-yard run and the 220-yard dash although English High has some sterling performers. In any event the meet will furnish some excellent competition and, while Boston English is considered the favorite, an upset would cause little surprise.

Incidentally followers of local athletics will have a chance to see Milton Green star hurdler and captain of last year's Newton track team, in action. Green will compete in the hurdles for Exeter Academy in the Preparatory School Class.

SPORT NOTES

Green Beaten Twice

Exeter Academy and New Hampshire freshmen staged a close track meet at Exeter last Saturday with the academy runners winning 65 to 60. Milton Green, 1931 Newton captain and star, was beaten by a close margin in both the high and low hurdle races by Funston of the N. H. yearlings.

Gallagher Wins Fifth

Herb Gallagher, local star athlete at Northeastern University, won his fifth straight game for 'The Huskies' on Tuesday pitching a 2 to 0 shutout over New Hampshire. Gallagher started his team towards its winning runs with a single in the seventh. The following batter also got on base and both trotted home on an ensuing two-base hit.

NEWTON TOPS FRAMINGHAM IN TEN INNING GAME

It took the Newton high baseball team 10 innings to defeat the Framingham high nine at Clafin Field on Tuesday afternoon, 4 to 3. Going into the 9th Newton saw its lead of 3 to 0 dwindle away to a tie score to force the game into extra session. In the ninth Newton came through with the winning tally.

For the first four and a half innings it was a real pitcher's battle between Phil Giles of Newton and Fred Kennedy of Framingham. Giles had set the opposition back in order without a man reaching first and without a hit having been made off his delivery. Kennedy had been going almost as well. In the first inning a hit batsman and a single to left by Carvelli put two men on but Kennedy then struck out the next three batters. He continued to fan the Newtonites, one after the other, until eight had gone down in a row in the first three innings. In the fourth he fanned two more. In the fifth frame Hudson got hit by a fast one and Kevorkian laced a single to left. Champagne laid down a sacrifice to put the runners on second and third. Coach Jones yanked Giles and sent Bob Patterson up to bat as a pinch hitter. Patterson came through with a ringing single to score his two teammates. In the next inning Newton chalked up another tally.

There was no further scoring until the ninth. Kennedy had turned back Newton with little difficulty while Choquette, who replaced Giles on the mound for Newton, was also going along smoothly. In the ninth the visitors got to Choquette to put runners on second and third with one out. Garabino hoisted a long fly to Bob Hudson in left field which the latter caught and then let loose a throw to the plate. The throw was wild and got by Chapman to allow both runners to score. As the run had been chalked up early in the same inning the score was tied. Jimmy MacAdams went to the mound in the middle of the desperate situation and it was off his delivery that the tying runs came.

In the last of the tenth Terry, the first Newton batter, singled. Huston hit a slow roller to shortstop and both runners were safe when Garabino booted the ball. Houghton hit down the first base foul line and the ball carried off first base into foul territory in right field for a single and allowing Terry to score from second with the winning run.

Thirty-two strikeouts, 17 by Kennedy, 7 each by Giles and Choquette and one by MacAdams featured the game. Newton made nine hits while the three Newton pitchers held Framingham to three.

OUR LADY HIGH WINS TO KEEP IN RUNNING

Our Lady High School baseball team swamped St. Mary's High of Brookline last week Friday 16 to 2 in the only Catholic High School League game played this week. The victory kept the Newton team in third place and as the league leaders, immaculate Conception High of Revere, lost one and won one, the gap between the two teams was narrowed to a full game.

In topping St. Mary's the Newton players pounded out 14 hits while Leo Moran held the Brookline outfit to four safeties. The Our Lady team started off at the first of the game to chalk up six runs in the first inning and two more in the second. Three run rallies in the fifth and seventh with single counters in the sixth and eighth produced the 16 total. Charley Gallagher led the Newton players at bat with three hits in four times at bat. He collected a homer, a triple and a single. O'Connell had a perfect day at the plate with four hits in four times at bat. His collection included three singles and a home run. Lombardi made a triple and Cummings a double to make five of the local 14 hits for extra bases.

Rotary Club

Mr. Charles F. Woodhouse, a resident of India for many years and now connected with the Sampson, Murdock Company of Boston, gave a most interesting and entertaining talk on India at the weekly meeting of the Rotary Club, May 9. He outlined in vivid fashion the various migrations to India and the conquests which have produced a most heterogeneous population, now three times the number of the people in the United States. It is a land of extreme contrasts where the most modern and most primitive things exist side by side. Thus the use of the radio in dispatching trains exists alongside of the primitive ox cart. There are so many different dialects that Gandhi can reach but twenty-five per cent of the people by use of the native tongue and so he resorts to the use of English to reach a larger number.

Mahatma Gandhi, the speaker declared to be a great and sincere leader and a very lovable man though most inconsistent in his denunciation of modern inventions. These he uses himself when he has to, as witness his auto trips across the country in the interest of the cause of national independence. His dress, or rather the lack of it, Mr. Woodhouse characterized as a pose, a visible reminder to the world of India's poverty.

Whatever one may say against British rule, the fact remains that much has been good. It is Britain that has made India nationally conscious which has led to the present revolt. It was a great shock to Britain when the native princes "turned red" at the recent London conference.

Most astonishing is the immense capacity of the Indians to suffer, of which the speaker gave many personal anecdotes. This ability to suffer is back of their non-cooperative movement and it is a mighty weapon. The British are helpless in the face of it.

Many other aspects of Indian life such as the caste system, the enormous percentage of illiteracy, rainfall and famine, the great Aryan literature which antedated the Greek and profoundly influenced it, these and many other things Mr. Woodhouse referred to in this most illuminating talk.

Preceding this talk Mr. C. H. Carron, of Newton Centre, spoke on the Illuminated Water Pageant to be given at Crystal Lake, Newton Highlands, on the evenings of June 3 and 4 under the auspices of the Civics Art Association, which promises to be a worthy successor of the Tercentenary Pageant of 1930.

LUCY JACKSON CHAPTER, D. A. R.

The Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R., of Newton held its annual meeting on Monday, May 9th, at the chapter house, Mrs. Liverus H. Howe, the regent, presiding. The minutes of the last meeting having been read and approved, Mrs. Howe called for the reports of officers and chairmen of committees and Chapter Representatives of State Committees. These were read and approved. Those who attended the Continental Congress were then called upon and gave some interesting reports of their activities while in Washington. The regent then called upon the nominating committee for the election of officers and the following were elected:

The chapter is indeed fortunate in its new leader as Mrs. Parker has always had the welfare of the chapter at heart and has shown great ability and tact in the many things she has been called on to do.

The regent, Mrs. Parker, then called for nominations from the floor of delegates and alternates for the October State Conference. The following were elected:

On Thursday, May 5, Mrs. Reeves and Mrs. Alger retired as State Officers of the Rebekah Assembly and they were showered with many gifts in appreciation of their year's work.

NORUMBEGA DISTRICT COUNCIL OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

"At least one-half hour of work by the pupils outside of class, in connection with each lesson in every Sunday School of this District" is the standard now being suggested for all church schools in the Norumbega District territory. This subject will be considered at a large number of teachers' meeting during the month of May.

We also suggest that plans be made for "Religious Education Week" in the Fall, a week in which the emphasis may be put upon Home Cooperation, so that the parents may be enlisted in this campaign for increased home study by pupils for Sunday School work.

The Young People's Council of the District held its last monthly meeting last Saturday evening at the Newtonville Methodist Church. Dr. Alden H. Clark spoke on "World Friendship." Elizabeth Halliday was in charge of refreshments and Everett Johnson had charge of the game period. Officers of the Council are meeting soon to consider plans for the Young People's Conference next Fall.

The Executive Secretary of this District presided last Monday afternoon at a meeting in Boston for leaders of Daily Vacation Church Schools in Eastern Massachusetts. Miss Doris Bigglestone of Newton Centre was one of the speakers at this meeting.

ANNUAL INSTALLATION

The Newton Auxiliary of the Master Plumbers' Association held its annual installation on May 7 at the Tally-Ho Tavern. They had as their guests the men of the Association. After a very enjoyable dinner the new officers were introduced by the Past President, Mrs. Mary Ryan as follows: Mrs. Agnes Jepson, president; Mrs. Margaret Warner, vice president; Mrs. Elsie Stevens, treasurer; and Mrs. Winifred Leahy, secretary.

An amusing skit entitled "Rachel and Izzy," was given by Mrs. Sanders and Mrs. Fred Perkins assisted at the piano by Mrs. Perkins.

A silent tribute was paid to Mr. Andrew Curtin, a well known and beloved member of the Association who passed away May 5, 1932.

Highland Rebekah Lodge No. 52 presented to Mrs. Reeves a large basket of flowers with one hundred dollars in gold and to Mrs. Alger a basket of flowers and fifty dollars in gold. Mrs. Reeves received among her many other gifts on Thursday a gift of table silver from all the Past Noble Grands who served before Mrs. Reeves joined Highland Rebekah Lodge.

RECENT EVENTS

Newton Centre Woman's Club

The president, Mrs. John F. Capron, presided at the Annual Meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Friday, May 6th. The business meeting was preceded by a luncheon which was attended by about 200 guests. The tables were attractively decorated with spring flowers, and beautiful bouquets were provided for the president and for the guests of honor. Mrs. S. B. Braham, president of the Newton Federation, responded graciously to Mrs. Capron's introduction, saying that the Newton Federation was like a family of sisters, each one different, but living very happily together. Mrs. Selden E. James, Twelfth District director of the State Federation, brought greetings and good wishes, and Mrs. Frank H. Stewart spoke in glowing terms of the splendid Club year and of the inspiration there will be for those who are able to attend the General Federation Convention in June, where they will meet clubwomen from all over the world. The business meeting was called to order promptly at 2 p. m. The following ballot was unanimously elected: Mrs. John F. Capron, president; Mrs. Alden H. Spear, first vice-president; Mrs. John W. Merrill, second vice-president; Mrs. Cyrus T. Schirmer, recording secretary; Mrs. James W. Dyson, treasurer; Mrs. Fred Shaw, assistant treasurer; Mrs. George H. Richardson Jr., auditor; directors, Mrs. Walter Hurststone, Mrs. Oswald W. Labdon, Mrs. Harry E. Moore; and chairman of Nominating committee, Mrs. George H. Crosbie.

During the counting of the ballots Mrs. Kenneth Waite sang "It's May Time," much to the enjoyment of the audience. The reading of the usual reports was varied by two delightful entertainments given on the stage. The first was a musical sketch "Katinka" done in a spirited way by Mrs. Foster Cousins, Mrs. Harold Keller, and Mrs. Helen S. Welch. The second, a skit entitled "The Municipal Bench," was most cleverly rendered by the Misses Katherine and Norma Skelton, pupils of Miss Flora Barton, Mrs. Kirtley Mather also contributed a beautiful piano solo.

Newtonville Woman's Club

At a Special Meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Club held on Tuesday afternoon, May 10th, at 2:30 p. m., in the Universalist Church, on Washington park, the Club voted to purchase the property in which the meeting was held, for use as a Club House.

Mrs. Alexis A. Mahan, chairman of a special committee appointed to consider plans for financing the purchase, gave a very definite and concise report on the findings of her committee.

Architect's plans and figures for the remodeling that may be undertaken in the future, in order to carry on to the full the Club's activities, were presented by Mr. Ralph Henry.

Mr. Walter Amesbury, who had previously given financial advice, was also present and answered many questions concerning the purchasing and financing of the property.

A great amount of enthusiasm was shown at the meeting and the Club members now feel that there is a greater incentive for them to carry on the Club's activities.

(Editor's Note. May the editor of this Column be privileged to offer his congratulations to the Newtonville Woman's Club for this splendid step of progress in their Club History, and to express her best wishes for the opening of new opportunities for pleasure, sociability, and advancement in all educational Club interests that make for life's enrichment, which this most satisfying feeling of owning one's own home is sure to assist.)

State Federation

RADIO. "The Good Ship Success" which has safely borne the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs to port, the current season, captained by Mrs. Carl L. Schrader, will be the theme of the closing broadcast of the Saturday morning series over WBZ, May 14th, at 11:30 o'clock. Chosen, too, as the emblem of the land cruise Massachusetts clubwomen will take across country in early June, to elect Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, of Brockton, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, at Seattle, the old Bay State clipper ship figures conspicuously in club affairs of the moment.

Mrs. Poole will headline this final broadcast, featured in song and story. Mrs. Schrader will speak as her campaign manager. Miss Alice F. Titus, publicity director, will sound the note, "Westward Ho!" and some of the Poole campaign songs will go out over the air. Mrs. Charles L. Fuller will direct the program.

AUTHORS' BOOK SHELF. Miss Phoebe Lee Hosmer, of Orange, as she retires as chairman of Literature, is leaving tangible evidence of her three years' devotion to the task, in the authors' book shelf which she has assembled at State Federation Headquarters, 687 Boylston street, Boston. Some thirty books from the pen of Massachusetts contemporaries form a substantial nucleus for a library distinctively of the Bay State.

Newton can claim the honor of having one of their clubwomen the first author to present her autographed books to State Federation Headquarters. Emma Downing Coolidge (editor of this column) presented two of her published books, from which she reads before Clubs, "The Dreamer" (May 21, 1925), and "At The King's Pleasure" (June 9, 1926) during the presidencies of Mrs. Frederick Glazier Smith and of Mrs. Arthur Devens Potter. Mrs. Potter later presented other autographed copies of these books in the name of the State Federation to the General Federation for their Headquarters library at Washington, D. C. Both of these facts were publicly acknowledged most graciously at the next following Annual Meetings at Swampscott, by the Headquarters chairman.

Annual Playday and Birthday Party

The Annual Playday combined with a birthday party brought out a record attendance at the last luncheon of the Woman's Association of the Central Congregational Church on Wednesday, May 4. A food, plant, and flower sale before the luncheon by Mrs. George Edmonds' group reported good success.

Mrs. James D. Bennett and her committee served a delicious luncheon at one o'clock. Mrs. William B. Hanna was chairman of the serving committee. Mrs. Donald M. Hill, chairman, Mrs. C. W. Davidson, Mrs. Malcolm Bail, and Mrs. P. N. Aborn formed a special committee on decorations. The tables were appropriately decorated for the twelve months of the year, and each person sat at the table representing the month in which she was born. Little bags were brought by each, filled with pennies, one for every year, totalling over eighty dollars. The dining room presented a gala appearance, and became quite hilarious when each table during the luncheon gave some little stunt featuring their month. A large birthday cake with candles was brought in to Mrs. H. O. Williams whose actual birthday it happened to be.

After the luncheon, the Treasurer, Miss Emma A. Miller, announced the splendid results of the group activities this spring. Mrs. G. W. Ayransen, chairman of the work committee, reported the number of garments completed, and bedding and towels sent to Talladega College and Lincoln Normal.

Because of the Lewis Carroll anniversary, Mrs. Wallace C. Boyden was asked to read selections from "Alice in Wonderland." Her skillful interpretation of the Cheshire Cat scenes furnished much amusement. Mrs. Austin H. Decatur, the chairman, then called on one person at each table to read the horoscopes of the months represented. This caused considerable merriment because of happy coincidences as well as ridiculous discrepancies.

All then adjourned to the social hall, where eighteen of the Stearns School Centre children gave a play of five scenes in a most creditable manner. Before the play, Miss Helen Sandstrom, Director of the work at the School Centre, explained the nature and scope of their work. The play was a Cornish folk tale called "The Silver Thread," and was about a princess and the little gnomes who live under ground. Eleanor Bergen deserves special mention for the very expressive way in which she played the leading part.

"THE GYPSY" WELL SUPPORTED

The Committee in charge of the performance of "The Gypsy," to be given at the Woman's Club, Newton Centre, on Saturday morning, May 21, at 10:30 a. m., report the advance sale of tickets gratifyingly large. As this original operetta is played and sung with a cast entirely of children, the Committee hopes that the ticket sale here in Newton will continue to be most active.

The scenes and music of this delightful little operetta are exceedingly colorful, abounding as they do in Italian and Spanish musical themes and locale. "The Gypsy" tells the story of a young Italian girl of noble family, abducted in infancy by Spanish Gypsies from the home of her father, an Italian nobleman, and is both interesting and appealing.

All the proceeds of this entertainment for children, given by children, will be devoted to forwarding summer recreation in the form of picnics, excursions, roof parties, kindergarten, and story hours for city children who are unable to go to the country.

The entertainment will be under the direction of Miss Clara D. Gomes, Director of Dramatics at the School.

WELCOME NEWS

Next week Tuesday bids for the contract to resurface Washington street will be opened. Work is expected to be commenced within a week of the letting of the contract. Specifications call for completion of the job by August 30th, and require that the street be kept open for traffic during the work. Incidentally the entire stretch from Peabody street in Newton to the railroad bridge in West Newton will be resurfaced with a 40-foot concrete four-lane strip in the center and flanked by bituminous asphalt. We are glad to note that now that the project is about to get under way that every effort will be made to hasten the work.

TIME TO CONSIDER

While much has been said about the fact that we have too many laws, it requires little imagination to sense the fact that our laws regarding kidnapping should be made as rigid and exemplary as possible. The sympathy of the nation goes out to the Lindberghs, victims of one of the most dastardly crimes in history. Are we to forget the seriousness of the tragedy in the rush of daily activity, or shall we let it be an object lesson and discourage further depredations on society by meting out a penalty in keeping with the crime?

ALDERMEN VOTE AGAINST CHANGING PARKWAY ROUTE

In this petition, living on Hammond street, are at least a half mile, and many of them a mile distant from Route No. 1. There are trees about the few houses that are in the vicinity, and also trees about Hammond Pond, which would remain there and screen the road from view.

"A great pond should be available for the people of the district, and accessible to all. The will of a few selfish individuals over one-third of a mile away should not prevail over the wishes of the people of the district. This Hammond's Pond Park will be a great blessing in the future, when the district is built up with residences. Let the plans go ahead as planned, then make a proper study of the extension of the Parkway.

"No action should be taken at this time on spending a supposed surplus, as the construction might be greater than appears at the present time. Let them finish the road this year to Beacon street, and we shall have the surplus, June 1932 to June 1933, which, if any, should be spent. No action should be taken until proper maps and study has been made as to the land damages of adjoining property, and the possible collection of betterments on the adjoining property of any extension that is to be made. Should this extension be made into a business district, a betterment should be paid by the adjoining property-owners.

"Before action is taken, proper study should be made of the traffic conditions, where the increased traffic will have to be controlled by lights. Also, study should be made of the damage to property in the extension of the route, which would be necessitated by the increased traffic.

"I ask you, gentlemen, that no action be taken until a public hearing has been held upon this proposed change, as it is unfair to the citizens of Newton Centre, and any action taken at this time would probably jeopardize the whole appropriation." Alderman Smith said "Do the signers of the petition think that we (the Aldermen) or the State should spend $94,000 to satisfy the whim of a few persons? To do such a thing in this day and under existing conditions would cause us to be severely criticised." Alderman Grebenstein offered the suggestion that the Chestnut Hill petitioners might be fearful that the ledge in Hammond's Woods might act as a sounding board and hurl the noise of traffic across the intervening terrain to disturb the Hammond streeters. He was informed that the trees in the woods would prevent such abnormal atmospheric conditions. Alderman Chase inquired if Mr. Webster's name is included among those who petition for the change of route. Mr. Bartlett answered that Mr. Webster does not en-

Under The Gilded Dome

Senator Hollis was prominent in the successful fight made to kill the so-called 1-2 percent beer bill. "This is a silly bill," he declared, "and I am opposed to it. It won't bring back beer in Massachusetts and the proponents of the measure know it won't." The Senate refused to pass the bill to be engrossed by rollcall, 16 to 14. The House had passed it last March and it had been on the table in the upper branch ever since.

Double sessions of both branches on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays would seem to indicate the nearness of prorogation. Furthermore, the joint rule has been suspended under which matters are held 24 hours in either branch. They may now go immediately to the clerk's office of the other branch. These things are always done when the day of final adjournment seems in prospect. What it means at present cannot be safely determined for there are many things likely to happen to keep the General Court here until next month. At this writing prorogation may be reached next week, according to general opinion.

The City of Newton was represented by City Solicitor Bartlett at the hearing Monday before the Committee on Municipal Finance on Gov. Ely's recommendations, contained in a special message last week, for legislation, which, in effect, would permit the State to lend its credit to cities and towns confronted with financial difficulties. Mr. Bartlett said that Mayor Weeks was in sympathy with the Governor's idea and urged that the committee should see fit to report any measure, make certain that every precaution was taken to have any special commission that might be created to function in a capable manner. The commission to which he referred was that suggested by the Governor which the latter would have created to scrutinize the finances of such cities as applied for State credit.

Representative Baker made it plain to the House Tuesday that the bill for the additional 1/2 poll tax for 1933 is needed to provide the towns and cities with funds to administer the old age assistance law. The bill not only extends the additional poll tax another year but provides reimbursement to municipalities for money already expended for old age assistance.

When the Senate was debating a bill to award damages amounting to $392 to six different persons who claimed their automobiles were damaged on the State highways by wild deer, reference was made to Representative Baker. It appears that the House Ways and Means Committee favored the bill and the House passed it. The report of the committee was signed by Representative Baker. Senator Fish, who spoke for the bill in the upper branch, reminded his colleagues that Representative Baker had approved the measure. "If he let it come out it must be all right," said Senator Fish.

Legislation to provide for the establishment of a State board of milk control appears to be making progress. It aroused a large amount of interest at first, but debates on the bill have not been extended. State Health Commissioner Bigelow has issued several statements to show how free, comparatively speaking, the State has been from diphtheria, typhoid and rabies.

Another state official has created discussion by an official announcement. Secretary of State Fisher found that there were 70,355 births during 1931 and that the rate for that year, 16.5, is a decrease of eight-tenths in comparison with 1930 and is the lowest rate ever recorded in the Commonwealth. He further says that the infant mortality rate is 54.0, a decrease of 6.3 in comparison with the 1930 rate and is the lowest infant mortality rate ever recorded, the rate dropping each year since 1926.

Legislation to provide for an investigation of the question of capital punishment has been rejected by the House. There were two measures but only one was debated. This one was not ordered to a third reading, which is equivalent to killing it. The other was referred to the next session.

At the request of the petitioners, William R. Thomas and Patrick J. Welsh, the Committee on Transportation has reported "reference to the next annual session" on these three bills: that right to vote stock to domestic railroad corporations be limited; relative to the limitation of certain lines of railroad companies operating in New England states and relative to disclosure of true ownership of stock in domestic railroad corporations.

Both branches have accepted the report of the Joint Ways and Means Committee of "reference to the next annual session" on the report of the special commission established for the purpose of investigating as to the advisability of participation by the State of Massachusetts in the World's Fair to be held in Chicago next year.

The pre-primary convention bill was passed by the Senate but was next day killed by the House. It was introduced on an initiative petition and the petitioners will have to obtain 5000 additional signatures in order to have it placed on the ballot at the next State election to give the voters an opportunity to say whether they want it or not. The bill would call for a convention of both political parties in April at which candidates for the State ticket would be selected. These would have the endorsement of their parties at the primaries in September. Other candidates for nomination would have the right to enter the contest but without the advantage of party endorsement. The matter was debated at length in both branches. The Senate voted to enact the measure, 21 to 17, and the House voted not to enact, 138 to 62. Senator Hollis and Representative Lowie were in favor. Rep. Baker was not recorded.

The bill to clarify the existing law and prevent persons receiving temporary aid in municipalities from being classed as paupers has been signed by the Governor.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. Bentley

As yet no one has come forward to explain what Chicago has done that it should have to welcome two political conventions, one on top of the other.

Stamp Speculators

Only the other day I saw 50 cents paid for a five-cent postage stamp. The transaction bewildered me but that was due to my dense ignorance. My spare hours should have been applied to the study of the stamps of those who have much to learn. The five-cent stamp was that of the "Minute Man" issue, just a few years back, but one man wanted it enough to pay 50 cents for it and the other man was willing to sell.

The transaction took place in the office of the man who owned the stamp in the first place. It was a friendly matter all around. I was there as his guest and the man to whom he sold the stamp had dropped in to see if the other would help him out. After the purchaser had left I started to tell my friend how big-hearted he was and he laughed and added, "I've 500 of these but I'm not going to sell them until the price goes up. It will be $1 apiece before you know it." He explained that selling one at a profit of 45 cents with "the price likely to soar was not really good business but an accommodation for a close friend."

"You fellows rake off quite a little on these special issues," I observed. "Say," he replied, "did you know that $1,000,000 worth of every special issue of postage stamps goes to collectors. That means these stamps are not used. The Government is not compelled to give any service for them and consequently makes a profit of practically $1,000,000 minus the cost of printing. Think what we speculators do for our country."

Then he exhibited some Arbor Day stamps, a special issue of two-centers that appeared last month. He was certain that their value had already shot up and said something about selling some for 10 cents apiece. His strong box contains a number of them and the idea of a premium did not interest him—it was too early, or at least the stamps were too young.

It was revelation to me to know that an additional premium is paid for stamps with the plate number. If you will recall having seen a sheet of 100 stamps or so you will also remember that there was a number on the white border—the little strip outside the perforations which unbusiness-like people throw away. That's the "number plate." When I realized how many thousands of dollars I had allowed to slip through my hands during my lifetime I couldn't speak for a time. And when I did all I could say was, "Well, here's one business that is just as good as it ever was, depression or no depression."

Does This Worry You?

It must be puzzling—the life of a dandelion blossom. The uncertainty as to the form of reception to be extended cannot help but fill its heart with fear and wonder, if it has a heart. On the one hand, many children will gather in groups and pick dandelion blossoms to carry in their chubby hands as the harbinger of Spring. At the same time a lawn-keeper or gardener will become wrathful when dandelions appear and seek to completely annihilate them.

What is a poor dandelion blossom to do? If it raises its head and sees the sun, it knows there is a possibility of delight and down on their knees fall the boys and girls to accumulate sufficient number for a respectable bouquet or possibly a garland or wreath. "How lovely," exclaims Teacher, hoping to encourage her pupils' interest in Nature studies. The dandelions are placed in a tumbler on Teacher's desk.

But if an irate man, who has spent money to keep his lawn in a state of constant beautification—if such a man sees the poor dandelion blossom first, woe unto this dainty yellow flower. It is uprooted and tossed in a pile of rubbish to be carried off and thrown away.

In these days when there are so many, many things to worry about one hasn't much opportunity to sympathize with the poor dandelions. Those that are served as greens at the family dinner table have not reached the flowering stage and therefore should not concern us at all. The blossoms, if they are still another feature which I had forgotten but it has to do with a forbidden beverage. And yet to become such a contribution to the joys or sorrows of mankind the blossom must be crushed and stewed and goodness knows what. Probably if you were to interview a dandelion blossom you would hear it say, "What a life is mine; I can't please everybody."

What All Should Know

It is indeed heartening to learn of the recent formation of the United States Society, formed by public spirited citizens, to spread knowledge of government. Its purpose is supplement the present methods of teaching government among the youth of America.

The by-laws provide that the "Society shall be non-partisan and shall have no connection or affiliation with any organization or institution which exists for political purposes or which is interested in the adoption or repeal of any legislation or in any action pending before any governmental body."

David Lawrence, one of the most brilliant students of National affairs, is chairman. He says, "I have accepted the responsibilities of chairman of the United States Society in the belief that through a Nation-wide organization devoted only to the diffusion of knowledge of government and the facts of public service, we can make a real beginning on what many of us regard as the greatest and most pressing problem facing the democracies of the world and especially our own representative system that has through nearly 150 years been developed with a flexibility need for intelligent self-government."

About Town

By Edw. H. Powers

There is a new hill in Newton. An advertisement in the Boston Herald on Wednesday read—"Sparrow Hill section, near John Ward School, modern houses etc." This advertising described a house for sale. We have known of Waban Hill near the John Ward School, and also of Nonantum Hill, some distance away, sometimes known as Farlow Hill. But Sparrow Hill is a new one on us.

Wednesday about 1 p. m., Patrolman Keating called our attention to a peculiar phenomenon. The day was cold and damp; the sky overcast. The sun was obscured partially, but around it, and at a considerable distance was a faint ring with rainbow hues. Outside the ring the segment of another ring, similarly colored. According to Harvard astronomers the phenomenon was caused by icy crystals in the upper atmosphere and the scientific name for this display is a "23 degree halo."

The friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Fred D. Pollard, Jr. of Newton Centre were horrified to learn of their tragic deaths. Those who witnessed this terrible tragedy, who strove vainly to rescue the three victims from their grisly deaths, will retain gruesome memories of the sight of three persons being burned to a crisp. The police record of the driver of the car which collided with that of the Pollards is one that reflects little credit on the laxity in enforcement of our laws, including automobile laws. A youth whose driving license was revoked four times in four years for serious violations of automobile laws, and yet was again given a license to operate cars on public highways.

We have been asked to comment on the continued presence on the parking space on Washington street, Newton, opposite Thornton street, of a shed owned by the Telephone Company and used for the storage of tools and equipment. This shed has been located on the parking area for many months and occupies a space which would park two automobiles. The persons who asked us to mention this matter suggests that the company should rent some building, or space for this shed, instead of being permitted to keep it indefinitely on a public street in needed parking spaces.

The controversy over the change of route in the parkway through Hammond's Woods at Chestnut Hill brings to mind a fact that seems to indicate that in the past this area was little frequented by the public. A few years ago a couple of boys strolling through these woods came upon the skeleton of some poor unfortunate who had gone into these woods, climbed a tree, tied one end of a rope around a limb and the other end around his neck, and then swung into space—and eternity. This suicide had occurred several years before the two boys happened upon the skeleton. In the meantime, the weight of the dangling body had broken down the tree and all that remained of the human derelict and his attire were his bones and a few scraps of what once had been clothing. No person had travelled through that part of Hammond's Woods for several years until the boys wandered by and made their gruesome discovery.

Miss Mary Taaffe of Thornton place, Newton, for 30 years a valued member of the GRAPHIC staff, will depart from Boston on the S.S. Scythia next Sunday for an extended visit to Ireland. Her associates on the GRAPHIC wish her bon voyage and a very pleasant sojourn.

The sympathy of every decent person in the United States goes to Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh in the tragic ending of the mental torture they have undergone for the past 10 weeks. And yet there are many unsympathetic persons in this country who are blithering to have the death penalty abolished in those States where murder is still punishable by having the murderer executed. What this country needs is less sympathy for heartless criminals and more drastic enforcement of our laws.

Life is queer. Col. Lindbergh received more glorification than perhaps any other young man in modern history. His wife shared in the unsought adulation heaped upon her famous husband by the press and public. To the annoyance of those who even selected their home site in an isolated section of the country. And then instead of happiness and peace the terrible ordeal of suffering was thrust upon them. The Lindberghs certainly have experienced the extremes of life, even though young in years.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 15.

The Golden Text is: "The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God" (Romans 8:16).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Lie not one to another, seeing that ye have put off the old man with his deeds; and have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him" (Colossians 3:9, 10).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The real man is spiritual and immortal, but the mortal and imperfect so-called 'children of men' are counterfeits from the beginning, to be laid aside for the pure reality. This mortal is put off, and the new man or real man is put on, in proportion as mortals realize the Science of man and seek the true model" (p. 409).

WATER PAGEANT

CRYSTAL LAKE—JUNE 3 and 4

All Sections of City Combine Efforts To Make Newton's First Community Float Night a Gala Event

The evenings of June 3rd and 4th next will see the Newton Highlands shores of Crystal Lake transformed into a veritable fairy-land with festoons of Japanese lanterns and other electric display. This will form the setting from which the observer will view a striking parade of water floats, each portraying, by appropriately costumed groups, a scene from a famous opera. As each of the floats approaches the center of the water stage flood lights will bring the beauty of the posing and the costumes into brilliant relief against the somber background of the summer evening. Excerpts from each opera will form a satisfying musical completion of the pantomime.

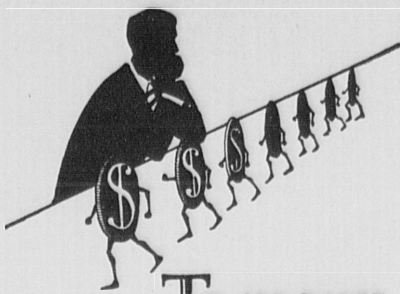

The program will be varied by the singing of the popular Highland Glee Club and there will be solo and interpretive dancing, all under the charm of night illumination.

Newton's First Float Night has already received a wide and enthusiastic endorsement. Superintendent Wheeler of our public schools highly commends the idea and is asking his principals to make appropriate announcements that no pupil of our schools may miss seeing what pains-taking care of a large group of citizens has devised for their edification and delight.

An imposing list of two hundred patrons and patronesses, drawn from all the villages of our city, places the stamp of community approval upon an enterprise which they feel sure will be the source of great delight and satisfaction; delight in the contemplation of beauty of color and form and sound; satisfaction in the proof that the entire community as a unit can successfully collaborate in the production of a work of art by simple means, modest expenditure and talent drawn exclusively from among citizens of Newton.

The Pageant is being presented under the auspices of the Civic Arts Association of which Mr. Edward E. Whiting is President and Hon. Charles E. Hatfield is Treasurer.

Mrs. Homer P. Ingell, and of Credentials by Mrs. Morse.

Climax follows upon climax! Mrs. Poole will give her address "Castles in Spain," and her reception is sure to be one of enthusiasm that will rouse the echoes of Convention Hall and, more, echo down the ages in a welcome and tribute, as well as president of the coming year, the president of the General Federation, that will make history for the Massachusetts Convention.

Mrs. Conwell will give her final report on Resolutions, which will be acted upon.

Mrs. Schrader will then give her President's Address. Parting of the ways; old friends; achievements—the heart will be stirred. This woman whose lovely white hair has made her a figure of beauty; with dignity, and strength, will give the friendly gesture of farewell. Smiles through tears will greet the report of the Elections committee which follows, given by Mrs. Joseph H. Gough—and the presentation of new officers. Here clubwomen will greet their old friend, Mrs. Bennett, stepping into the place of new friend as president—a ceremony of speeches, flowers, applause, tribute, that only those who have attended a State Federation Annual Meeting in election year, can picture and appreciate, in advance.

The reading of the minutes of the meeting, assembly singing, adjournment, and it is Saturday, high noon, May 21st, 1932.

A few of the High Lights of the Convention in entertaining features are herewith given; many of these being apart from the strictly business sessions as chronicled above. They are sure to be the most enjoyable.

Lovers of gardens will have a rare treat on Thursday, the 19th, Mrs. Robert B. Parmenter, State chairman of Conservation, has planned a visit to gardens in Swampscott and Nahant, leaving the hotel at 9 o'clock, under the leadership of Mrs. Gertrude Phillips, a lecturer and designer of gardens, returning at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Phillips will discuss each garden, the tour becoming in this manner educational as well as entertaining. There will be a small fee, not over 50 cents, and bus fare for those not driving their own cars. Each one will take a box lunch.

On return to the hotel they will find in the Ball Room a Conservation and Community Service Forum, opening with a Musicales.

Another interesting plan of this committee is the Flower Show which will be held in the Ball Room from Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, to Thursday afternoon, 5 o'clock.

At this time there will be a talk on State Forest, and Roadside Beautification, with pictures and music, in the Ball Room, from 4:45 until 5:30 p. m., Thursday.

Clubwomen interested in the problem of moving pictures will be glad to hear what Mrs. Ambrose Diehl, of New York, chairman of Motion Pictures for the General Federation, whose name appears on Motion Picture Review, has to say on the subject. She is close to the headquarters of the motion pictures, Will Hays, and must hear much that is whispered or voiced. She will speak on the opening afternoon, Wednesday, the 18th, according to schedule.

Thursday, the 19th, will be a busy and pleasurable one in Section Meetings, the different departments presenting their wares in displays. Mrs. Roy C. Baker, chairman of the Division of Art, is appealing to Clubwomen to send her their work for the Arts and Crafts Exhibit, each Club to send one article, approved by their Art committee, or Executive Board, these to be sent to the New Ocean House, care of Mrs. Baker, by the 17th and a letter should be sent to her, 245 Chestnut street, Clinton, notifying her of such sending.

Mrs. Baker will present at her meeting in Convention Hall, (11.10 to 11.55 a. m.) the well known sculptor of the "Gloucester Fisherman," Leonard Craske, who will speak on the history and appreciation of art in general, and of sculpture in particular, under the appealing title "Don't Listen to the Lecturer." This will be the exciting time, also, when the Penny Art prizes will be awarded.

Mrs. Baker offers further another good thing—a motor trip to Salem for Thursday at 8:30 a. m. in charge of Mrs. John G. Shaw, 72 Lathrop street, Beverly, to visit the House of Seven Gables, Essex Institute, and the Ropes Memorial. Those who wish to go are asked to register at the Art table, stating whether they wish to go by bus, will drive a car, or furnish transportation.

Mrs. Norman H. Hastings, chairman of the American Hotel, in her section meeting, 9:30 to 11 a. m., Thursday, in the Colonial Room (lower deck), also will present a play in costume, "Mother Earth and Her Children."

Miss Helena B. Shipman, chairman on International Relations, in her section meeting, 9:30 to 11 a. m., Thursday, in the Colonial Room (lower deck), also will present a play in costume, "Mother Earth and Her Children."

Friday evening is the gala evening of the entire convention. In the evening in the Ball Room, preceded by Processional of Presidents, and an address by His Excellency, Joseph B. Ely, Governor of Massachusetts, in Convention Hall.

And then, all the time, for every moment as one strolls, and talks with friend, there will be the EXHIBITS. On every hand in the hotel will they be seen. Colorful among them will be the display of afghans fashioned by loving club fingers for war veterans in hospital. Friendly rivalry has been stirred among the clubs in the knitting of afghans for the boys, and Mrs. Walter H. Woods, of Brookline, State chairman of this Department, predicts a notable display. ### WILL OPEN GARDENS FOR CHARITY

There will be an opportunity to visit four of the most attractive places in Chestnut Hill on Tuesday afternoon of next week when they will be open for the benefit of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. They are Mrs. Edwin S. Webster of 307 Hammond street, Mrs. George S. Mumford of 24 Essex road, Mrs. Richard M. Saltonstall of 256 Chestnut Hill road and Mrs. George Shepley of 76 Crafts road. These estates are especially attractive at this season and it is expected that there will be many visitors to see their rock gardens, swimming pools and choice flowers.

This garden opening is one of a series to be held on the most attractive estates of Greater Boston. Other fetes are on the estates of Mrs. James J. Storrow of Lincoln June 3; Mrs. Charles G. Weld, Mrs. Gaspar Bacon on May 20; and several gardens in Wellesley on June 14.

A special committee consisting of Mrs. Edwin S. Webster, Mrs. George Mumford, Mrs. Bernard Wells and Mrs. Charles K. Cummings has been formed to serve in an advisory capacity to Mrs. F. DeHart's active committee. Members of the latter are Mrs. Mumford, Mrs. Gaspar G. Bacon, Mrs. George S. West, Miss Mary Hunnewell, Mrs. Russell Robb, Mrs. Albert R. Garret, Mrs. Elliott Wulfin, Miss Linda Collins, Miss Polly Richardson, Miss Barbara Bassett, and Mrs. Robert Cushing Terry. Miss Collins of Newton Centre heads a score or more Junior League girls who have volunteered to conduct visitors about the various grounds.

SUCCESSFUL WHIST PARTY

A successful whist party was held at the home of Mrs. Peter Doherty, 11 Crescent terrace, on Friday, May 6, 1932 for the benefit of the sick fund of Division No. 22, L. A. A. O. H. of Newton and a substantial amount was realized. The next meeting of the division will be held at the home of Mrs. Thos. M. Waters, 54 Court St., Newton, on Thursday, May 19th.

work of disabled war veterans will also be shown.

Exhibits, indeed, according to Mrs. Arthur J. Crockett, of West Roxbury, chairman of this display, will offer a liberal education in themselves, apart from the carefully planned program. A new feature will be the showing of work by the handicapped, directed by Mrs. Hazel Hammond Albertson, of West Newbury, chairman. Juniors, in racial costumes, will assist Mrs. William J. MacAulay, of Revere, chairman, at the booth devoted to Interracial Unity.

An innovation in exhibits will be the grouping of Mothercraft, American Home, and Child Welfare activities, sponsored by their respective chairmen, Mrs. May Dickinson Kimball, of Boston; Mrs. Norman H. Hastings, of West Roxbury; and Mrs. William S. Piper, of Holden. Other exhibits will include prison work, displayed by Mrs. Stephen E. Wright, of Auburn, chairman of Social Welfare, and safety methods directed by Mrs. Robert J. Culbert, of Boston, chairman.

Business and pleasure, education and play, the serious and the gay, the beautiful, the sad, old friendships and new—the Annual Meeting has many offerings.

A fitting celebration of this the fortieth annual meeting, and commemorating it in record and achievement that is noteworthy, will be the publication of the History of the Federation, entitled "Progress and Achievement," upon which compilation Mrs. Frederick Glazier Smith, Mrs. Joseph S. Leach and Mrs. Walter A. Hall have been so busily and painstakingly occupied for about two years. Tracing these records through the years, picking out the salient features, searching for definite and accurate presentation of facts, means a task that only those who have engaged in such research can appreciate, but all can appreciate in reading the account the inestimable value of having the record, on a basis for all time upon which to add and which can not be lost. It is only one more proof of the power of earnest building, to an end which the first building little dreams, for here we find recalled how one of Massachusetts' courageous women, Julia Ward Howe, whom nothing daunted, was the first president of the Federation, originally known as the Union of Women's Clubs.

Girl Scouts

Girl Scout leaders from Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island met at the Providence Biltmore Hotel in Providence May 9-12 for their eighth annual regional conference. Problems common to all parts of the New England Region, comprising these states, were discussed at the conference which is held yearly for the purpose of exchanging ideas on policies and programs and laying plans for the coming twelve months. The rate at which the Girl Scouts are increasing in numbers and extending their activities, made this one of the most important conferences ever held in the New England Region.

Members of the national Girl Scout organization who attended the conference included Mrs. Adolphus Stator of Washington, D. C., Great Brown Owl or chairman of the Brownie division; Miss Ruth Stevens, national field representative in the New England Region; Miss Edith Sinnett, member of the camp advisory staff; Miss Marjorie Puddington, member of the national training staff, and Harry L. Gilchrie, director of the public relations division. Mr. Gilchrie was the principal speaker at the morning session on Tuesday, May 10. Following committee reports and appointments he talked on "Proper Publicity and Its Importance."

Mrs. Joseph Merritt, of Hartford, Conn., is chairman of the New England Region's Committee. Mrs. F. M. Johnson of Swampscott, Mass., is vice-chairman, and Mrs. W. Clark Crossman, of Westport, Conn., is secretary. Members of the committee include: Mrs. Fred H. Eaton, Andover, Mass.; Mrs. H. L. Locke, Hartford, Conn.; Mrs. F. M. Johnson, Swampscott, Mass.; Mrs. Arnold Hoffman, Barrington, Rhode Island; Mrs. John Cavanagh, Norwalk, Conn.; Miss Gertrude Copeland, Cape Elizabeth, Maine; Mrs. George H. Adams, Plymouth, N. H.; Mrs. Lawrence Bullard, Windsor, Vermont, and Mrs. Louis Elkins, Concord, N. H.

Newton sent quite a delegation to this conference: Mrs. Walton S. Redfield, Commissioner for the City; Mrs. Henry Skelton, Chairman of the Camp Committee; Mrs. Sally Stickney, Field Captain; Mrs. Leslie Warren, Captain of the senior troop in Waban; Miss Adelaide Barber, Captain of Auburndale troop; and Miss Olive Webster, Captain of Bugle and Drum Corps.

THE VILLAGE PLAYERS

The Village Players will hold the last workshop meeting of the season at the Unitarian Parish Playhouse in Newton Centre on Friday evening, May 20th. They will present three one-act plays, after which there will be dancing with music by Craig Huntington's orchestra.

In the short season from last October to this first meeting, the Players have to their credit three important productions and fourteen one-act plays, a program which has given opportunity for creative work to the 120 members.

The first of the three plays to be produced Friday evening, entitled, "The Old Trouper," by Charles S. Brooks, features an episode in the declining years of a Shakespearean actor of the old school who has no love for the modern stage. For the title role, Carl Scranton of Newton is guest actor. He has appeared on the professional stage in many Shakespearean productions and his talent and interest greatly strengthen and inspire the cast. Supporting Mr. Scranton are Mrs. James Hunter Orr, Mr. Wesley M. Dynes and Mr. Edwin S. Drown. Mrs. William H. Bennett will coach the play and Mrs. William C. Noetzel will be in charge of the stage.

"For Distinguished Service" is the title of the second offering which includes in its cast Mrs. Robert B. Chapin, Miss Katharine Dwyer and Miss Alcham. Mrs. Lawrence C. Farwell will coach and Mrs. Worthing L. West will direct the stage settings.

"A Wedding," by James Kirkpatrick, is the title of the third play, which will be coached by Mrs. Hope Thaxter Spencer and staged by Mrs. Edward A. Andrews. The cast includes Miss Celeste Callaghan, Miss Priscilla Ordway, Mrs. F. W. Swindells, Mr. Samuel C. Tutthill, Jr., Mr. Dan Tracy, Mr. Samuel A. Fuller, Jr., and Mr. Edward N. Griffin. The production staff also includes Miss Harriet C. Kingman, Mrs. Hazel Sands Welch, Mrs. Chester C. Rausch, Mr. Ralph L. Wheeler and Mr. C. Rodrick Clifford. Mrs. Austin C. Benton, Mrs. Mabel M. Webster, Mr. Charles L. Pierce and Mr. L. Sumner Pruyne are in charge of the dancing which follows the three days. Refreshments will be served under the direction of Mrs. Irving L. Seiler.

WILL TRY OUT LOCAL TALENT AT THE PARAMOUNT

Manager J. N. Snyder of the Paramount announces that during Anniversary Week, starting May 30, there will be an opportunity for the young people in the Newton villages who have ambitions for a stage career to try themselves out before the public. "The Newton Edition," the entertainment is called, will be under the direction of John J. Dunleavy, Jr., of Newton, who will have charge of the entire entertainment and training of the performers. Invitations are now open to those who would like to take part and Mr. Dunleavy will be glad to meet those interested any afternoon at the theatre during the next few days.

DANCE RECITAL

Miss Rosetta Littlefield and pupils of the Rosetta Dancing School will give their recital Friday evening, May 20th, at the Newton Centre Woman's Club, Newton Centre.

Business Men Discuss Closing In July and Aug.

The Newton Business Associates held their May meeting at the Hunnewell Club last Wednesday evening. President Andrew Ford presided and introduced several matters of importance to the local merchants. A brief report showing some progress on the matter of the proposed parking site was presented by Albert T. Stuart, who recently conferred with Mr. Taylor of the R. C. Taylor estate regarding the matter.

The resurfacing of Washington street was discussed in regards to the length of time which the work would require and the extent to which it would inconvenience motorists. It was stated that the contract carried a time limit of August 30th and that specifications required that the street be kept open for traffic during the work.

The question of summer closing on Wednesday afternoons and holidays was discussed at length. It was the opinion of the majority of the retail merchants that all the stores should co-operate in closing Wednesday at noon during July and August. Harold Moore suggested that the stores carry announcement cards to that effect.

Regarding the closing on holidays such as June 17th and Nov. 11th after considerable discussion it was voted to refer the matter to the executive committee.

The subject of the annual outing was brought up and it was voted to authorize the president to appoint the same committee as handled the affair last year to serve this year. This committee will select the date and place of the outing as well as take charge of all details in connection with the same.

Reports of the various officers and ficers for the coming year were elected. Officers re-elected were Harold Moore, president; Edward O. Loring, vice-president; Mason H. Stone, secretary; and Harry L. Dexter, treasurer.

The meeting marked the completion of 20 years of service of Mason H.
Stone as secretary. Following his release as president, he held the office referred briefly to Mr. Stone's loyalty to the club and to the fact that he had never missed a meeting of the club or the directors during his tenure of office. He moved that Mr. Stone be made an honorary member of the club with the proviso that such membership would also permit him to continue as an officer of the club. The vote was unanimous. Mr. Warren Gregory expressed the appreciation of the members of the club to the loyalty and interest taken in the club affairs by Treasurer Harry L. Dexter

NEWTON CITIZENS CLUB MEETS

The Newton Citizens Club held a regular meeting on Wednesday night in Columbus Building, Nonantum.
President John Finelli presided. Committees were appointed to confer with Mr. Hanson of the Middlesex & Boston regarding a 5 cent fare from Nonantum to Watertown; and with Chief of Police Hughes to protest against the many arrests made recently of Nonantum residents for loitering. Members of the club asserted that among those so arrested have been men of notable years who had no previous police record, and that these men were arrested without having been previously warned a move.
The club went on record as opposing

W. C. T. U.

The annual meeting of the Newton Women's Christian Temperance Union was held May 5th, 1932 at the home of Mrs. Blanche G. Norris.

That it is a working union was evidenced by the interesting reports telling of progress in its various activities.

The recent death of Mrs. Sarah E.
R. Mick, Honorary President, cast sadness over the gathering and all stood with bowed heads while the following resolutions were read and adopted:

WHEREAS, it has pleased our Heavenly Father in His Infinite Wisdom to release from the cares of this earthly life our dear friend and fellow worker in a noble cause, Sarah
Esther King Mick of the Newton
Women's Christian Temperance Union;

WHEREAS, The long period of a faithful and devoted service as President of the Newton Women's Christian Temperance Union which lasted beyond a decade and her loving interest which continued through life are held in grateful memory;

WHEREAS, By vote of the Newton
Women's Christian Temperance Union Mrs. Sarah Esther King Mick was elected to fill the office of Honorary President, a loving tribute for the loyal service of many years which has endeared her to all.

WHEREAS, In the War Service
President Mick aided in establishing a Home for Soldiers at Ayer and sustained her interest in it throughout the World War.

WHEREAS, Because of her ability, sincerity and her noble character we realized that our Union has sustained a loss indeed, and the community in which she lived and served shares this sorrow, and that her husband and children were blessed in dwelling under the inspiration of her beautiful life for so many years.

THEREFORE—BE IT RESOLVED,
That the members of the Newton
Women's Christian Temperance Union extend to her family their loving sympathy in their bereavement and wish to share with them the blessed memories of her consecrated life, believing that of her it may truly be said —"Blessed are they that die in the Lord for their works do follow them."

RESOLVED, That these resolutions be sent to her family, and a copy be placed upon the records of the Newton Union.

MARY CAROLINE BLAKEMORE,
MARION HAPGOOD CLARKE,
Resolutions Committee, Chairmen.

Mrs. Norris, in behalf of the Union, made a few appropriate remarks and presented Mrs. Katherine L. S. Goddard with a beautiful bouquet of roses as a token of love and appreciation for her faithful and devoted service as President for seven years.

A very pleasant social hour followed.

NEWTON ELKS HOLD MOTHER'S DAY EXERCISES

The Newton Lodge of Elks observed Mother's Day with very impressive ceremonies. The speaker of the evening was Francis J. Roche of Cambridge Lodge of Elks. Mr. Roche delivered a beautiful and fitting tribute to "Mother."

The Elks quartet composed of George Brophy, Louis Tabaldi, Joseph Antonelli, and Thomas Coppinger, sang appropriate numbers for the occasion.

All Elks wore carnations in observance of the occasion. Plans were made for the next meeting May 26th, which is to be "Dr. Lowe" night, in honor of Doctor Lowe who recently retired as exalted ruler of Newton Lodge. Plans were also made for the Gala Smoke Talk to be held this Saturday night, which promises to be a gay night for all Elks.

Eight very good boxing bouts were put on by boxers from the West End House, managed by Samuel Stern.

The 11 o'clock toast was given by Exalted Ruler McEwan of Brookline Lodge of Elks.

Refreshments were served after the meeting which was one of the biggest this year.

NEWTON K. OF C. OBJECTS TO
HOLIDAY

A committee comprised of members of the Newton Council met on Monday night to take action on the proposed change in the rules of the Newton School Department whereby the schools will be kept open on Columbus Day. This change is advocated by Elliott B. Church, member of the School Committee from Ward 1. He gave notice at the last meeting of the committee that he would introduce a motion at the next meeting to make this change. At the meeting of the K. of C. committee on Monday night it was decided to appoint a subcommittee to confer with Mr. Church and talk over the matter with him.

Jerome Mahoney of 44 Cook street,
Nonantum was arrested Sunday night
by Serg. Moran, Patrolmen Goodale and Marden; he was charged with driving while under the influence of liquor. He appeared in the Newton court on Monday and his case was continued until May 13. The attention of the police was attracted to Mahoney when he drove the car along Crafts street without lights. They chased the car to Cook and Green streets where it was driven against a tree.

Edward C. Bessey of 51 Waban avenue, Waban was fined $10 in the Newton court on Monday for speeding. Traffic Officer Hamill testified that Bessey had been driving along Beacon street at 45 miles an hour. Bes-sey's attorney asked for leniency claiming his client has only a slight record. Probation Officer Enegess stated that the youth had been in court several times for traffic violations, including speeding.

Joseph McMullen, 29, of 60 Cook street, Newton Highlands was fined $20 in the Newton court on Wednesday for driving through a funeral line. He cut through cars in a funeral procession on Walnut street.
Judge Bacon warned McMullen, who has been in court on several occasions for traffic violations, that if he offends again, the judge will recommend that his license be revoked.

Need For Free Tuition at Music School Increasing

Community Chest Reports on Study of All Newton School

A brief summary of the work of the All Newton Music School during the 1932-1933 season, recently made public by the Newton Community Chest, of which the school is a charter member, reveals the fact that the school has considerably enlarged the scope of its work during the past year without changing its primary purpose of affording sound musical education to children of the financially underprivileged.

Two circumstances which become increasingly important are, first, the need for lower rates to poor children, as incomes and wages have decreased, and secondly, the increasing number of people heretofore able to pay the rates of private teachers, who now choose between asking the privileges of the school or else discontinuing their children's musical education. To meet these circumstances, the school has been giving full scholarships to 15 pupils and part-scholarships to 27 others, and it has also admitted a considerable number of applicants whose parents might previously have been able to afford private teachers but who can afford no more than the lower rates charged by the school.

It is pointed out that the All Newton Music School is an organization definitely promoting social welfare, by reason of the fact that it develops in young people the ability to make good and creative use of their leisure time. Not only does it do this—it also benefits the morale of whole families by helping them through a time when lessons would have to stop. Many young men, former pupils now out of work, are finding recreation and employment during their enforced leisure by forming small orchestral groups of their own.

By the end of the year the school will have given more than 5,500 individual lessons. This is in addition to all group work, on which great emphasis is also placed. Enrollment for the current season has been 196.

Float Nights at Crystal Lake June 8 and 9

The weird charm of the Indian dance and numerous other novel features in pantomime will enhance the interest in this year's Water Pageant at Crystal Lake, Newton Highlands, on the evenings of June 8th and 9th.

The nine floats, some large, some smaller are being carefully designed and this year, for the first time, grace of action will be added to beauty of scene, costume and musical accompaniment.

There will also be striking novelty in the floating formations and grouping; and unusual lighting effects designed to take full advantage of reflections in the placid water surface.

The Highland Glee Club and the Newton Symphony Orchestra, both under the direction of Mr. D. Ralph MacLean, will each have prominent places in the musical program.

Nine costumed scenes from universal favorites among the light operas will be presented in pantomime with musical accompaniment of appropriate excerpts from these operas.

Local talent chosen from all Newton villages is now in conscientious rehearsal to make this occasion one long to be remembered.

Their enthusiasm is based upon the hope of raising a very substantial sum for the benefit of a local Newton charitable organization in which our citizens have long taken an active interest, the New England Peabody Home for Crippled Children. A large group of these children and their escorts will be the special guests of the Newton Civic Arts Association, under whose direction the pageant will be given.

Special pains is being taken to provide comfortable seating in locations from which the pageant may be seen to best advantage and ample seating accommodations will be provided.

The tickets to the pageant are now on sale at any office of the Newton Trust Company at 25 cents for single admissions, 50 cents for seats and 75 cents for seats in a specially reserved section.

IMMANUEL ASSOCIATES PRESENT HEAFER'S "CLIMBING ROSES"

The curtain will rise at 8.00 with the following cast of attractive young ladies and gentlemen who have devoted much of their time to this project. The cast: Eleanor MacDougal, Gertrude Ward, Janice Leavitt, Bernice Leacy, Chloris Horsman, Katherine Ward, Beulah Angell, Walter Wrye, Ward Hunter, William Hammond, Roger Anderson, Wilfred Wetherbee, George Gullian, Raymond Clarke, Charles Hammond. ## Rover Scout Moot At the Nobscot Reservation

Leaders To Discuss Important Questions

The second annual Rover Scout Moot of New England will be held at the Nobscot Reservation on May 27 and 28 from Saturday noon till 4:30 p. m. Sunday.

Rovering is the newest movement of Scouting which was officially sanctioned three weeks ago at the regional meeting in Boston. The Moot has for its theme, "What are you going to do about it?" It is a gathering of Rovers for education and fellowship and will consider the following topics: Settlement Work; Juvenile Crime; Modern Sports; The Training of Scouts and the Future of Rovering. The following men are expected to lead in these discussions: James E. West, from the Home Office; Dean F. Rand Rogers of Boston University; Dr. Root from the Lyman School; C. H. Kingman of the Greater Boston Federation of Settlement Houses; John Brier, head of the Norumbega Council; and W. R. Speirs, Asst. Exec. of the Norumbega Council.

Camp sites will be furnished by the Lief Ericson Crew. Each crew will do its own cooking. The registration fee will be 25 cents. Crew demonstrations are asked for the Sunday afternoon period.

In Rovering are found young men, most of whom have been Scouts as boys, who are continuing their Scouting with the broader interpretation of the ideals and greater opportunity for service made possible by their age. The watchword of the group is service, and now in dozens of communities scattered over New England, and even as far west as Seattle, Washington, are to be found Rover Crews definitely giving service in a concrete fashion to their communities. This service takes various forms—perhaps the most common is in Scout leadership. In the Norumbega Crew, in Newton, the Mate, Richard Schroeder of Newton Highlands, is a scoutmaster, the Second, W. Bradford Gove, of Waban, is leader of a Cub Pack and a Scout Troop, one of the members of the Lincoln House Crew, is Scout Executive and Scoutmaster, and all the other members of the Crew serve in various capacities of Scout leadership.

Another Crew, the Lincoln House group, gives service of great worth as workers in that settlement house in the South End of Boston. A crew has recently been started in Bates College, and their service will largely consist of helping the local Scout authorities in Lewiston, Me., in solving the leadership problem.

Rovering was brought to this country from England, where it originated, by Robert Hale, Rover Commissioner of New England, about three years ago. At that time Mr. Hale, who lives in Boston at the Tennis and Racquet Club, was authorized by the National Headquarters to organize Rovering experimentally. This he did with the assistance of several foreign residents of Boston who had been Rovers in Scotland, Canada, or England, chief among whom was W. R. Speirs, Assistant Executive of Norumbega Council, who was a Rover in England and Australia before he came to this country to assist in spreading Scouting.

Among the guests at the moot will be groups from all over New England, from Montreal, Quebec and from Ontario.

Directions to Nobscot Reservation: Go to Framingham Centre on Boston and Worcester Turnpike; then north on Edgell rd.—3 miles, Route 126. Go to So. Sudbury on Route 20; then South on Edgell rd.—1 mile, Route 126.

Catholic Club Annual Breakfast

Address Will Be Given By Rev. John F. Murphy, S.J.

The principal speaker at the annual communion breakfast to be held Sunday by the Newton Catholic Club will be Rev. J. F. Murphy of the Society of Jesus. Father Murphy is on the faculty at Boston College.

The members of the Newton Catholic Club together with a large number of men of the parish will receive Holy Communion at the 7:15 mass. Immediately following the service they will march in a group to the Club Auditorium on Washington st. The speaking program has been reduced to a minimum in order to permit those desiring to go away for the day to have an early start. In addition to the main speaker, it is expected that Rev. Wm. J. Dwyer, Pastor of St. Bernard's Church together with Rev. Wm. T. A. O'Brien, Spiritual Director of the organization will address the gathering.

Plans Made For Decoration Day Exercises

Loud Speakers Will Carry Voices of Grand Army

Flowers for the decoration of veterans' graves on Memorial Day this year will be furnished by the children of the Newton schools, the homegrown blossoms taking the place of the bouquets formerly purchased from florists. This decision was reached at a recent meeting of the Veterans' Council of Newton, because of the fact that municipal appropriations for the celebration of Memorial Day have been reduced. Moreover, it was decided that greater respect will be shown the deceased war veterans, and more sentiment will be connected with the graves' decoration, when the youths contribute their own flowers directly.

Through the co-operation of John Lund, Supt. of Schools, it is expected that the students will contribute the 650 bouquets which will be needed to decorate the graves of the deceased members of the Grand Army of the Republic, United Spanish War Veterans, the American Legion, and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The students of all Newton schools will be urged to bring flowers to their schools on Monday, May 29th. These will be collected in city trucks at the close of school on that day, and later prepared in bouquet form by women of the veteran auxiliaries.

Parade plans for Memorial Day have been completed, indicating that music will be a feature. Besides the Newton Post, No. 48, American Legion Band, there will be the West Roxbury Post, American Legion Band, which participated last year, and the famous No. Man's Post Band of Hull, Mass., invited to lead. St. Eugene Joseph Daley, Jr., Post 2384, Veterans of Foreign Wars. In addition, the Drum and Bugle Corps of the Newton Unit, No. 48, American Legion Auxiliary, will take part.

A feature of this year's Memorial Day exercises in Newton Cemetery will be the installation of loud speaking apparatus which will carry the words of the aged G. A. R. veterans to the crowds assembled around the monument. It is expected that the loud speaker will tend to maintain better order so that greater respect may be shown to the old veterans. In addition, Mayor Weeks has ordered the police to prevent the peddling of ice cream, tonic, and pop corn inside the cemetery grounds.

Such practice is prevalent in other years, also tended to detract from the solemnity of the service there. The time-honored Memorial Day Parade will form at 2 p. m., at the Newton Fire Station, Washington st., and Centre ave., Newton Corner. Mayor Weeks will be Chief Marshal and he has appointed Leonard Boyd of Charles Ward Post, G. A. R., as Chief of Staff, and Harold D. Ames of Newton Post, American Legion, as Adjutant General. The line of march will be as follows:

Detail of Police

The parade will start at 2:15 p. m., and will proceed by Washington and Walnut sts. to Newton Cemetery. A detour will be made over Washington Park and Park Place to permit the parade to pass by the Governor John A. Andrew Home where the G. A. R. veterans and wives and widows of veterans can view it. At the Soldiers' Monument in the cemetery the customary exercises will be held by Charles Ward Post, G. A. R. The column will then reform and the parade will move from the cemetery to the City Hall grounds where the Chief Marshal will review it in front of the main portico. The veterans will then enter the War Memorial Building where exercises will be held dedicating the Bronze Book of the veteran war dead.

Aldermen Vote $1650 for Police Radio Station

Alderman Temperley Opposes Expenditure

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night the sum of $1650 was appropriated to establish a broadcasting station at Police Headquarters in West Newton. This station will send out messages to the six police cruising cars which patrol the city nights, as well as to the car which circulates through the city with the sergeant in supervision on the day shift. A permit for this station was granted last year by the Federal Radio Commission and this permit would have expired on Wednesday, May 17 if work on the construction of the station had not been started. It is designated as station WPFA and will be operated on a frequency of 1712 kilocycles, approximately the same as the police stations at Somerville and Arlington.

Alderman Gordon, chairman of the Finance Committee, explained that the matter of broadcasting has been discussed by the aldermen several times and that a satisfactory arrangement for the station is assured because of the co-operation which has been and will be given by Percy L. Spencer of West Newton, a radio engineer associated with the Raytheon Company. Gordon said radio has been in Newton police cars for 18 months and have been of little use because the broadcasting had to be done from the State radio station at Framingham.

Alderman Temperley said that when the money was appropriated late in 1930 for motorizing the Newton police department and installing radios in the cruising cars, it was then asserted that satisfactory arrangements had been made to get regular and prompt broadcasts from the Framingham station. Now, a different story is told. As a matter of fact, he said, if any broadcasting has been done direct to Newton from Framingham, he said he is not convinced that $1650 will cover the cost of installing the station.

Temperley stated that the police department has been complaining of being undermanned and he wondered how it would find three men to operate the station on three shifts. The Ward 5 alderman was assured by President Collins that the $1650 will be sufficient; and Chief Hughes stated that no extra men will be required to operate the station. Temperley then said that he had been informed by a radio expert, who is a graduate of Mass. Institute of Technology, that it should cost only from $5 to $15 to install a radio in an automobile; $10 being a fair price. He said that a member of the Newton police department took many weeks to install the radios in the seven cars and the cost was very much more than the $70 which the city could have had these radios installed for.

Alderman Gordon of the Finance Committee was asked for information regarding the proposed broadcasting station. He referred the inquiry to Alderman Jamieson, whom he characterized as a radio expert. Jamieson said he is no radio expert, but stated he had made investigations in his services. Jamieson said that the cost of erecting the radio station for the Arlington police, plus an automobile and two radio sets, was $3000. He explained that no extra men will be (Continued on Page 12)

Ely Re-Appoints Gallagher Asso. Medical Examiner

Withdraws Appointment of Dr. Wm. T. O'Halloran

On Wednesday Governor Ely withdrew the name of Dr. William T. O'Halloran of Central ave., Newtonville, as his appointee to the office of Associate Medical Examiner for the district of Middlesex County which includes Newton and surrounding places. The Governor on May 9 had re-appointed Dr. O'Halloran to this position. In withdrawing Dr. O'Halloran's name, Governor Ely substituted the name of Dr. T. Morton Gallagher of Newton for reappointment to the office. Dr. Gallagher had held this office for about twenty years. Under suspension of the rules, the Executive Council confirmed Gallagher's re-appointment.

Aldermen Take No Action On W. Newton Land

Board Postpones Purchase of Police Station Site

The meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night was started almost on schedule—at 7:50 p. m. All twenty-one members of the Board were present. An important matter was scheduled to come before the meeting—but it didn't. This was the matter of the city taking by eminent domain at a cost of $16,000 the land at West Newton formerly occupied by the City Hall Annex, and now occupied, in part, by the police headquarters building. This matter was postponed at the request of the Public Works Committee.

The first matter to come before the Board was the hearing on the petition of the Paul Coal Company for a permit to install fuel tanks. This is referred to in detail elsewhere. The next hearing was on the petition of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Company for an addition to its gasoline station at 2550 Commonwealth ave. No opposition developed against this petition. Neither did any person appear to object to the petition of George S. Wilbur for a renewal of the temporary permit to continue to operate his gravel permit at Wiswall rd., Oak Hill. Mr. Wilbur explained that no excavating has been done at this pit since the last permit was granted.

Thomas Penney, owner of 19 Brentwood ave., Newton Centre, urged the Aldermen to appropriate money for a drain and sewer in that street. He said that sewage has been flowing into the cellar of his house and the Board of Health states that it is quite imperative to have a sewer built in this street.

Alderman Grebenstein, chairman of the Claims Committee, reported adversely on several claims against the city. That of Florence Smith for injuries received by the condition of Boylston st., opposite 650 Boylston st., Newton Centre, was refused on the contention that it is the State and not the city which is responsible. Esther Castagnone was refused payment of money for alleged injuries received when she fell on the icy steps of City Hall last February, because the steps had been cleaned early on the day of the accident. The claim of Mr. Gertrude Truesdell for injuries received on Feb. 11, when she fell on the Walnut st. bridge at Newtonville, was also turned down. The city claims there was no defect in the sidewalk on the bridge. The claim of Patrolman Joseph Smith of the Newton police for medical treatment expense was refused. Smith hurt his ankle when he tripped on a stone behind police headquarters. Chief Hughes declined to approve this claim. The claim against the city of Mr. and Mrs. William DeRusha for personal injuries, loss of property and loss of their daughter's life because of a gas explosion at 862 Walnut st., a few months ago, was refused. The city disclaims liability.

The Licenses Committee reported favorably on the petitions of Mrs. William Morgan for a permit to build a two-car garage at 292 Otis st. and Richard T. Leahy to change the location of pumps at his filling station in West Newton. The committee reported adversely on the petition of H. J. Young for a gasoline filling station at 3 Jackson st., Newton Centre. Alderman Temperley asked why the committee took this attitude after the Licenses Committee of the 1932 Board had voted to grant such a permit. Alderman Hawkins said the permit had been granted but was never used. He said Young had been granted a permit last year for a pump inside the garage building he occupied, and now wanted one outside the building. Furthermore, Young was not interested enough to appear before the committee. Alderman Holden said the pump location asked for by Young was a sidewalk location; also the building apparently was not in use and there is a "to let" sign on it.

The Board turned down the petition of Margaret Greenleaf for a permit to change a one-family house at 116 Waverley ave., Newton, into a two-family house. The Claims Committee reported that such a change might vitally affect the character of the neighborhood. Had Mrs. Greenleaf gone ahead and altered the house without obtaining a permit, as many property owners have done in single and private residence zones in this city, she probably would have got away with such a zoning violation, as have those who resorted to this method.

The Claims and Rules Committee reported that no Aldermanic action was necessary on the motion to change the city ordinances so that in the future any person obtaining a permit to carry a pistol must pay $2. The city solicitor ruled this is an executive action. (Continued on Page 12)

Large Crowd Watches Newton Horse Show

Large Number of Local Contestants Add Interest

Favored by fair weather and a large number of entries, the Newton Charity Horse Show fully met announcements. A crowd of upwards of 2,000 people witnessed the show, and the boxes were crowded with leading sports lovers and their families.

Interest was added by the fact that a large number of young riders, largely from leading Newton families competed in the early part of the show.

The show passed off smoothly with only a few minor mishaps. Little Betty Smith of Roslindale lost her seat during the musical chairs event, but nothing daunted she quickly remounted and finished far from the end of the race.

The three judges, Miss Jane Bancroft, Mr. J. J. Shaw and Mr. Henry G. Vaughan, had large and closely contested classes with some decisions a lengthy matter. Children were there galore and all the morning classes had mostly young entrants.

Mrs. Henry G. Vaughan was smart in a sports coat of double face tweed of dusty brown and brown and white checks and close hat of brown. Mr. Vaughan failed to wear his gray top so closely associated with horse show events. Miss Bancroft, for judging and showing in several classes, wore the popular scarf of foulard in green, tied ascot fashion. Mr. F. M. Forbes of Commonwealth ave. and Gen. Francis Peabody were two equine authorities watching from the boxes.

Others there were Mr. J. Franklin McElwain, whose daughter, Miss Mary McElwain, rode to blues several times; Mr. and Mrs. William J. Davidson with Mrs. Davidson wearing a tailored suit of brown herring bone and a sable scarf, and their daughters, Miss Lillian and Helen Davidson, who rode; Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Downes of Winchester, Miss Jane Megrew in tan tweed, Miss Martha Chapin in navy and a tiny hat, Miss Peggy Hinckley in a loose coat of checks, Miss Louise Walworth in a homespun suit of bluish green, Miss Catherine Blake in gray diagonal tweeds, Mrs. William M. Ferris in tan tweed suit, Mrs. Samuel J. Shaw, whose husband was so busy judging; Mrs. Stearns Poor and her daughters, Eleanor and Hope, and her small son.

Mayor to Umpire Alumni Game at H. S. Reunion

Mayor Weeks has consented to act as umpire in the baseball game next Friday afternoon which is the feature of the annual reunion of the Newton High School alumni association. Plans for the event to be staged at the high school next Friday afternoon, May 26th, are rapidly nearing completion. The baseball game between a team of Newton alumni and largely former college stars, will play the high school varsity at four o'clock. The Newton High versus Brookline high annual track meet at 3:15 and a number of girls' athletic contests at the same hour will open the program.

The entertainment committee has made additional plans to provide entertainment to follow the supper and while refusing to divulge the alumni entertainers it has added to the program promises a real treat for the alumni.

Pupils of the All Newton Music School are preparing for the final concert which is to be given to the public in the Assembly Hall of the Newton High School on Wednesday evening, May 31st, at 7:30 o'clock.

Final rehearsals of the full orchestra combined from ensembles of the clavin and Peabody Branches will take place on next Sunday, May 21st, and the following, May 28th, at the Unitarian Church, West Newton, at 7:30 p. m.

Red Cross Appeals For Aid to Maine Fire Victims

Says Vast Sums of Money Are Needed

It will be months and even years before the cities of Auburn and Ellsworth, Maine, recover from their recent fire devastations. Many families in these cities never will become fully re-established financially.

The American Red Cross rushed to the aid of these two cities while the fires raged and is remaining there until assistance is no longer needed.

Vast sums of money are required to start ruined cities on the way to recovery. Auburn and Ellsworth, Maine, in ordinary times could rely on financial help being given by neighboring towns and cities. However, at this time many banks in Maine are closed and money cannot flow freely.

"Why does not the National Red Cross use its Roll Call money?" is a question often asked by the average man or woman when a special appeal such as this is made. The answer is that the Red Cross does use its Treasury funds continuously on many, many disasters—tornadoes, fires, earthquakes and all other. So numerous are these disasters (some of them getting very little publicity in our newspapers) and so much money is required for their relief that the Red Cross Treasury funds become exhausted before the year is over. National Red Cross Treasury funds are low at the present time.

The Red Cross and people of Maine cannot carry through alone in the case of Auburn and Ellsworth. The Red Cross asks the people of Newton to donate money (through its local Red Cross Chapter, 12 Austin st., Newtonville) for this particular relief.

The people of Newton without doubt have a deep sympathy for the citizens of Ellsworth and Auburn. Many Newton people visit Maine during the summer months, enjoy all that it offers, and have a neighborly feeling for Maine people.

Food and clothing are being donated at the present time by the people of Maine. Will not the people of Newton donate money? No matter how small the contribution it will be gladly received and will be transmitted in full to the stricken area.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

NEWTON LOSES 5-4 DECISION TO BROOKLINE

Newton High lost a closely fought Suburban league baseball game to Brookline High last week Friday afternoon at Brookline when the Weather Towners choked off a ninth inning threat by the orange and black to hold its 5-4 lead. The defeat dropped the Newton nine into a last place tie with Brookline while a Rindge Tech miscue paved the way for that team's first league defeat at the hands of Cambridge Latin and tied the two Cambridge nines for first position.

Phil Giles was on the mound for Brookline and was moving along nicely although frequently in trouble. Brookline tallied once in the fourth to offset a Newton counter in the first of the same inning and in the fifth two more runs gave Brookline a 3 to 1 lead. In the sixth Newton staged a rally which netted three runs and sent the orange and black into the lead. Brookline came back with two in the last of the sixth in which Giles' wild pitch was a factor and Houghton took over the pitching duties.

In the ninth Newton filled the bases with none out when Brookline tightened and stopped the threat. Huston fled out to the shortstop. Di Russo fanned and Kevorkian fled to the outfield and the three base runners were stranded.

Last Friday's games completed the first round of the league season and the second round begins this afternoon with Brookline at Rindge. Newton plays Cambridge Latin at Newton tomorrow. Newton can still figure in the championship of the league by winning all three of its games to play. In that case Newton would probably be tied with either Rindge or Cambridge Latin depending upon which team won in their second meeting on June 2nd unless Brookline should provide another upset by taking both Cambridge teams.

The present standing:

	W	L	RF	RA	Pts
Rindge	2	1	19	17	4
Cambridge Latin	2	1	2	21	4
NEWTON	1	2	17	18	2
Brookline	1	2	20	24	2

OUR LADY HIGH LOSES AND DROPS TO SECOND PLACE

With Joe Sullivan of St. Mary's (Brookline) pitching great ball against the Our Lady High team last Monday the Newton nine found itself on the short end of a 6 to 2 score and dropped to second place in the Greater Boston Catholic High School league standings. It was the second defeat for the Newton nine which prior to the game was tied with St. Mary's for the league lead.

Sullivan is an unbeaten pitcher and his left arm has been moving down all opposition. His greatest feat was several weeks ago when he pitched sixteen Mission High players in five innings. The feat was made possible when his catcher dropped a third strike and the batter reached first safely.

He limited Our Lady High to five hits, a double by Capt. Charley Gallagher being the only extra base blow. Except for the fourth inning when Our Lady tallied both its runs he was practically invincible. Meanwhile Marino was pitching almost as good ball for Our Lady High allowing but five singles but some of these were bunched and the winners tallied in four separate innings. Both pitchers passed four batters but Sullivan fanned eleven and Marino none.

The following day Sacred Heart High of Newton Centre lost a heart-breaking affair to the same St. Mary's team in a wild and woolly 14-13 game. Castles and Melville were the St. Mary's saviors with Sullivan playing first base. Going into the sixth frame the Brookline team had a 5 to 0 lead but Sacred Heart high's six-run rally gave them a momentary margin. St. Mary's next proceeded to score nine runs in two innings and felt secure in its 14 to 6 margin. In the eighth Sacred Heart high base runners denied the plate four times and in the ninth three times more to give the league leading Brookline outfit a cold chill.

On Tuesday afternoon Our Lady High got back onto the winning path by clouting Mission High into submission in a 12 to 10 free-scoring game.

This afternoon the Newton nine has a chance of climbing back into a first place tie with St. Mary's of Brookline. The locals take on Immaculate Conception high of Revere at Victory field and although there is but a half game margin separating the two teams in second and fourth place Our Lady High is confident of repelling the invaders. Meanwhile St. Mary's of Brookline and St. Mary's of Waltham will be crossing bats in an all-important game at Brookline. With these two teams boasting the two leading pitchers in the league it should be a great contest. A defeat for the Brookline nine would scramble the race tremendously while a win would give the Brookline outfit a safer margin to work on.

The present standing:

	W	L	RF	RA	P.C.
St. Mary's (B.)	7	1	70	37	.875

NEWTON HOPES FOR VICTORY AT HARVARD MEET

Newton high has hopes of winning the State high school track championship tomorrow afternoon in the annual Harvard Interscholastic meet at the Stadium. Newton had made a bid to hold the State championship affair on the Newton track on May 20th, which is a week later than the usual Harvard meeting, but Harvard announced its meet this spring for the same date and as Newton's schedule for the following week was arranged, the bid to hold the Newton affair was withdrawn.

By virtue of its unexpected show of strength which won the honors at the Worcester Tech meet two weeks ago the Newton team is considered among leading contenders in the Harvard affair. Newton, as usual, will compete in Class B, that for the larger high schools. Class A is the Prep school class and Class C the smaller high school group. Although Harvard does not consider it as such the Massachusetts high school association considers the winners in Class B and C the state champions.

Coach Don Enoch of Newton has a number of athletes who are expected to excel well up near the front to give Newton the necessary margin to win. Douglas Sloane will be one of the favorites in the 100-yard dash with his stiffest competition coming from Eddie Cady of Boston Commerce, Famiglietti of Medford, Roberts of Lawrence and Battles of Lynn English.

Palme York and Dave MacLellan in the hurdles, Capt. Tom Fitzgerald in the half-mile, Gordon Wilkes in the 440 are the most likely Newton point scorers in other events.

NEWTON LOSES TO BOSTON ENGLISH

Newton High dropped its third game of the 1933 season on Wednesday when Boston English High with a shifted lineup upset the orange and black 5 to 2. Timely hitting along enabled the visitors to top the locals as each team collected nine hits while Phil Giles had a little better of the twirling honors over Donahue. Giles fanned ten and passed but one and the strikeout ratio was two to one.

Captain Eddie Wall of English was the outstanding individual with three hits, one a triple, in four trips to the plate. Becker of the visitors got a double for the only other extra base blow of the game. Wall of English contributed an error for the only fielding lapses of the game.

English tallied one run in the second to get off to a lead which was offset by a Newton tally in the last of the third when Giles scored after drawing a pass. Two runs in the fourth, one in the fifth and one in the seventh were sufficient to tuck away the game for English as Newton failed to hit with men on bases except in the seventh when Giles crossed the plate again for the second local run.

Next week Wednesday Newton will play Waltham on the Griffin field diamond in the next game outside of the Suburban league circuit. Tomorrow afternoon as stated in another column, Newton meets Cambridge Latin at Newtonville to start the second round of the league season.

Burglaries In Newton This Week

A number of burglaries have occurred in this city during the past week. Sunday morning it was discovered that a rear door at Dell's Pharmacy, corner of Beacon and Washington sts., Newton, had been forced and the basement of the store entered. The burglar failed to gain entrance to the store above.

Early in the Friday morning a burglar gained entrance to Randall's confectionery store at 301 Centre st., Newton, by forcing a rear door. Two cash registers were looted and about $23 stolen.

Late Saturday night an offering box in the basement at the Church of Our Lady was broken into by a thief, but as the box had been emptied of its contents earlier in the night, the thief obtained no loot.

Lasell Jr. College

On Tuesday the annual Field Day was held. Every student was required to take part in any three of the following events: 50 yd. dash; low hurdles; running broad jump; running high jump; javelin throw; basketball throw. The entire student body divided into two teams, the Blues and Whites, took part in the Rope Pull and the Relay. A picnic supper was served on the field.

Rev. Alvin C. Bacon of the Congregational Church in Natick will be the chapel speaker on Thursday morning, May 18, Friday evening, May 19, the Lasell Glee Club under the direction of Miss Mary Williams, assisted by the orchestra under the direction of Miss Anna Richborn, presented the operetta "Chonita" in Bragdon Hall. Dr. Boynton Merrill of the Second Church in Newton will be the vesper speaker on Sunday, May 21, at 6:15. The annual River Day will be held on the Charles River, May 25, when the interclass crew races will take place.

ton Highlands. The ushers included Messrs. Anson Piper, John Tomb, Robert Peebles, Philip Whittlesey, William Diman and Leslie White. Miss Betty Marvin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Marvin of Edgehill rd., entertained 24 guests at a buffet before going to the dance.

Sports Briefs

Stan Johnson continues to be the star individual performer for the M. I. T. freshman track team. Last week Friday in a meet with the B. U. yearlings Johnson scored his usual three first places. He took both hurdle races and the broad jump. Tech won the meet by an overwhelming margin. Henri Bourneuf of Chestnut Hill is playing on the Harvard golf team. Last Saturday in the match with Holy Cross Bourneuf and his teammate Hayes won their four-best ball match from the Crusaders to give Harvard the odd game to win 5-4. Dartmouth and Columbia played a doubleheader at Hanover last Saturday in an intercollegiate baseball league meeting with the Green winning the opener, 3-2, and losing in the second by a 7-5 score. In the first game White, Columbia star pitcher, was beaten for the first time. Frank Spain playing short for the Green made a couple of miscues and it was his wild throw in the first inning of the first game that gave Columbia both its runs. He redeemed himself at the bat however getting three hits in three trips. In his other times at bat he either walked or drew a pass. On the same day Harvard scored a 12 to 5 victory over Princeton in another league contest. Francis Gleason made three singles in four times at bat to lead the Harvard attack. In a doubleheader with Cornell the Yale nine was twice victorious. Allie Fletcher went hitless in his seven times at bat. Howie Whitmore, former Newton high and Harvard star pitcher, is still keeping his hand in. Twirling part of the game for the Harvard grads against Boston College he figured prominently in a 12 to 3 victory last Saturday. In the same game Tommy Gilligan made two hits and two runs. Boston University scored a 6-0 victory over Clark University last Saturday at Worcester although the Terriers made but four hits. Errors counted largely to the B. U. win. Art Wilson made one of the four hits which figured in the final two-run rally in the seventh. Reference to a game last week Thursday is not amiss in that B. U. upset Harvard in a see-saw 10 to 8 affair. Art Wilson poked out his sixth home run of the season in the first inning and the Terriers took a 3 to 0 lead. Harvard overcame the deficit to step out in front 8-7, in the sixth inning. Another three-run rally in the ninth with Uman's home run a feature gave the Terriers the verdict. The game was local interest in last Saturday's game between B. C. and Georgetown which the Eagles won 7 to 0 behind the pitching of "Bud" Roy. Elmer "Lefty" Lindquist, who twirled one year for Newton high before moving to Portland and later matriculating at Georgetown, was on the mound for the Hilltoppers. He was touched for nine hits including a home run and two triples. Clinton R. Ferguson of Waban, a 15-year old motorboat enthusiast, was the young entrant in the annual Albany-New York outboard motorboat marathon last Sunday. He was coached by J. C. Wilkinson, 1930 winner. Mel Hemen of Upper Falls, rightfielder on the Penn Union, nine still ranks high in the intercollegiate league batting rankings. He was in fifth place with a .360 average last week-end. He had played in seven games at that time, been at bat 25 times, scored six runs, made nine hits, stolen four bases and batted in two runs. He lost the leadership in run scoring being surpassed by Rich of Dartmouth who has seven and is now tied for second with Brominski of Columbia each with six. Yale scored one of the highest upsets of the college baseball season on Wednesday in defeating the hitherto unbeaten Providence College nine, 8 to 4. The Friars got off to a one-run lead in the first inning but the Elis came right back with two tallies. In the second Providence went ahead again with three runs. In the last of the third two errors and Allie Fletcher's triple accounted for two runs the second of which proved to be the winning tally. Stan Johnson broke a Tech freshman track record on Wednesday in the M. I. T. yearling meet with Dear monny. His mark of 22 feet 1/4 inch in the broad jump is the new figure. As usual he also captured both hurdle races. Tech won handsily.

Early in the Friday morning a burglar gained entrance to Randall's confectionery store at 301 Centre st., Newton, by forcing a rear door. Two cash registers were looted and about $23 stolen.

A Lecture on Christian Science

Christian Science: A Religion of Healing

by

A. Hervey Bathurst, C.S.B., of London, England

Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts

A free public lecture on Christian Science was given on Tuesday evening, May 16th, by First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Newton in the church edifice, Walnut and Otis Streets, Newtonville. The lecturer, A. Hervey Bathurst, C.S.B., of London, England, was introduced by William S. Whitman, First Reader of the Church, who spoke as follows:

Friends: We are happy to extend to each one here, a most cordial welcome. That same interest in the subject of Christian Science which brings us together this evening is, in a degree, stirring the whole civilized world.

Many people are attracted to the benedict teaching of Christian Science in search of relief from suffering of some kind. Many are seeking a reason for, or an explanation of the seeming existence of so much limitation and fear. Still others are seeking the reason for the interest of their neighbor or friend in this subject.

All have at some time found themselves wondering if Christian Science does really heal and save.

Those of us who have felt the tender, healing touch of divine Love, as taught in Christian Science, have ceased to doubt its healing power and are earnestly striving to express in our daily lives "that Mind which was also in Christ Jesus," which alone can heal and save.

Our lecturer this evening is a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, and he will speak to us on the subject "Christian Science, A Religion of Healing."

I am happy to present to you, Mr. A. Hervey Bathurst of London, England.

May I ask you to visualize for a moment that momentous scene, that epoch-making occasion, when Paul, standing before King Agrippa, asked, "Why should it be considered a thing incredible with you that God should raise the dead?" What an indication of understanding of the power, the omnipotence and omniscience of God. Has God changed? Then what Paul indicated is as true now as it was then. This Christian Science now only teaches, but demonstrates or proves.

The present is frequently and accurately described as a progressive age. During recent years much progress has been made, and this is especially evident in the numerous inventions which are combining to annihilate time and space. Is it, however, only in the realm of mechanics that progress is to be expected? Why should we not equally expect further unfoldment in the realm of religion? In spite of the fact that, generally speaking, people do not devote much thought to the question of development along religious lines, wonderful changes are taking place. It may well be said that the greatest change since the appearance of Christ Jesus occurred when in 1866 Christian Science was discovered.

It is not necessary for me to tell you that Christian Science heals. That fact is now recognized throughout the world, for men, women and children in every civilized country are being healed through the knowledge of the truth, taught and practised by the Founder of Christianity, and again revealed to this age by Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, and the author of its textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures. While the revelation of Christian Science is certainly proof of the remarkable development in the realm of religion, Christian Science is not new, for it is primitive Christianity again revealed to mankind in a way which all can understand and practise successfully.

"Why should it be considered a thing incredible with you that God should raise the dead?" Christian Science to-day is perpetually voicing that same thought and is again asking mankind why it should be doubted that the healing of sin, sickness and death should still be possible through the recognition and the demonstration of the ever-present God and His irresistible power. Whether the revelation through Christian Science of the true concept of God and man is immediately accepted universally or not will not alter the facts, and the healing continues.

THE DISCOVERY.

The way in which Christian Science was discovered is so interesting by reason of its wonderful simplicity. Mrs. Eddy was suffering from the effects of an accident when she would not recover. One day she begged to be left alone. Mrs. Eddy had always been a most earnest student of the Bible, and as was her custom she turned to that sacred volume and read the familiar passage in the ninth chapter of Matthew's Gospel which records the Master's healing of the man suffering from the palsy. Jesus said to him, "Arise, take up thy bed, and go unto thy house." You will note the prompt obedience of that man, who did as he was told with the result we all know so well.

How many sick people, I wonder, have read that passage, but no one that we know of in all the centuries that have elapsed since that occurrence has had spiritual discernment enough to understand and accept the healing offered in that command—at least no such case is recorded. Mrs. Eddy, however, evidently discerned on that occasion the deep spiritual meaning of what the Master said. In other words, she recognized the divine fact that man has dominion, or she discerned man's God-given heritage of freedom and dominion over all the earth, with the result that she rose at once from her sick-bed. Having made this wonderful discovery, Mrs. Eddy retired from the world for three years in order to work out or demonstrate the truth which had been revealed to her and which she realized it was her privilege and duty to share with mankind. This she did by healing innumerable diseases of all kinds and doing other wonderful works.

Mrs. Eddy's discovery established the fact that the sick can still be healed in the way Jesus and his disciples taught and practised. At the same time let me say that Christian Science is by no means confined to the healing of physical sickness, for, as Mrs. Eddy writes in Rudimental Divine Science, p. 2, "Healing physical sickness is the smallest part of Christian Science. It is only a bud-call to thought and action, in the higher range of infinite goodness." Christian Science is therefore all-inclusive; or, in other words, there is not a problem known or unknown to mankind, individually or collectively, that cannot be solved through a correct understanding and demonstration of the teachings of Christian Science.

When Paul made that astounding statement to Agrippa already quoted, was it not because he was teaching and urging the practice of Christianity? So, my friends, of those who to-day are tempted to doubt or disbelieve in the healing through Christian Science treatment, might not a similar question be asked, namely, "Why should it be thought a thing incredible with you that God should heal the sick?"

I am sure that in the time at our disposal we shall see how this healing is not only a reasonable, but a natural result of the understanding of the teaching of him of whom it was said, "Never man spake like this man."

Christian Science shows that the high standard of living and healing taught by Jesus must eventually be attained by all, in fact that it is possible now. "Ye shall know the truth," the Master declared, "and the truth shall make you free." Christian Science has revealed that truth. And what is Truth?

What is the truth about all we see, hear, feel, taste, smell? What is the truth about the many discordant conditions we see around us? Why does evil seem to be so persistent—sometimes apparently almost overmastering good? These are a few of the many questions with which mankind is struggling.

IMPORTANCE OF RIGHT THINKING.

Let us see what Jesus teaches on this point. Did he not say, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you." (Matthew 6:33). And how can we seek the kingdom of God except in thought? So then Jesus stated definitely that the only way to success, the only way to find what is good, real and true, is to find the "kingdom of God," i.e., the place not only where God is, but where God reigns—is supreme.

It is a well-known axiom that like invariably produces like. So that if we commence with what our physical senses present to us, and we accept the testimony of the physical senses as a basis from which to argue, or if we believe that what these senses tell us is true, we are materialists, and to us there is no God. Again, if we believe that there is a great First Cause or creator, God, or Spirit, and at the same time accept the testimony of the physical or material senses as real, we are admitting that God is conscious of sin, disease, disaster and death, which is utterly impossible. Why? Because if the great First Cause or creator knew and therefore included both good and evil, both life and death, it would be a "house divided against itself," and therefore destructive, not creative or a creator. And all Christians acknowledge that God is the only creator and that He is good.

No one would like to be told he was not intelligent. Yet we are faced with the fact that, while admitting that like produces like, people or a great many people believe that God or Spirit created, and is therefore manifested or expressed in, His opposite, matter. Jesus taught quite the contrary, and so does Christian Science. So, while no one likes to realize he is being deceived, every man is being deceived who accepts the testimony of the carnal or mortal mind, or the physical senses, as to the material universe, including mortal man, being real.

We admit readily that there must be a First Cause. We call that First Cause or creator God, or Spirit, and we add with assurance and certainty that He is infinite. Then since God is Spirit, His creation must be exactly like Him, spiritual. Spirit does not and cannot include its very opposite, matter; therefore there is no matter in the creation which is spiritual, and that is the only creation. It is possible that some one might feel tempted to say—suppose that is true, but what about the material evidence which my physical senses continually tell me is real? To such an one I would say—I believe you know enough about the material universe, and I will ask you to be willing to consider this great but simple truth which I am endeavouring to explain. And let me assure you that to the extent that you are willing to admit the logical and divine facts as to what and where God is, you will be able to demonstrate or prove them unfailingly.

God, we all declare, is in heaven. We admit also that God is infinite. Therefore God, Spirit, is everywhere; and here is included in everywhere. Consequently that place where God is, or the kingdom of God, is at hand; it is not afar off. It is exactly where we are, and where we are is just where we are thinking. The Master said, "The kingdom of God is within you." In other words, to the extent that you understand and accept the truth which has been established from all time, you see or experience

Then arises the question, "What is God?" On page 466 of Science and Health Mrs. Eddy gives us the following definition of God. "God is incorporeal, divine, supreme, infinite Mind, Spirit, Soul, Principle, Life, Truth, Love." This God is the only creator and He created all that was made as the Bible states. Must it not follow then that, since God's creation is the only creation and it is good, we have a very erroneous concept of that creation, including man, so long as we believe that the creation of God includes evil, sickness, destruction, fear, vice or death? Can man, the image and likeness or reflection of God, be subject to what God does not include? The answer is emphatically—No, he is not and never was. This may be considered a the kingdom of heaven; you awake to the fact that, actually, you are in heaven.

How many people believe that they can find or recognize the kingdom of heaven here and now, without going to some other place or passing through the experience called death? Yet, did not the Master say, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God?" He obviously meant that we were to seek and find it here, where we are. He did not tell us we have to go somewhere else in order to find it. May I remind you that we pray, or most of us pray, daily and some of us many times a day, "Thy kingdom come," the spiritual sense of which Mrs. Eddy gives us in Science and Health, p. 16, as "Thy kingdom is come; Thou art ever-present." Heaven is not a locality; it is mental or spiritual.

At this point one might feel inclined to ask, "Then where is 'on earth'?" That equally is just where we are thinking. The earth of God's creating is not the earth which our physical senses present to us, and in order that we may see the answer to that simple prayer, "Thy kingdom come," we must, through the understanding of Truth, get rid of our erroneous concept of earth. In her definition of earth in Science and Health Mrs. Eddy writes in part, "To material sense, earth is matter; to spiritual sense, it is a compound idea." In Revelation 21 John writes, "And I saw a new heaven and a new earth; for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away." How did John, who was still on earth, see the new heaven and the new earth? How was he able to hear that "great voice out of heaven saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and He will dwell with them, and they shall be His people, and God Himself shall be with them, and be their God?" How was he able to see what the physical senses certainly could not discern? Was not John still human? He certainly was, but his ability to think correctly, or his spiritual discernment, was beyond that of the ordinary man of his day.

THE TRUTH ABOUT MAN.

And here the question will arise, "What is man?" As the Bible states, in language with which we are all so familiar, man is the image and likeness of God. In order therefore to understand man, it is well first to have some correct concept of God, the only creator, who is quoted in the first chapter of Genesis, verse 26, as saying, "Let us make man in our image, after our likeness." But one might ask, what makes it possible for men to have a true concept of God? The answer to this question is,—the fact that man really is spiritual—the image and likeness of God.

The general trouble is that men believe that they are separate entities entirely independent of God. Man is no more separate from God than the reflection of yourself before the mirror is independent of you. If you stand before a mirror your reflection does exactly what you do and at the same moment. What is true about your reflection in connection with you is equally true with regard to man in his relation to God. Then think of the joy, think of the comfort, the satisfaction and assurance of knowing that you are not now and never can be separated from God! This divine, unalterable fact can never change or be changed. Therefore it matters not what we may think or believe; this fact remains.

bold statement to make, but it is nevertheless true, because what is true about the nature of God must be equally true about the nature of His reflection, man.

Then we see that you and I in our true selfhood or identity are just as much the children of God now as we always have been and ever will be. One might, however, well ask, how is it that we so frequently act as if we were the children of a most un-Godlike parent?

God is infinite, all, and God is Spirit; therefore His creation, including man, can only be and is, spiritual. This may be said to be the key to the question. Suppose, however, one were to say,—that is obviously true from a logical point of view, but it is beyond me to prove it." To such an one the reply may be made,—the spiritual fact of being is true; it always has been and always will be true. Recognition of this divine fact, or the truth, enables one to apply it in human experience, that is, to prove the truth. Let me say at once that the physical or material man, or the physical senses, will never be able to see or define God, Spirit, because, as St. Paul writes, "the carnal mind is enmity against God; for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be."

St. John wrote—"Now are we the sons of God." Does not this mean that now, at this very moment, we are, or our true selves are, Godlike and does not "Godlike" mean like Spirit and not like matter? Again, because man really is spiritual and because the material is but the mistaken belief, or the lie, or the counterfeit, man has the innate ability to recognize and love God, good. In Science and Health, p. 468, Mrs. Eddy writes in the "scientific statement of being,"—"man is not material; he is spiritual."

The belief then in a material creation, or the belief that man is material, is a false mistaken belief, an erroneous supposition. You cannot have a mistaken belief about nothing; you can only have a mistaken concept of Truth. Therefore, as we understand even a little of Christian Science, we see how the erroneous belief is late, since Truth is already established. We can go even further and say that error is always late, always too late. Therefore surely an erroneous or mistaken belief cannot interfere with or hinder us, nor can it harm us, and we need never be afraid of it.

The material or physical body then is the result of a belief in the reality of the material creation, including man, or the belief that matter produces or creates itself.

Man, as we have already seen, is the expression or reflection of God, or divine Mind. The understanding of this divine fact enables us to have dominion over the body, because matter, or the material body, is merely a belief in something which does not emanate from the one and only cause, Spirit, and therefore is not of God.

THE CHRIST.

Christian Science is universal in its application. It is immaterial whether the situation or problem is a personal one, one in connection with a community, a church, a nation, or an international question, the practice of Christian Science will inevitably heal the situation.

What then is taking place, as the healing power of Truth is being more and more universally revealed and demonstrated through Christian Science? What is this replacing of sickness by health, of insubordination, revolutionary or destructive tendencies and chaos by law, order and permanent power? It is the appearing of the Christ. Critics sometimes accuse Christian Scientists of Christian Science lifts the veil of mystery from all these questions over which mankind has so long pondered. Christian Science reveals the fact that the future, or, as it is sometimes defined, the "hereafter" is not shrouded in mystery. In fact there is no "hereafter." There is but the eternal now. Think for a moment what the future and when is it going to come? Does it ever come? Is it not always now? God is Life, and in Life there is no death. Just as darkness is expelled by the light, so is the belief in death healed or destroyed by the understanding of Life. Look for a moment at the Old Testament and you will see in Enoch's experience how he knew enough of God, of Life, to enable him so to improve his concept of man, or the reflection of Life, that he "walked with God." Also did not the Master himself first demonstrate the unreality of the belief in death for others and then finally in his own experience?

Let us dwell in thought for a moment on that simple scene described so vividly in John 11, when the brother of Mary had died. You will recall with what authority Jesus summoned forth Lazarus from that dream of death and said to those standing by that they were to "loose him and let him go." To-day there are thousands who are being loosed from the grave-clothes of material beliefs; yes, and from the belief that Life is subordinate to or in matter. We need to be logical, scientific, active thinkers. We need to be willing to accept the whole of the Master's teaching, even if we have not yet demonstrated it fully. That same Christ, which Jesus declared he had come to reveal, is just as much with us and available now as when the Master called forth Lazarus from that cave upon which the stone lay. To-day the stones of a belief in a life apart from God are continually becoming lighter and sometimes they are being removed altogether.

As Christians we accept the teaching of the Master without questioning it, and through Christian Science mankind is being shown in this age how to practise it. Whatever you or I may believe with regard to Truth itself, since it is immutable and unchangeable. Whether we accept it or reject it, Truth remains as it has been all through the ages, and the day must surely come and is coming when the divine fact that Life is infinite will not only be understood but demonstrated. Why not then be at least willing to admit that fact now and stop this limiting policy of postponement? "Why should it be considered a thing incredible with you that God should raise the dead?"

EDUCATION AND GOVERNMENT.

Christian Science reveals the omnipotence of God. Therefore since God or good is omnipotent or all-powerful, God, good, is the only power, the only government. This wonderful yet divine fact revealed by Christian Science is demonstrable. Then think what changes will occur as this fact is more widely recognized and demonstrated. In the political world, in international affairs, how glorious to see those in official positions desirous of demonstrating only the power and government of good. If, however, this government of good is to be demonstrated in world affairs, it surely must commence with the individual, and if it commences with the individual it will unfold in the home. Therefore the homes of Christian Scientists should be harmonious and orderly, and must express the true sense of government. In order that this may be so, the children must be taught obedience, strict obedience. They should be taught to respect their parents and others; to be considerate, unselfish and courteous. They certainly should be given the legitimate freedom all children should have, yet they should be taught proper control and the difference between liberty and license. They should learn the joy of self-sacrifice, the happiness of thinking of others, instead of continually being pampered.

The education of children is a sacred responsibility. Mrs. Eddy refers to them as "the hope of our race" (Pul. 9:2). They are most certainly in need of proper education and discipline; and Christian Science shows also that the larger children need to be disciplined, or to discipline themselves, just as the smaller ones need to be properly educated or disciplined. In order that they may bring "into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ." (II Cor. 10:5).

It is not possible for you or for me to foretell exactly the progress that will be made; to foresee in detail the magnificent blessings which will accrue to mankind as this true or correct education of children becomes more general. With growing army of clear, scientific thinkers the belief in evil will be much less readily accepted, and as these children gradually step into positions of authority and find themselves in places where their understanding has fuller scope and where they have greater privileges than ever of demonstrating true government, will not the universal brotherhood of man be seen as a demonstrable fact rather than as a beautiful theory, which so many people to-day believe can never become practical? The kingdom of heaven is at hand. Christian Science is demonstrating or proving it, and day by day it is being more clearly recognized that the children are indeed "the hope of our race."

HEALING THROUGH CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

The Way-shower, Christ Jesus, the Founder of Christianity, showed us how to get rid of the belief in sickness. He not only knew, but was able to demonstrate, the truth; the knowledge of which, he declared, would make us free. As Jesus showed us, so in Christian Science, the healing is not the result of struggling with a belief in sickness as it were something real to be overcome. Healing through Christian Science treatment is the inevitable result of a demonstrable knowledge of the truth. As we rouse ourselves to recognize the truth revealed by Christian Science—to understand that after all the teaching of Jesus is not only true, but demonstrable, we are in a position to refute these erroneous statements, thoughts or suggestions to the effect that man is sick or controlled by sin. Then it is that that which is incomprehensible to the carnal mind or physical senses occurs unfailingly,—the sick are healed and the sinner is reformed.

I feel sure, however, that at this point someone would like to ask, "Yes, but how is the healing actually brought about?" The answer is briefly—through prayer. In the chapter on Prayer in Science and Health, page 1, Mrs. Eddy writes, "Desire is prayer;" and she states also that "no loss can occur from trusting God with our desires, that they may be moulded and exalted before they take form in words and in deeds." In my own experience, as in the experience of innumerable others, one of the greatest blessings and revelations of Christian Science is the understanding of how to pray aright.

Here, however, one might perhaps be thinking, "What can there be to pray about if, as Christian Science teaches, God, Spirit, or divine Mind is all and man is His expression or reflection?" The answer is that just so long as there is any belief in the presence, power and effect of evil, it will be necessary to pray without ceasing. Prayer is not only a desire for a knowledge of the truth; it also exemplifies or demonstrates it. For example, suppose you know something about Christian Science and have demonstrated the truth of what you understand by healing yourself of some physical trouble, and someone comes to you and asks for Christian Science treatment, because he is suffering. In asking for treatment the patient is reaching out for Truth. His honest desire is prayer, but probably rather along the lines of blind faith; whereas the prayer of the Christian Scientist would be based upon spiritual understanding, the understanding or knowledge of the truth about God, and man as His perfect reflection; which is true, even while the patient is believing something quite the contrary. As the Master stated and proved, and as Christian Science teaches, that understanding of the truth makes free, because it destroys the erroneous or false belief about man, and the patient, being honest and receptive, experiences the answer to his prayer, or is healed through Christian Science treatment.

There is perhaps no greater joy, nothing more satisfactory, than the knowledge Christian Science gives you that it is man's privilege here and now to recognize and demonstrate his true nature or Godlikeness in other words, to be what you actually are all the time.

Now surely the spiritual understanding of man in his true nature, or "the expression of God's being" (Science and Health, p. 470:23), cannot fail to heal, and what is more, does not fail to heal. Of course the patient may not understand exactly how the healing takes place, but there is no question that he is conscious of the fact when the physical trouble, from which he believed he was suffering, is healed, and he leaves the presence of the Christian Scientist a free, well man.

Recognising, affirming and demonstrating the truth about God, man and the universe constitutes prayer. There is a beautiful and remarkable definition of prayer in the words of one of the hymns in the Christian Science Hymnal:—

"Prayer is the heart's sincere desire,
Uttered or unexpressed;
The motion of a hidden fire
That trembles in the breast."

"Prayer is the Christian's vital breath,
The Christian's native air;
His watchword overcometh death—
He enters heaven with prayer."

All down the centuries mankind has prayed; and did not the Master say, "When ye pray, believe that ye receive" (Mark 11:24). Do people generally pray in that way to-day, do you think? The fact is that to the extent that the desire or prayer is honest will that prayer be answered. Then if we honestly desire to do God's will and not our own, we shall be able to obey with rejoicing.

It would be difficult to find a more beautiful or simple prayer than the one in the first verse of one of Mrs. Eddy's hymns, a hymn ineffably tender and abundant in healing. In the first four lines:—

"Shepherd, show me how to go
O'er the hillside steep;
How to gather, how to sow,
How to feed Thy sheep?"

We find beautifully expressed that childlike desire to be shown the way. In the next two lines is expressed the determination to listen for God's voice:—

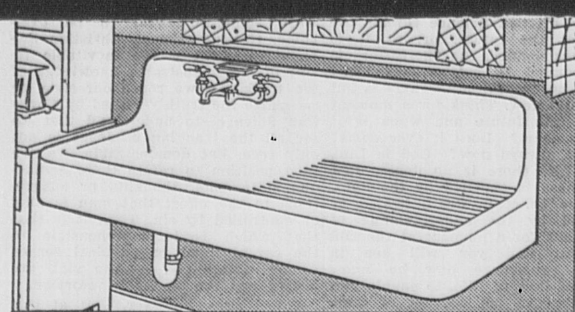

"I will listen for Thy voice,
Lest my footsteps stray;
Listening, we certainly hear for actually the voice of Truth is the only voice. Then, to quote further the same hymn:—

"I will follow and rejoice
All the rugged way."

Here we have the expression of the determination to follow the voice or guiding of Truth, and in so doing comes the ability to "rejoice all the rugged way." But why, one might ask, should one rejoice when the way is rugged? The answer is that to the extent that we understand what Mrs. Eddy has revealed, we see that we are able to eliminate the mistaken sense of self, or the belief in a selfhood apart from God.

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Newtonville Garden Club

The Newtonville Garden Club announces an illustrated lecture on "Old Chinese Gardens," by Miss Grace Boynton, of Yenching University, China, on May 25th, at 10.30 a.m., at the Newtonville Woman's Club House, Washington park. Tickets at 35 cents may be obtained from Garden Club members, or admission may be paid at the door.

The Newtonville Garden Club originally was a unit of the Newtonville Woman's Club, an outgrowth of its conservation committee; members becoming so interested in this delightful activity that they carried it forward in a committee gathering that developed into a club that now has a membership of many who are not members of the Woman's Club. The Woman's Club members, therefore, are especially interested in this offering.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

On Friday, May 12th, the American Home department of the West Newton Women's Educational Club enjoyed a May Breakfast at the home of Mrs. B. Howard Lester, 203 Mt. Vernon street, West Newton. The committee in charge of the breakfast was composed of Mrs. D. Webster Anders, chairman; Mrs. Edgar P. Hay, Mrs. George D. Thomas, and Mrs. Harry S. Wells.

A most entertaining and instructive lecture on landscape gardening was given by "The Two Happy Gardeners," Mrs. Helen S. Randall and Mrs. Mabel C. Green of Wakefield. A clever and amusing little "Japanese Fantasy," written by Mrs. Alfred E. Thayer, chairman of the American Home department, was presented by Mrs. Louise Filene, Mrs. Roy A. Stinson, and Mrs. Carl Thomas.

On Friday, June 9th, the members of the Home Class have been invited by Mrs. Alfred E. Thayer to her summer home at Hull for a picnic. The invitation has been extended to the members of the Travel Class.

New England Conference

The fall meeting which attracts club women who delight to motor into the mountains to enjoy the brilliant foliage, and equally brilliant speakers and plans as presented by the Federation of State Federations, is scheduled to take place, September 19th-20th and 21st (Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday), at the Hotel Equinox, Manchester, Vermont.

Early notice is given so that those who may care to attend may make their plans, and save this time for this convention.

There are fifteen classes of exhibits for such members, and two for children. One of these is for children of the community (from 11 to 16 years of age) is permitted to enter, and the other is for any child under 11 years.

H. Elder, C. N. 1670M. Class 17, Children under 11 years, Arrangement same as for Class 16, Mrs. H. Augustine Smith, C. N. 2753, chairman.

For information as to groupings of flowers, containers, backgrounds to be furnished, or for judging points, exhibitors should call the chairman as listed for any class in which they are interested.

The Show, which is open to the public, will be visited by many townfolk who annually enjoy these colorful events, and the date should be remembered—June 13th.

State Federation

DICKINSON-BAGGS TAVERN. An excuse to motor to beautiful Amesbury is given to clubwomen who enjoy such a trip and a friendly group or a picnic outing. Holiday by the announcement that this historic tavern is to be opened in June. For the three opening days Mrs. Edward

M. Cox, of Milton, recording secretary of the State Federation, will be the hostess, exact dates to be announced later. Other hostesses will assist during the summer. The tavern is maintained for the benefit of the Mothercraft Maintenance Fund, and is owned by Mrs. May Dickinson Kimball, founder of Mothercraft in the State Federation, it having descended in her family.

Mrs. Kimball will spend the summer at the tavern, and at her adjacent homestead, both of which are filled with a lifetime's collection of antiques. Here visitors will see the lovely section of the United States and Canada, if the custom of previous years prevails.

ANNUAL MEETING. Over 1500 clubwomen of the State had gathered at the State House, Swampscott, on Tuesday for the three-day Convention, and more would be there for Wednesday. The weather promised a delightful sojourn by the sea, for skies were blue, and still air, at this writing; the ocean equally blue; flowers blooming; and clubwomen were in this delightful reunion of state-wide friends, but were equally blooming with enthusiasm and pleasure.

Monday evening saw many officials of the clubs already established at the hotel, and a gala dinner celebrated the arrival of the president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs—Grace Morrison Poole, who was surrounded and feted and altogether spoiled by admiring friends and associates, if that very level head of hers could be so endangered. They declared that she was fairly dazzling in a lovely dinner gown of flowered white chiffon of pastel hues.

One may imagine the surprise, possibly dismay, of one of the Rotarians whose Convention is also being held at the New Ocean House, in a large gathering, which Mrs. Poole addressed Monday, when she answered one of his questions in this quick-witted manner: "Do the women's clubs do the same work we do?" was his query (did it show lack of knowledge or did it smack of patronage, the age-old superiority-complex of the deluded male? Whichever it was, and especially if the latter woman put him in his place, as usual, and so delightfully naively) and Mrs. Poole countered: "Bless your heart! We're your grandmothers."

Mrs. Poole says she never was so happy in her life as she is in her work for the clubwomen of the world—yes, she is a world figure, although some, still sleeping, do not know it yet—and she looks it. Hard work agrees with her and she loves problems—the harder the better, for the more satisfaction in the solving—and this is proven in that she has added fifteen pounds to her slight figure that are very becoming.

Just returned from a whirlwind tour of six weeks through the middle west to California, Mrs. Poole said in an interview that she finds the women are measuring up to the present emergency and wherever she has been the conventions are the largest ever held.

"I find a general tendency for younger women to take control and a tremendous growth in the junior movement all over the country," she declared, "and we are growing. We shall report 250 new clubs at our Richmond convention next week, largely from the extreme South and the middle West."

"Two things I am advocating for our women. We must be better home makers than we ever have been, as far as keeping up the morale is concerned, and we must keep our young people out of the 'forgotten' generation. In trying to balance our financial budget, I am not at all sure that we are not going to unbalance our human budget."

The outstanding business of Tuesday—other events of these days will be given in this Column in the next two weeks—was by all odds the Resolutions presented for a first reading by Mrs. Leon E. Conwell, chairman. That the clubwomen heartily approved them was most evident, so that their adoption will go through unanimously, undoubtedly. Timely and courageous Mrs. Poole's statement to the Rotarian has decided foundation.

A Resolution opposing cheap radio programs stated without mincing of words the impressions of "listening women" who like something higher than trash to assuage the ear. To all commercial interests, it might be well if that phrase "listening women" meant something that set them thinking of the power of women through the clubs. Decrying certain types of radio programs the Resolution deplored the fact that "many of the broadcasts expressly for the entertainment of children, feature stories of melodrama, unpleasant and peevish tones of voice too easily imitated and give false standards of action, altogether contrary to the ideals of character and beauty of expression, which we wish our children to possess." It concluded: "Recognizing the tremendous possibilities in the radio for the betterment of education, for the promotion of ideals and character, for quickening the imagination to an appreciation of the beauties of life, we hereby put ourselves on record as opposing the cheap, volatile and exciting program and pledge ourselves to support in all ways possible the program that fosters beauty, character and a richer contact with truth."

A second Resolution of note endorsed suitable action for the continuance of the State Division of Smoke Inspection as a measure of vital economic and health interest to the State of Massachusetts, and was presented by Miss Marian Nichols, of Boston.

General Federation

COUNCIL MEETING. "This is the first Council Meeting of the present administration. Questions of vital importance are facing our organization, and these United States needs the intelligent cooperation of all its loyal citizens. May I urge you to make every effort to attend." So speaks Grace Morrison Poole, president of the General Federation, in her official call for the Biennial Council to be held in Richmond, Virginia, May 23rd to 26th.

This 1933 meeting of the General Federation promises to be one of the most timely and vital gatherings the Federation has ever held. The touch of Mrs. Poole's hand and mind already has made the Federation vibrant with hope and enthusiasm. No one believes more strongly that the success of the American scheme depends upon active, mobilized public opinion, than does the dynamic president of the General Federation.

Already indications point to a large attendance of delegates from every state in the Union, so that perhaps Mrs. Poole's appeal was answered by interested clubwomen even before it was voiced.

(Incidentally, Newton has at least three delegates who will attend the meeting—Mrs. Corabelle Francis, representing the Newton Community Club; Mrs. Ernest F. Drew, president of the Auburndale Woman's Club; and Mrs. Frank H. Stewart of Newton Centre.)

Special speakers of interest will cover a variety of fields. Admirers of Angela Morgan will be delighted to know that she will be one of the evening speakers. Not only is she the author of a number of volumes of poetry, but she will be remembered as the author of the poem "The Unknown Soldier" which she read over the tier of the Unknown Soldier in the rotunda of the capitol in Washington. She also has the distinction of being the first woman to occupy the pulpit of Chapel Royal, Savoy, London, when she gave an author's reading. Miss Morgan will take as her subject "What It Means to Write a Poem," and she will present many of her best known works.

Another distinguished woman scheduled to speak is our own Mrs. Anna C. M. Tillinghast, Commissioner of Immigration for New England at the port of Boston. Massachusetts hopes that she may be able to keep this engagement, and all have been distressed to learn of her unfortunate accident in her home, resulting in a broken leg.

"The Marches on" is the clarion title of an address to be given on the closing evening of the meeting by Washington's brilliant news commentator, Mr. William Hard.

Another speaker is Mr. Lewis E. Lawes, warden of Sing Sing Prison, who will have as his subject "Prisons and Prisoners."

Nation-wide interest of clubwomen attaches to the radio hour of 11:30 a. m. to 12:30, on May 24th, through the courtesy of the National Broadcasting Association, when Mrs. Poole's principal address will be given, and the highlights of the nine major departments will be presented briefly by the chairmen, these being American Citizenship, American Home, Education, Mrs. Fred L. Pigeon, of Massachusetts; Fine Arts, International Relations, Juniors, Legislation, Press and Publicity, and Public Welfare.

Morning sessions will open at 9:15 and close at 12:15 and departments also will hold individual sessions in the afternoon, so conserving time and yet allowing opportunity for deliberations. Luncheons have already been planned by these departments as social features.

Of course there will be formal dinners, receptions, greetings from notables, Governor Pollard giving an address of welcome on the opening night, Tuesday, this being known as Virginia Night, and a signal honor of a Tea given by the Governor at the Executive Mansion on Wednesday afternoon; hospitality of various hostesses in their homes and gardens, or in interesting hotels or historical buildings; and trips to various points of interest, historical or of scenic beauty. Monday, the 22nd, the day preceding the opening of the convention, is filled with festivities, including a dinner by the Virginia Federation to officers, board of directors, board of trustees, State presidents, department and division chairmen, and Virginia hostesses, held at the John Marshall Hotel, the official headquarters. The day following the close of the convention is to be "Play Day," with a trip to Williamsburg, Yorktown, and Jamestown.

The Walter H. Woods Company has announced an itinerary and train schedule, for the convenience and economy of clubwomen, leaving Boston on Sunday, May 21st, at 4:30 p. m., at a cost of $64.75 to $67.75, exclusive of meals. The party arrives at Richmond, Monday, the 22nd, at 8:50 a. m., and will be quartered at the John Marshall Hotel, headquarters, in rooms with bath and twin beds. Returning, they will leave Richmond at 7:10 a. m., on Saturday, May 27th, reaching Boston at 9:55 p. m.

PUBLIC BECOMING ART CONSCIOUS

Proof that the general public is growing more art conscious was evinced at the art lectures offered by the Vesper George School of Art in Boston during Art Week. An audience varying from three hundred to four hundred more than trebled last year's attendance. Refreshments were served by students in peasant costumes who were also present Saturday morning when a puppet performance was given by students of the theatre department. A similar entertainment will be offered at the school during the annual exhibition of students' work May 29 through June 4.

CHESTNUT HILL
NEXT WEEK

The seventeenth Annual Spring Flower Show of the Chestnut Hill Garden club will be held May 23rd to 26th at the Parish House, Hammond st., Chestnut Hill, daily from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. The show will be open to members at 5 P. M. on Tuesday, May 23.

Judging of classes 7, 8 and 10 by the members will take place at 9 P. M. A meeting will follow at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Irving F. Marshall, 394 Hammond st.

There will be an admission charge for children Wednesday and Thursday. Friday will be free.

The committee in charge of the show comprises Mrs. Irving C. Wright, chairman; Mrs. Henry V. Greenough, Mrs. John H. Harwood, Mrs. Irving F. Marshall, Mrs. John P. Ramsey and Mrs. Edwin S. Webster.

Among the many interesting classes of exhibits which they have arranged is one never before shown in Boston — the Silhouette Class — sponsored by Mrs. John H. Cunningham. The flower arrangement in this exhibit is placed behind a cloth screen and is projected in shadow outline on the screen by an electric lamp at the back. The thirteen other exhibits include a men's class, a showing of new and rare plants, sections of border planting done by skilled gardeners and an employees' class. A masonry background will afford an unusually good setting for the outdoor small garden exhibit, which it is hoped will offer suggestions for many who may be planning or rearranging a small house garden this year.

NORUMBEGA COUNCIL, INC. BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

The Council has received with deepest regret the news of the death of Dr. Waldo Walker, Chairman of the Troop Committee and organizer of Troop 6, Newtonville.

One hundred and fifty Scouts reported to the Nobscot Reservation on Saturday afternoon for the third Annual Norumbega Camporee. Patrols from the following troops reported in full camping order to take part in this affair: Newton District, Troops 3, Nonantum; 4A (2) and 4B (2) of the Highlands; 5, Centre; 6, Newtonville (2); 7B, West Newton; 7C, West Newton, 2 Scouts, others kept away for good reason and these two showed the spirit, that they were going to take part anyway! 11, Newton (2); Ship 13, Seascout Division; 15, Auburndale; 18, Newton Centre — the entire Troop!; Troop 21, Centre, Troop 22, Centre, Wellesley District, Troops 1, 2A and B, 5 and 7. From outside, Troops 11 and 24, Boston, were represented and 4, Brookline.

After registering at the Monson Lodge, each Patrol Leader was given a sheet of instructions which gave a compass directions for reaching a given point. The course was laid through the woods, to see how the packs would stand up, some did not but most of the packs did. At the destination, were Messrs. Lichtenthaller, Walton and Ed Patterson, who inspected the packs. After dismissing from this point, they had to follow a Scout trail to the camp-site and, once there, after catching a breath, they started to set up camp. Some chose open field, some chose hardwood growth and some chose the pine grove.

Shortly, the sound of axes began, as tents were set up and wood squads began to get busy. It was most interesting to watch the Scouts themselves organize their respective groups, for this entire program, except for camp-fire and Scouts' own, was under the boy Patrol Leaders. Camps and kitchens were neat and the menus and cooking, on the whole excellent. Shortly before nine, the whole camporee, including the judges who were present, filed silently into the camp-fire area, where the Rovers had laid and lighted a fire, and there was a short program.

Next morning, one or two ambitious groups were somewhat unpopular. Stirred by hunger and rays of the rising sun, they were cutting wood shortly after five o'clock! However, by six-thirty, the entire camp was up, and breakfast fires curling into the air and all sorts of appetizing odors floating under twitching nostrils, with choruses of "When do we eat?" — it wasn't wise to be a poor cook that morning!

At eight-thirty, the Scouts and Scouters assembled at the call for Scouts' Own in the pine grove. Seated under the pines, whispering in the light wind, in the "chequered shade" — a fitting temple for the church service — there were prayers, singing of hymns, repetition of the Scout Oath and a splendid talk on What Nature Can Teach Us by Mr. John M. Bierer, President of the Council.

After the service, which was stirring and inspiring, Scouts went about their daily program. About two o'clock, various groups began to break camp and by four-thirty the final inspection had been done. Their work and one would have had to search closely to find camp-sites; the land was left scrupulously clean.

Silver Fox Patrol, Troop 11, Newton and Flying Eagle Patrol of Troop 4A, Highlands, tied for first place with 93%. They were present with penants at the final assembly in the amphitheatre by Teddy Tullbach, the Patrol Leader of the Panther Patrol of Troop 24, Boston, which won first place last year. These two were rated Class A as was the Bear Patrol of Troop 4B, Highlands.

Following were given a Class B rating: Wolf Patrol, Panther Patrol, Eagle Patrol of Troop 24, Boston; Beaver Patrol of Troop 4A, Highlands; Pine Tree Patrol of Troop 4, Brookline; Flaming Arrow Patrol of Troop 6, Newtonville; Eagle Patrol of Troop 18, Centre.

Following were given Class C rating: Reuben Patrol of 15, Auburndale; White Eagle Patrol of 4B, Highlands; Black Arrow of 11, Newton; Stag of 7B, West Newton; Eagle of 5, Newton Centre; Beaver and Otter of 18, C Centre; Hawk of 6, Newtonville.

The third annual outdoor Court of Honor at the Nobscot Reservation will be conducted by the Eagle Circle on Friday evening, May 26th, at the Reservation amphitheatre at 8:20 o'clock. The usual program with dramatic fea-

Aged Persons
At Swedish Home

A fire at the Swedish Home for the Aged at 206 Waltham st., West Newton late Monday morning necessitated the removal from the building of twenty-six persons who reside at the home. The staff at the home, under the direction of Matron Daisy Stockwell, assisted the aged men and women from the building without any undue excitement. The fire was discovered by Mrs. Christina Halberg, 82, when she noticed smoke seeping into her room. Workmen had been engaged in placing a stucco coating on the walls of one section of the building and it is supposed that a lighted cigarette butt started a blaze among lathes between one of the walls. The damage, caused largely by smoke, did not amount to more than $1000, according to Chief Randlett, and the fire was quickly extinguished.

THOMAS W. WHITE HONORED

Thomas W. White of 1173 Boylston st., Newton Upper Falls was honored on May 17th when a testimonial dinner will be held at the Copley Plaza Hotel, Boston in recognition of the 27 years public service which Mr. White has given. He will shortly retire as Collector of Internal Revenue. Other positions which Mr. White has filled have been — Alderman of the City of Newton, Representative to the State Legislature and Commissioner of Administration and Finance of the Commonwealth. Among the many prominent men who comprise the committee in charge of the affair are: Leverett Saltonstall, Charles E. Hatfield and James L. Richards of this city.

IMPRESSION

The dance recital by the pupils of Miss Mary Stanley last Friday evening at the Newton Centre Woman's Club House for the aid of the Florence Crittenton League of Boston created a favorable impression with those who saw it, both for the execution of the artists and for the aesthetic stage settings.

Miss Stanley in three solo dances — proved herself a versatile, graceful and highly trained artist, while the number in which she and Mr. Norman Lloyd danced an exhibition waltz, was one of the finest items of the program — the group and solo numbers of the pupils were very original in conception and as students' work, remarkably well performed. Among the most striking of the former were "The Re-satta," "Joy Bells," "Brittany Peasants" and "Autumn Leaves," and solos of special note were danced by Betty Banker, Olivia Bigelow Hastings and Jane Robertson.

Music was supplied by Mr. H. Stanley and Mrs. Raymond Simonds, piano. Mr. Kenneth Hastings, violin, and Mr. Watson Baker, cello.

A WORTHWHILE MOVIE

It is seldom we find occasion to comment upon a motion picture attraction, but we have been greatly impressed with one which is soon to be shown locally. It was our privilege a few weeks ago, along with a group of newspaper publishers and editors, to witness a private showing of "Gabriel Over the White House." The picture is one of the most worthwhile movies that we believe has ever been filmed. It is entertaining, as well as educational. While some may not approve of the methods the screen President uses to meet various problems and while some may feel that it savors strongly of propaganda regarding war debts, racketeering, and unemployment, we believe it has considerable constructive value, to a greater extent than any other motion picture we have seen.

Under The Gilded Dome

Legislative work on Beacon Hill has speeded up a little during the past week and it is believed that the Legislature will adjourn before the middle of June. A number of important matters have still to be decided which may take considerable time to settle and thus prolong the session. Among these matters are the tax program, the financial situation of the Boston Elevated as it affects certain bond issues which will fall due shortly, the Judge Stone case, and a number of other debatable matters of lesser importance. It is expected that the Committee on Ways and Means will report a taxation bill into the House some time next week. The Boston Elevated situation is on the House calendar for next Monday and a lengthy debate is expected. The committee on Judiciary has voted 10 to 5 to report the petition requesting the Governor to remove Judge Stone from the District Court bench but the matter is not expected to be brought up in the House for another ten days or two weeks.

On Monday the House of Representatives sustained the Governor's veto of a bill for regulating the marking and use of State-owned motor vehicles by a roll-call vote of 122 to 86 the 122 votes being less than the two-thirds needed to override the veto. Representatives Baker, Brimblecom and Luitwieler voted to override the Governor.

On Tuesday an attempt was made to reconsider Monday's vote where by Massachusetts representation in an exhibit at the World's Fair in Chicago was denied. By a roll-call vote of 93 to 122 reconsideration did not prevail. Newton's three Representatives voted against reconsideration of the matter.

The same afternoon the resolve providing for an investigation of prevailing rates and charges of the telephone company was referred to the next session on the recommendation of the Ways and Means Committee. The roll-call vote was 100 in favor of putting the matter over and 94 to have the investigation immediately. Representatives Baker, Brimblecom and Luitwieler voted for the committee recommendation.

On Wednesday Newton's three Representatives also voted on roll-call in favor of a bill relative to the unauthorized practice of law and prohibiting certain acts and practices and bill was passed to be engrossed, 135 to 79.

At Thursday's session another veto of the Governor was sustained. During the banking holidays a measure was passed setting up an advisory

SCHOOL CHATS

An authoritative article each week covering important and interesting phases of public school organization and activity. Prepared under the direction of the School Department.

CABINETMAKING IN THE NEWTON TRADE SCHOOL

Cabinetmaking is one of the oldest trades. Nearly every building, be it home, factory or office building contains something made by cabinetmakers—showcases, cupboards and closets, store and office fixtures, furniture of all kinds.

Modern industry does not teach the trade of cabinetmaking, but it is willing, even anxious, to employ trained cabinetmakers. About twelve years ago an experienced workman in this trade was heard to remark, "They are not training any apprentices to be good cabinetmakers. We have no young men coming along." That man evidently was not aware that several trade schools in the State are training boys to become cabinetmakers and what is more, that there was a school with such a course of instruction right in his home town. There is such a school right here in Newton. Did you know it?

The old way for a boy to learn this, or any of the other accepted trades, was to serve a long period of apprenticeship under experienced workmen until he had mastered his trade. The modern practice in industry is to "break in" a boy or man on one machine or on one operation and then keep him on that particular job. Such a man, skilled in one type of job only, is an operator.

If boys are to be trained to become cabinetmakers, rather than operators, it remains for the trade school to do the training. Training of this type is offered in the cabinetmaking course at the Newton Trade School.

The general purpose of this course is to train the pupil in modern methods of cabinet construction and, at the same time, give him the related technical training which he would be unable to get as an apprentice. When a boy has successfully completed this course, he will have sufficient training to enable him to enter the trade, discounting at least two of the three years of apprenticeship required. This statement is substantiated by the fact that the graduates of Newton Trade School enter the trade at a rate of pay considerably higher than those without previous training, and their rate of advancement is much more rapid.

An interview with the production manager of a Boston furniture factory, specializing in high grade reproductions, shows the employer's view point with reference to vocational training.

Speaking of a Newton Trade School graduate, he referred to him as the best young man in their employ, and said that, because of his training, he was head and shoulders over the rest of the boys, who were without vocational training. He also stated that at the rate this boy was progressing he would be shop foreman within three years.

In discussing the subject further, the executive said that the shop was built around men with vocational training and that they were the pivot points in their respective groups. He looked upon them as natural leaders and said that he gave them the preference when considering promotions and retained them in slack periods.

In the Newton Trade School, pupils are assigned individual projects covering a wide range of fundamental operations, so that the various principles of construction and design are covered. By this method a boy performs every operation necessary and turns out a finished product for which he alone is responsible. In some cases, where several articles of a kind are to be made, the operations are divided among several boys, following the factory production system. Many people have been amazed at the remarkably fine work produced by the boys in the Cabinet Department of the Newton Trade School. They have made some splendid reproductions of colonial furniture in maple and mahogany, bedroom sets, desks, tables, chairs, cabinets and mirrors. For the school department they have made gymnasium and kindergarten equipment, erected office partitions, made work-benches, stage scenery and lunchroom equipment.

In the last five years, including the years of 1930-1931—2933 boys have graduated from the cabinetmaking department. One hundred fifty-nine are known to have become employed at an average entering wage of $13.44 per week.

It pays to learn a trade!

Aldermen Junk 25 Year Old Junk Policy

The Newton Board of Aldermen on Monday night discarded a policy which Boards of Aldermen in this city for more than a quarter of a century have respected. This was—the policy of refusing to grant junk licenses in this city to outside junk dealers. The change came on the petition of Horace Z. Landon. Landon gave as his place of business—15 Lane st., Waltham. Alderman Temperley asked why the Licenses Committee had departed from the old policy. He said the Aldermen of 25 years have refused to grant additional junk licenses and also have refused to grant licenses to other than Newton junk dealers.

Alderman Hawkins, chairman of the Licenses Committee, replied that the petitioner, Landon, resides on Thaxter rd., Newtonville, and that the license does not add to the number of junk dealers in Newton. It replaces a junk license held by Morris Greenwald, who died recently. When Mr. Hawkins gave this information, a number of the Aldermen gave Temperley a contemptuous laugh. The Ward 5 Aldermen are not held as heavy timber by many of his fellow members. He disagrees too frequently with them. While it is true that the Ward 5 Aldermen is mid-Victorian, or even early Victorian in many of his views, and sometimes appears to err in his advice, he usually is right. He is unwavering in his sincere loyalty to the interests of the city and the taxpayers and is never actuated by motives of political expediency. A few of the Aldermen who gave Temperley the loudest "equine guffaw" on Monday night are consistent "Young men" who would be more for the city's welfare if they would with greater frequency say "Oh Yeah."

Despite Alderman Hawkins' apparently ingenious explanation, the granting of the junk license to Landon is a radical departure from the former policy. Landon is a resident of this city, but he lives in a residence zone where a junk license cannot be granted. Several years ago Jacob Cron, who resided at Waltham, and like Landon conducted his business there, applied for a junk license in Newton. He was refused the license and was consistently turned down. Finally, Cron bought a house at 101 Lexington st., Auburndale thinking that by residing there he could get the junk license. He was again refused the license because 101 Lexington st. is in a residence zone. Last year Cron finally obtained a license, but he had to establish his junk business on West st., Nonantum, in a manufacturing zone, before his petition was granted. So, Mr. Hawkins' explanation on Monday night was not as convincing as it seemed to one not conversant with details of Aldermanic procedure in past years—or as it apparently seemed to some of the Aldermen who have been members of the Board for some years and who ought to remember the Cron situation.

The skill of Fred Dorten in drawing portraits of Newton citizens is attracting many to his smoke shop at 364 Centre st. Fred, like many other persons with artistic ability, is adjusting his talents to meet the times.

An announcement was made last week that some generous person had presented the Newton Hospital with a "Coke" Inhalator for the treatment of hiccups. Because of the legalizing of the sale of beer and the expected repeal of the 18th Amendment, there may be an increased need for such a device.

The water which came from the faucets at our residence on Pearl st., Newton yesterday and this morning was so dirty that one hesitated to use it for bathing, and certainly would not use it for drinking or cooking purposes. And the beer that is being sold doesn't appeal to our taste.

If the telephone company hadn't cut down the number of operators at its exchanges so drastically, it is quite probable the service would not have become so punk as it is. Overworked girls can't be blamed.

We have received a letter from the Merrimac Chemical Company of Everett relative to an item under this column in the GRAPHIC of April 21. This item referred to a disagreeable odor which sometimes wafts into Newton on damp days when an east wind is blowing, and which we said comes from a chemical plant at Everett. The executive of the Merrimac Chemical Company who wrote the letter to us asserts that the odor does not come from the plant of his company and invited us to go to Everett and inspect the plant. We informed the gentleman that we did not state the odor came from the Merrimac Chemical Company, but we feel quite sure that it does come from some one of the plants at Everett where chemicals are made. We accepted the gentleman's offer to visit his plant, and made a counter suggestion that the next time the odor reaches Newton, we will telephone to the plant for some representative to come to Newton and will proceed together to Everett in an effort to find just where the smell does originate.

ARREST YOUTH AT AUBURNDALE AS BURGLAR

Fred J. Walsh, 19, of 39 Rowe st., Auburndale, was arrested Tuesday night by Patrolman Brosnahan when the policeman caught him in the alleged act of attempting to break the rear door of the Boulevard Pharmacy at Lexington st. and Commonwealth ave., Auburndale. Walsh started to run when Brosnahan fired a shot at him. Walsh fell to the ground, pretending to have been hit, and when Brosnahan lifted him from the ground, the youth attempted to make a getaway. In the Newton court yesterday Walsh was charged with breaking into the Keyes Drug Store at Auburndale and stealing $25; breaking into the office of the Colonial Filling Station at Auburndale. Walsh pleaded guilty to the several charges against him and was bound over to the Grand Jury under $3000 bail.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. Bentley

Some people can talk long and eloquently but when it comes to ideas their minds are like Old Mother Hubbard's cupboard.

What oddly assorted emotions go with the ownership of a good book. I use the adjective because—well, who wants to possess the other kind? The book must mean something beyond sentiment and yet if it disappears you feel cut up about it. When first purchased it represents an addition to your library. Then a friend drops in, scans the pages and asks the right to borrow. You don't want to see the book go out and yet you want the friend to share the enjoyment it provides. So the book is loaned. Maybe it comes back. If it doesn't and you ponder on its loss, it then becomes one of the very best you ever owned. And yet it may be returned at some later day and if so—back it goes to the shelf among the almost forgotten.

You may be one of those who have occasion to refer to the Manual of the General Court of Massachusetts. Every two years a limited edition is printed. Senators and Representatives are allotted 30 for their own use and distribution among constituents. The volume contains the U. S. and State constitutions, lists of all State elective and appointive officers, judges, district attorneys, medical examiners and a lot of other things. Well, some years the legislators get few calls for it from constituents, but with the depression, I am told, there has come a great demand from the voters. "People are out of work and have time to find out more about the State government and who runs it," a Representative explained. Score another point in favor of hard times.

Last summer, at as cosy a home as there is in Newton, I was introduced to a remarkable canary. The mistress showed me that the bird was unusually intelligent because it had learned to dunk crackers in the water cup of its cage. "I was envious, naturally. Not at the science of dunking but because there were no dunkers in my backyard. Now at the bird-bath which I possess there is this summer a startling dunk while perched on the rim of the pool. Cake or bread, they both get soaked. Come to think of it, starlings look alike. Maybe I'm entertaining a flock of dunkers. All the better.

Mystery Explained

The bill-posters for the circus had no sooner heralded the approach of the "greatest show on earth" than I began wondering at my own indifference. Why my disinclination to attend a bewitching, bewildering, etc., performance by the most gorgeous, colossal aggregation of the world's marvels and so on and more on that line? Where was the eagerness of yesterday—the yearning to be one of a gaping and captivated multitude? Had I lost my former longings for zoological, equestrian and aerial thrills?

The puzzle demanded study, review, examination and searching inquiry. I must ask myself, for hidden somewhere in the soul of man was the answer. Do people become wearied of circuses? No. According to joke-smiths, grown-ups never tire of seeking out youngsters to buy tickets for that they themselves may have a legitimate excuse for attending. Had I seen too many? Possibly, but hardly a satisfactory explanation as one never can get enough of a good thing. Ah! Just a moment! That's it. The street parade is no more and this circus appetite of mine demands a flip—the old time procession thoroughfares. Without that there can be no real circus—at least for me.

Swiftly I recalled the grand free pageant of horses, caged animals, military, cowboy and clown bands, chariots, golden floats, graceful women and riders costumed as ladies and knights; elephants, camels, ponies, plumes, pennants and to top off—the callopes. The spectacle invariably aroused my enthusiasm to the highest pitch. Yet without this glittering galaxy, as the evidence proves, I could not get steamed-up.

"Hold your horses, the elephants are coming!" That warning cry will never perish from my memory, which began absorbing such things in the days when automobiles were barely in the picture. I was one of the rabble that followed the band. Today I would do the same. No more circus parades to be followed. Traffic regulations would be all upset and business tied-up and this that would be inconvenient. Too bad. I'd love to see another circus parade. Must be the Gypsy in me.

nothing about it. Possibly you think there is little that can be done under such circumstances except to indulge in an orgy of reminiscence. Until recently I held the same opinion; held it tenaciously until it was broken and shattered by a circumstance of last week.

It took a strong, vigorous, gray-haired gentleman of 60 to prove to me that man may do more than sit quietly and lament of missed opportunities of his boyhood. This man, accompanied by his secretary, was driving near the South Station when the crowds were surging about the Royal Scot train or locomotive, cars and everything, brought to this country to be exhibited at the coming World's Fair in Chicago.

"What's going on?" inquired the man of affairs.

The secretary explained, whereupon the chauffeur was directed to stop in order that our elderly hero might inspect the foreign conveyance. The secretary slipped in ahead and explained to those in charge that his boss, whose name he gave, would like to see the train and go aboard. The request of so prominent a citizen demanded immediate attention and a prompt invitation was extended. Out of his car hopped the gentleman and aboard the Scottish train he clambered.

What did he do? Precisely what any boy would do. He poked all over the locomotive, jumped in the engineer's seat, tooted the whistle and rang the bell. Had the time of his life playing with the mechanism and equipment. His secretary was a trifle embarrassed although the officials were really delighted at their guest's enthusiasm.

Reluctantly the "big fellow" left the spot. Turning to his secretary he said, "Always wanted to do that as a boy and couldn't let the chance go by." Who wouldn't—if they had the nerve?

Judge John C. Lynch spoke at the Newton Kiwanis Club luncheon Tuesday, at the Charles River Country Club.

He stated that the total cost of investigation and law enforcement in this country annually totaled 13 billion dollars, and that the total cost of teaching in the United States schools was less than 3 billion dollars. He pointed out that while it cost $400 to keep an adult in jail, it cost about only $100 a year to educate a child.

Judge Lynch stated that if we were going to cut the government anywhere, we should not cut the cost of education. He hoped that more would be spent on education to the end that less would be needed to apprehend criminals and enforce law.

"Pare the expense of government," he said, "where it will do the least future harm. A very large percentage of criminals are in the 15 to 20 year age class and education, home influence, example of parents, New England members of the family, should all help to the end that less money be spent on the enforcement of law and more money spent on education."

George L. White, President of the Club turned over the chair for this meeting to James L. Gallagher, New England Clerk of Courts, who presided and who introduced Judge Lynch. Everett Ireland, Superintendent of the Somerville schools, will be the speaker at the Newton Kiwanis Club meeting next Tuesday, May 23, 1933.

Day Jr. High School

On the evening of May 19th there will be a concert of all the musical clubs in the school. It should be a splendid entertainment, well worth the thirty-five cents admission.

Several clubs have been enjoying field trips lately. The Print Design Club members visited the Boston Herald-Traveler building. On a personally conducted tour of the building, each child received a copy of the paper ten minutes before delivery to the trucks.

On the same day the Art-Needle Club members went to the Boston Art Museum. Of special interest to them were the beautiful old hand-made laces.

A committee of the Library Club has received special permission to visit the noted private library, the Boston Athenaeum.

The Illustrators' Club is planning to visit on Monday the studio of Mr. Daniels, the art supervisor of the city.

On Tuesday the boys of division III-F enjoyed a talk by Lieutenant H. B. Harris who discussed the subject of roof markers for aviation, and who told of aerological conditions in and about Boston and of the work of the Technology Aerological Station.

In an unscheduled game between the F. A. Day Varsity and the Harvard Bat Boys at the Harvard athletic field, the Day came out victorious with the score of 8 to 6. Fred Hertel pitched. Norman Sharp and George Whitehead were the catchers.

Says Newton Gives Suburban Living At Its Best

John R. Prescott Believes In The Garden City

The City of Newton has a world wide reputation for its attractive homes. It is almost exclusively a residential section, and is so highly developed that it has been named the "Garden City of the Commonwealth." Its attractions in respect to roads, parks, schools, social life and all that makes up suburban comfort, are so compelling, that when known, they go far in solving the problem of one's permanent home. To make Newton measure up to this standard, has been, and will continue to be, the effort of every city department supplemented by the co-operation of the Mayor, and a Board of Aldermen representing an electorate taking an unusual interest in civic matters.

The city gives liberal service to its residents: a public bath house and bathing beach at Crystal Lake—safeguarded for Newton residents; numerous supervised playgrounds; sidewalks cleared of snow; garbage and ashes removed free; Newton schools, both public and private, have a national reputation attracting high grade teaching talent. The High School courses are arranged for fitting students for college entrance. Seven colleges are within commuting distance, enabling students to attend them and live at home in Newton if they so desire.

Whether from the standpoint of accessibility, natural advantages, or investment, the Newton side of Suburban Boston is logically the most desirable. While many roads leading from Boston are through congested and unattractive routes, the spacious western avenues are naturally preferred by those who want to escape traffic delays. Only eight miles from the State House, Newton is easily and pleasantly reached. Whether one goes by automobile, trolley, or train the route is through the beautiful Back Bay section, along slightly avenues with a continuous unfolding of attractive suburban homes, culminating in those of Newton.

Newton building development has chiefly been in the hands of its citizens, who had a pride in its proper growth. The city's affairs are business like, comparable to that of a large business corporation. The Assessing Department which comes in closest touch with the taxpayer is earned by the laws of the commonwealth and by common sense. Its books, and its mind, are open to the public, and it has some reputation for uniform and equitable treatment of the property owners.

A survey of the past 25 years record shows that Newton has never been a case of overvaluation taken to the County Commissioners or to the Courts. The assessors have always adjusted such matters in friendly conference, and in cases where they may not have met every expectation, they have tried to make the operation as painless as possible.

Newton is particularly fortunate in its environment, adjoining as it does such towns as Brookline, Wellesley, and Weston. In the matter of transportation it has over 40 trains weekly to and from Boston. The fast express trains to and from New York City and from the West stop in Newtonville, enabling local passengers to board and leave these trains instead of going to Boston for that purpose. The first train over the Boston and Albany Railroad—April 9, 1834—seven years before "Angier's Corner," only as Newton station was then called.

NEW TYDOL GAS LUBRICATES AND PREVENTS CARBON

Following more than two years of intensive laboratory research and a close study of actual road tests covering more than 11,000,000 miles, the Tide Water Oil Company today announced a revolutionary change in the type of gasoline it will offer to the public as Triple "X" Tydol to be dispensed at all of its filling stations. The new product, identified as lubricating gasoline, contains secret combinations, derived from a petroleum base, for which startling claims are made by the company.

"This new Tydol is as revolutionary as were four-wheel brakes, free wheeling, draftless ventilation and automatic gear shifting," said J. D. Collins, General Sales Manager, in making the announcement. "So radical is it in principle that our decision to introduce it to the public was made only after we were assured by practically every large automobile manufacturer in the country that we were making a definite contribution to more efficient operation and a larger life for automobiles."

According to Mr. Collins, accurate tests of the new lubricating gasoline show that actual mileage is increased from four to eight per cent per gallon. Carbon formation is materially reduced, he says, and frozen piston rings and sticky valves eliminated, resulting in a reduction of valve grinding and a material lowering of overhaul costs.

"This new lubricating gasoline must not be confused with any of the so-called 'top cylinder dopes' being offered in small bottles at filling stations for the car owner to pour into his gas tank. This is an entirely new gasoline, scientifically blended in just the right proportions to penetrate to the parts most needing it."

FLOWER SHOW OPEN FOR ALL

The Newton Flower Show which is sponsored by the Newton Garden Club and which will be held at the Channing Church, Newton, on Wednesday and Thursday of next week, is open to all Newton residents for exhibiting. Detailed information may be secured by telephoning Mrs. Ralph N. Hall of Park St., Newton.

The public is cordially invited to attend this exhibit. Admission is free and tea will be served.

Christian Science Lecture

It follows also naturally that to the extent that we do follow God's guidance, we not only rejoice wholeheartedly, but we make no mistakes; or, if you will, we do as God does, by reflection. Have you or I really the audacity to tell the Deity or God what to do, or how to do it? But is not that what mankind has been doing for centuries? Let us be logical, and recognize, affirm and be grateful for the fact that God's work is perfect.

We certainly need to improve our feeble concept of God, man, and the universe, and as this improvement takes place, or as we wake up to a fuller recognition of reality, the false beliefs or inaccuracies vanish, die of their own inanition.

WATCHFULNESS.

The secret of Christian Science is right or true thinking, or watchfulness. If you will think for a moment you will realize how seldom mankind consciously watch what they are thinking; you will notice how seldom, generally speaking, they control their thoughts. Men and women are more or less careful what they say, but it takes Christian Science really to rouse one to watch one's thinking. This watchfulness in the practice of Christian Science is of paramount importance, and I will assure you that as you practise this right, true thinking and are willing not to admit a thought or suggestion that would interfere with your recognition and affirmation of the omnipresence and omnipotence of God or good, you will witness wonderful results, for Truth is power, and error is impotence and cannot stand.

This right thinking or watchfulness must be practised, not spasmodically, but consistently and persistently. Take for instance your daily paper. Can you afford to accept suggestions or statements of error, discord, disaster, fear, hatred, death? No. Then when you begin to appreciate the power of right thinking you will realize that to the extent you correct these suggestions, whether they appear to come from the Press, a book, or just as stray thoughts, you will be becoming world workers, because, as Mrs. Eddy writes on page 559 of Science and Health (lines 8-10), "The 'still, small voice' of scientific thought reaches over continent and ocean to the globe's remotest bound."

Once more, it is necessary to make a persistent effort in order to practise this right thinking, because the carnal, or as Mrs. Eddy defines it, the "so-called mortal mind," cannot recognize the things of Spirit or reality. Then it becomes clear how impossible it is in Christian Science to attempt to work by means of that mind or counterfeit mind. Would not that mind, claiming to know both good and evil, claim equally to accomplish evil as well as good? Being a counterfeit mind, however, it accomplishes nothing in reality, and only appears to when we believe it.

So we see that the Christian Scientist is learning not only to accept the truth as to the omnipresence and omnipotence of God as a theory, he is learning to prove it. How? Not merely with regard to his physical health, but also with respect to his home relations or personal affairs. And also with regard to the belief as evil operating as financial loss, failure in business, accident, as well as the large and small political questions of the day. To illustrate this latter point, suppose a student of Christian Science learns of a certain national or international difficulty said to be developing—one which might end in war—can he afford to accept such a declaration? Certainly not, if he is practising right thinking, because he realizes that in the kingdom of heaven, or in God's perfect creation, there is nothing that can produce misunderstanding, distrust, jealousy, or hatred, culminating in war. Realizing also the importance and power of right thinking, or the knowledge of the truth, he is freed from the sense of fear and goes on his way more than ever grateful and more than ever conscious of the irresistible power and presence of God or good. This intelligent and persistent refusal, through the practice of Christian Science, to accept the erroneous suggestions is effective and is accomplishing much.

So then, when some discordant situation or condition appears to arise and we accept it, we suffer from the effects of our own false belief and not from anything that counterfeit mind claims to do, because it is powerless. That is why anything like mesmerism, hypnotism, spiritualism, autosuggestion, psycho-analysis, all of which are based upon the belief in a mind knowing both good and evil, are quite foreign to Christian Science. No Christian Scientist could practise such methods, and were he to endeavour to do so he could no longer practise Christian Science.

Strange as it may sound to some of you perhaps, the world to-day is not free from every desire to bring about evil, strife, or even war, all for some ulterior purpose. Do you think that that condition of mind which attempted to kill the Christ by crucifying Jesus has at yet been silenced for ever? Do these sinister forebodings of evil disturb the Christian Scientist? No; for he realizes that the desire to do evil, or the seeming ability to accomplish evil, is powerless in the presence of the understanding of Truth. The watchful Christian Scientist merely allows these arguments of error or the carnal mind to remind him of the truth, and he knows that every effort of that carnal mind, however subtle it may seem to be, is proved to be powerless by the demonstration of the unalterable, ever-operative and irresistible law of God or good. In this way the lie of the belief in the activity of an evil so-called mind is refuted, proved to be untrue. This is its destruction.

Perhaps there is no more significant chapter in the New Testament than the thirteenth chapter of Mark's Gospel, where the Master reminds his followers of the urgent necessity for watching, and tells them how "many shall come in my name, saying, I am Christ; and shall deceive many." Also he said, "For false Christs and false prophets shall rise, to seduce, if it were possible, even the elect. But take ye heed; behold, I have foretold you all things." There is, therefore, surely no excuse for those who have a scientific understanding of the teaching of the Master to be deceived by fear, misled by fear, or overwhelmed by fear.

Christian Scientists have a scientific understanding of the Christ, Truth, revealed and taught by Jesus, and are, thanks to the discovery of Mary Baker Eddy, in a position to prove that "the Lord God omnipotent reigneth" (Rev. 19: 6), and they are ever mindful of the remarkable advice given by the Master (Mark 13:37), "What I say unto you I say unto all, Watch."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SIMPLE.

Christian Science is pre-eminently simple. Do not think there is anything involved in it. It is as simple as primitive Christianity. Let me say before you leave this hall that there is nothing to prevent your beginning without delay to put into practice what you now understand of this vast subject. You have only to begin to think logically, truly, scientifically. You need only honestly desire the truth and you will find it. Then as you commence and continue studying the Christian Science textbook you will join the ever-increasing throng of grateful men and women who find that all language fails when they try to express the gratitude they feel and owe to that wonderful woman, their beloved Leader, Mary Baker Eddy.

With regard to prayer; do not be afraid to pray. Pray in the best way you can and you will find that as your understanding of Christian Science increases, your prayers will become less petitions, but rather the joyful recognition, affirmation and demonstration of God's omnipresence and omnipotence. Mankind has slumbered all too long in the mesmeristic belief that the material is real and that man is made of matter. Christian Science sounds the clarion call to awake from sleep, and then Christ will give you light. Why pass the "fear of great price" by? The way is clear and all can walk in it who will.

(Hymnal No. 11):—"Why search the future and the past? Why do ye look with fearful eyes, And seek, far off, for Paradise? Beneath thy feet, Life's pearl is cast."

In Science and Health are these words (p. 174:17): "The thunder of Sinai and the Sermon on the Mount."

—Norway occupies the western half of the Scandinavian peninsula and has an area of about 125,000 square miles. Seventy per cent of Norway's area is barren land—mountain, moor, or glacier—uninhabitable by man. Of the entire area only 3,500 square miles are fit for agriculture. Dairy farming on co-operative basis is making great progress; butter and tinned milk are exported. Fishing is the principal occupation. There are about 2,000 miles of railways. Coastwise steamers serve all ports. The principal cities are Oslo (Christiania) the capital; Bergen, an important seaport with fishing and ship-building industry.

Bishop Probable Candidate For Re-Election

Warren L. Bishop of Wayland, District Attorney of Middlesex County, has issued a statement denying that he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Lieutenant Governor in 1934, as has been rumored. Mr. Bishop states that he is not a politician, is interested in and devoted to his duties as District Attorney, and may run again for this office when his term expires next year. He calls attention to the comparative freedom of Middlesex County from crimes of violence.

White Honored By Republicans

Wednesday night at the Copley-Plaza Hotel, Boston 150 friends of Thomas W. White of Newton Upper Falls, including many leading Republicans of this State, gathered to pay honor to the man who will shortly retire from the office of Collector of Internal Revenue. ## EDWARDS, BARITONE, SCORES

Albert Edwards, dramatic baritone of Newton, was soloist in the Boston Choralists section of the Pops Concert at Symphony Hall, Monday evening. The large audience gave Mr. Edwards an ovation when he appeared on the stage.

The solo group consisted of: (a) De Glory Road, Wolfe; (b) Ole Man River, Kern.

Mr. Edwards is inimitable in "De Glory Road." After "Ole Man River" he was forced to do an encore and used, "That's Why Darkies Were Born."

Mr. Edwards started his musical career here in Newton as a boy soprano in Grace Episcopal Church. He has held several church positions, among which are the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, New York City, and Dr. James Gordon Gilkey's South Congregational Church, Springfield.

—ALDERMEN PLACE LIMIT ON PETITIONS

In the future citizens of Newton will not have to journey to City Hall two or more times within a year to protest against petitions for gasoline stations and changes in zoning. The Board of Aldermen on Monday night adopted an amendment to the Rules and Orders of the Board of Aldermen relative to petitions addressed to the Board, the subject matter of which has been disposed of during the current year. With the passage of this amendment a petition which has been refused, cannot again, during the year be referred to any committee except by a majority vote of the Board, and refusal to refer it constitutes a denial on the ground that no further action is necessary.

Alderman Holden commended City Solicitor Bartlett for the manner in which he had handled this "very difficult problem." Alderman Temperley said that while he heartily favors the change, he thought the public should have a hearing on this matter. Alderman Grebenstein said nothing would be gained by a public hearing. Alderman Cronin, who is a lawyer, and is serving his first year on the Board, questioned the legality of the amendment. He asked City Solicitor Bartlett if it does not take away the constitutional right of a citizen to petition at any time.

Mr. Bartlett replied that the fact his signature of approval had been placed on the amendment, showed that he considers it legal. Mr. Bartlett stated that a citizen still has the right to petition at any time, but he has not the right to demand repeated hearings before a committee.

This amendment will be hailed with approval by most residents of Newton. In the past few years certain petitioners apparently have attempted to wear down opposition by compelling persons objecting to journey to city hall frequently.

—CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 21.

The Golden Rule is: "I beseech you, therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies as a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service" (Romans 12:1).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Unless the Lord has been my help, my soul almost dwelt in silence. When I said, My foot slippeth; thy mercy, O Lord, held me up. In the multitude of my thoughts within me thy comforts delight my soul" (Psalms 141:17-19).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Through false estimates of soul as dwelling in sense and of mind as dwelling in matter, belief strays into a sense of temporary loss or absence of soul, of spiritual truth. This state of error is the mortal dream of life and substance as existent in matter, and is directly opposite to the immortal reality of being. So long as we believe that soul can sin or that immortal Soul is in mortal body, we can never understand the Science of being. When humanity does understand this Science, it will become the law of Life to man—even the higher law of Soul, which prevails over material sense through harmony and immortality" (p. 311).

The Thor Roofing Company of Medford is equipped to do all kinds of re-roofing with asphalt and asbestos shingles, and side shingling with wood or asbestos shingles. The new roof which they put on an old roof over the shingles is a thing of beauty.

They buy direct from the manufacturer in car load lots. A visit to their plant on Riverside Ave., Medford, will convince anyone of the ability of the company to handle any job in their line with efficiency and economy. Many homes in Metropolitan Boston have been made beautiful by the Thor Roofing Company.

—Police News

Frank Dulles, 18, of Eustis st., Roxbury, was arrested early Sunday morning by Serg. Crowley and Patrolman Turner at Newton Centre charged with drunkenness. Word was later received from the Boston police that the youth had stolen the car in which he was found. He was turned over to the Boston police.

Several autoists were in the Newton court on Monday charged with various offenses. For speeding William Case, 2nd, of Harvard College, and Jerry Brosnahan of Worcester each was fined $10; John Joyce of Roxbury was fined $5. For driving in court without registration numbers properly displayed, J. Allen Coy of Lyman st., Newton Centre, was fined $5. Samuel Glaser of Brookline was fined $5 for not STOPPING before entering a through street.

John Ellis, 27, of 50 Winslip st., Brighton, was arrested Tuesday night by Patrolmen Goddard and Whelan when he was trying to gain admission to a house at 11 Hunnewell circle to see a young woman employed there as a maid. He was arraigned in the Newton court Wednesday charged with trespass and held in $500 bail. Ellis was again in court yesterday charged with assault and battery on the girl on Sunday night. The girl complained that on that night Ellis entered her room and forced his attentions on her. His bail was increased to $1000 and his trial continued until June 1.

—NEWTON MEN GO ON REFORESTATION WORK

Newton, early this week was awarded a quota of 130 young men for jobs in the reforestation work. On Tuesday 14 young men who have been obtaining aid from the Newton Welfare Department were notified to proceed to the Army Base at South Boston to enlist in the reforestation service. Nine obeyed and were accepted. Five refused to go. Florence Fitz-Gerald, head of the Welfare Department, announced that those who refused to go would be charged with desertion from the amounts they have been receiving. This sum is what each would have contributed to his family's support had the Federal jobs been accepted.

Yesterday morning nearly 100 young men went to City Hall seeking a chance to obtain one of the reforestation jobs. They were informed that only men who have been receiving aid from the city would be considered at present.

—SONS OF VETERANS

J. Wiley Edmonds Camp 31, S. of V., held their regular meeting at City Hall on Thursday evening, May 11. Three new members were initiated. Degree Staff of Camp 89, Brighton, officiated and Div. Council William Tisdale of Camp 89 took charge. Members of various Camps attended. Nat. S. V. Frank Kisilgassner and Past Com. Thomas W. Conroy of Camp 29, Watertown, were among those who made remarks. Adj. Leonard Boyd of Post 62, G. A. R., gave a very interesting feature of the ceremony was the pinning of the badges on the new members. Adj. Boyd of Post 62. Mrs. Boyd, Mrs. Malloy and Mrs. Caldwell of Tent 2, D. of V., were present. The charge to the flag was delivered in a fine manner by Albert Wolf of Degree Staff. Refreshments were served.

—Letters To The Editor

Editor Newton Graphic:

What would persons say if they came out of their houses, or places where they were stopping and found a tag on their cars for parking without lights? Recently one night the writer went through different streets in Newton and in a radius of less than 5 miles counted over 300 cars without parking lights. On Commonwealth ave., near Hammond st., there were cars parked on the corner. Cars were coming up the hill with varying lights, and an accident was avoided only by inches. On Beacon st. cars are parked without lights and all public streets are the same way. You notify the policemen. They say "We will call headquarters and tell that you have complained." Now, we have complained to the police more than a dozen times, and that is all the good it does. You complain to the officer on whose heat cars are parked without lights, and he says—"All right. I will call after it the next night." If you go over the same territory and there are the cars; just the same; no lights. It is a wonder that there are not more accidents. It is the same-way on all side streets, which are poorly lighted. Now, it is about time that this is looked after. The police in Newton would be surprised if the State Police came into this city and tagged these cars, which we hear they can do, as the law says—"All parked cars should show parking lights on public streets."

—Protest Oil Tanks At Newton Centre

but he did not specify the exact distance the tanks would be from the nearest residence, Harry Hallas of 56 Paul st. commented that the coal yard is not more than 400 feet in extent, and he thought that Mr. Paul meant 150 feet instead of 150 yards. Mr. Hallas said he objected, in a sense, to the tanks, as he fears the oil may cause a smell in the neighborhood, and he does not know what conditions may arise because of the establishment of such a business near his residence.

Mr. Spalding said that Paul st. is narrow, there is much trucking on it, it is used to a large extent by children going to the Weeks School, and he fears the oil business may add to the traffic hazard. He asked Mr. Paul if the oil would be trucked to the yards from ships at tide-water, or if it will be brought in railroad tank cars? He also asked if the Paul Company would sell to retail oil peddlers, or to consumers only? Mr. Paul replied that the oil would be brought in railroad cars and he would only sell to customers, and not to peddlers. Mr. Hallas said that since the traffic signals were installed on Beacon st. there has been a large increase in automobile traffic through Paul st. by drivers avoiding the signals. He asserted that many of these drivers operate at high speeds and he has intended to make a complaint to city officials.

Alderman Collins commented that Police Chief Hughes was in the hall, listening to this statement. Edith Read of 17 Paul st. objected to the oil tanks. She said that while the Paul Company would conduct the business, it would be properly conducted, but she feared that if the business will be sold to someone else in the future, it would not be properly conducted and the neighborhood might suffer. The petition was referred to the Licenses Committee.

—Michigan Indians Live on Land Given in 1842

Calhoun county's Indians, living near the village of Athens are enabled to live on the 120 acres where they reside as the result of deeds executed in 1842 and 1843, only a few years after Michigan was admitted to statehood, records at the county register of deeds office reveal, says the Detroit Free Press.

One deed, involving 80 acres, represented a transfer of property from Mr. and Mrs. William Booth to John S. Barry, then governor of Michigan, with the stipulation that the land was to be held in trust, forever, for the Indians. The other deed was a transfer from the government to the state of Michigan.

Nearly all of the Indians near Athens are intelligent and industrious. A few of the colony, several years ago, went to Oklahoma and became wealthy when oil was struck on land they had acquired from the government.

needed to operate the Newton station because two or three policemen are always on duty at headquarters, and these will be trained to do the operating. Jamieson said that messages received on the police teletype from other towns and cities will be immediately relayed to the new radio station to the cruising cars.

Alderman Cronin asked Temperley what facts he had to prove that the Board would act unwisely in appropriating the $1650? Temperley replied that he was not attempting to prove he was right, but he was not convinced that the radio system as used by the Newton police has been an unqualified success. Aldermen Gallagher, Sproat and Grebenstein spoke in favor of the appropriation. A vote was taken and Temperley was the only member voting in the negative.

—Aldermen Meet

At the meeting of the Newton Board of Aldermen on Monday night a hearing was held on the petition of the Luther Paul Coal Company for a permit to install two 40,000-gallon underground tanks for the storage of oil at their yard on Paul st. George F. Spalding of 33 Paul st. spoke in opposition. He said he resides opposite the proposed tank location and believes he would have to pay higher insurance premiums on his property if the big tanks will be installed. He stated that several property owners on Paul st. had not been notified of the hearing and he asked Mr. Paul what type of oil would be stored in the tanks.

Irving Paul, for the petitioners, explained that only fuel oil will be stored, and no gasoline. He said that many of the former customers of his company have changed from using coal for fuel and now use oil, and these customers have asked that the petitioners sell oil. Mr. Paul said that he had sent notices of the hearing to all persons whose names had been given him by the City Clerk. The City Clerk stated that only direct abutters need be notified. Mr. Paul said that the property is assessed for $48,600 and his company should be given the right to a proper use of this heavily taxed plant.

Alderman Pratt asked the petitioner as to how many feet the proposed tanks will be from the nearest house? Mr. Paul said the tanks would be 150 yards from Paul st. and he stated that his company owns the houses on one side of this street.

but he did not specify the exact distance the tanks would be from the nearest residence, Harry Hallas of 56 Paul st. commented that the coal yard is not more than 400 feet in extent, and he thought that Mr. Paul meant 150 feet instead of 150 yards. Mr. Hallas said he objected, in a sense, to the tanks, as he fears the oil may cause a smell in the neighborhood, and he does not know what conditions may arise because of the establishment of such a business near his residence.

Mr. Spalding said that Paul st. is narrow, there is much trucking on it, it is used to a large extent by children going to the Weeks School, and he fears the oil business may add to the traffic hazard. He asked Mr. Paul if the oil would be trucked to the yards from ships at tide-water, or if it will be brought in railroad tank cars? He also asked if the Paul Company would sell to retail oil peddlers, or to consumers only? Mr. Paul replied that the oil would be brought in railroad cars and he would only sell to customers, and not to peddlers. Mr. Hallas said that since the traffic signals were installed on Beacon st. there has been a large increase in automobile traffic through Paul st. by drivers avoiding the signals. He asserted that many of these drivers operate at high speeds and he has intended to make a complaint to city officials.

Alderman Collins commented that Police Chief Hughes was in the hall, listening to this statement. Edith Read of 17 Paul st. objected to the oil tanks. She said that while the Paul Company would conduct the business, it would be properly conducted, but she feared that if the business will be sold to someone else in the future, it would not be properly conducted and the neighborhood might suffer. The petition was referred to the Licenses Committee.

—Michigan Indians Live on Land Given in 1842

Calhoun county's Indians, living near the village of Athens are enabled to live on the 120 acres where they reside as the result of deeds executed in 1842 and 1843, only a few years after Michigan was admitted to statehood, records at the county register of deeds office reveal, says the Detroit Free Press.

One deed, involving 80 acres, represented a transfer of property from Mr. and Mrs. William Booth to John S. Barry, then governor of Michigan, with the stipulation that the land was to be held in trust, forever, for the Indians. The other deed was a transfer from the government to the state of Michigan.

Nearly all of the Indians near Athens are intelligent and industrious. A few of the colony, several years ago, went to Oklahoma and became wealthy when oil was struck on land they had acquired from the government.

He was taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance. The automobile was badly burned before the blaze was extinguished by firemen who responded to an alarm from Box 245.

Newton Kindergartens To Have Two Sessions In Coming School Year

Thompsonville Residents Attend School Committee Meeting to Request Improvements at Bowen School

The Newton School Department this week sent to parents of children in several school districts of the city notices giving the information that starting the coming September the kindergartens in the districts specified will be conducted on a two-session schedule. The notices read:

To Parents of Children of Kindergarten Age:

The Newton School Committee at its regular meeting on April 24th, 1933, authorized the Superintendent of Schools to reorganize the kindergartens on the so-called double session plan. It has been felt for some time that to provide teachers for single half day sessions is a procedure that cannot be fully justified, especially in view of present needs for the economical operation of schools.

The problem as faced by school authorities is to maintain the kindergarten as an important part of the educational offering and to so organize the hours and teaching personnel that the effectiveness of the service may be upheld at a minimum cost.

With full co-operation on the part of all concerned, parents and teachers alike, this can be accomplished. We feel that the plan as outlined can be put into effect gradually throughout the school system without loss of efficiency. The plan briefly is this: To divide the registered kindergarten children within a given district into two groups based on chronological age. One group will attend kindergarten in the morning from 8:30 to 11:00 and the other group will attend in the afternoon from 1:30 to 3:30. Each group will attend the morning session for a half year, the change occurring in February. In those districts where numbers warrant one session only, this session will be held in the morning for a half year and then change in the afternoon in February, or vice versa.

This year the kindergartens in the district in which you reside will be organized as indicated. We are confident that you will appreciate the

Guidance Bureau To Be Started In Newton Schools

Mayor Makes Motion Adopted By School Committee

At the meeting of the Newton School Committee on Monday night it was voted to establish a Guidance and Research Division for the purpose of aiding pupils in solving their personal problems. Advice will be given regarding vocations and higher education and investigation of the pupils' home conditions and environment will be made. Before they took this vote it was addressed by Herbert Landry, Director of Guidance and Research in the public schools at Norwalk, Conn. Mr. Landry appeared at the invitation of Supt. of Schools Lund, who was in charge of the Newton schools before coming to Newton. The new activity of the Newton public schools will be under the supervision of a director who will have assistants. The motion to establish this division was made by Mayor Weeks who was present as a member ex-officio of the committee. The new division will eventually take over the work of the attendance officers.

Heretofore, there has been a teacher at the high school specializing in guidance work; and teachers in the junior high schools have devoted some of their time to this work. This activity has not been pursued in the grade schools.

Dessert Bridge For Mothers' Rest

Mrs. Frank G. Dennison is general chairman for the dessert bridge to be given on Monday at 1:30 p. m. at the Mothers' Rest in Oak Hill Village. Over 300 guests attended the successful affair at this time last year. This is an unusual opportunity for members and friends of the Mothers' Rest Association of the Newtons to see the house and grounds where last summer nearly 350 needy mothers and children enjoyed a two weeks' vacation. The first group of visitors to the Rest will arrive on Wednesday, June 7th.

Mrs. Maurice Dennison and Mrs. Donald E. Rust will direct the bridge and Mrs. Philip Jamieson will have charge of the prizes. Mrs. Walter McGill and Mrs. Gordon B. Wilkes will sell punch during the afternoon and Mrs. Austin C. Benton will sell cigarettes. Mrs. Donald B. Wheeler has charge of tickets and Mrs. LeRoy C. Percy, publicity. Others assisting Mrs. Dennison are Mesdames Lincoln Alvord, Donald Baker, R. H. Barnes, Chester C. Butts, G. F. Earnshaw, E. L. Ford, Roger Hall, Frederick W. Harding, C. L. Harrison, R. N. Hopkins, Henry J. Ide, Constance R. Kemper, Glenn W. Lawrence, Henry D. Lloyd, Edward O. Loring, Earl G. Manning, Richard Peirce, J. H. Powers, George Rawson, William H. Raye, Arthur W. Rayner, Donald Root, Irving Seller, Clarence Smith, Mabel M. Webber, Worthington L. West, Fred Whiting, also members of the board of managers. Arrow markers directing the way to the Rest on Oak Hill st., Oak Hill Village, will be placed at all points of approach.

Policeman Stops Burglary At Nonantum Store

The alertness of Patrolman Daniel Cleary prevented a burglary early Wednesday morning at the drug store of Alexander Fox, 334 Watertown st., Nonantum. Cleary was patrolling on Chapel st. when he observed two men starting to pry off bars on a rear window of the store. The burglars saw Cleary rushing towards them and made their escape.

Almost $9,000 More Subscribed To Com. Chest

Total Now Stands at About $275,000

Further contributions to the Community Chest during April and May have reached a total of almost $9,000, it was announced recently at Chest headquarters. While this amount falls far short of the sum which was needed to bring the Chest fund up to the total of $275,000 sought to cover adequately the needs of the member agencies, it constitutes nevertheless a most valuable and welcome addition to the Chest treasury.

The total amount subscribed to the Chest now stands at not quite $230,000. So far more than 97 percent of the payments on pledges have been made promptly as they have fallen due. It is pointed out by the Chest authorities, however, that the allocation of funds to member agencies was based on the assumption that all pledges would be paid. All agencies have already cut down their expenses, in order to keep within the reduced budget necessitated by the fact that the full amount sought by the Chest had not been subscribed. If pledges are not paid 100 percent, the member agencies will have no alternative but to curtail further their activities in service to the public. While the amount now overdue from subscribers is less than 3 percent of the total subscribed, it is earnestly hoped that those whose pledges are overdue will send their checks at once to the Treasurer, because to agencies working on reduced budgets even that 3 percent is extremely important.

Gunman Loots Newton Home In Daytime

Threatens Men Working on Estate as He Makes Getaway

Monday afternoon about 2:30 Miss Helen Woodman returned to her home at 217 Bellevue st., Newton, to find that it had been entered. Going into the house she found it had been ransacked. Miss Woodman asked two gardeners who were working in the yard at her estate if they knew anything of the house having been entered and they replied that they did not. Going back into the house, Miss Woodman telephoned police headquarters concerning the burglary, and as she was phoning a young man, attired in overalls came down stairs from the second floor and rushed from the house. He flourished a revolver at the two men working in the yard and warned them not to attempt to interfere with his escape. He then ran down Newtonville avenue and disappeared. He stole a wrist watch and some money from the house.

Cigarette Starts Fire in Newton

The discovery by a passerby at 2 a. m., last Saturday of a fire outside the Flood Funeral Parlor, 347 Washington st., Newton, probably prevented a serious blaze in the business block owned by Mrs. Margaret Burke. The fire started in an awning, apparently from a cigarette butt which must have been thrown onto it. It spread to the woodwork above the window and broke a large pane of glass in the window. The prompt arrival of Engine 1, which is located across the street from the building, saved the flames from spreading before serious damage resulted.

Newton Hospital Graduation To Be Held June First

President Marsh of B. U. To Deliver The Address

The Hospital Aid fellow-ship and scholarships will be presented by Mrs. George H. Talbot who is the president of the Hospital Aid Association. The music will be by the student nurses under the direction of Dr. Ralph MacLean.

On Friday afternoon of this week the alumnae will entertain the graduating class with a picnic. On Sunday evening the Baccalaureate Service will be held in Thayer Hall at 8:15. Rev. Boynton Merrill of the second Church in Newton, West Newton will be the speaker. The music will be by the nurses under the direction of Mr. MacLean.

On Thursday evening, June first, the Senior Formal will be held at the Woodland Golf Club.

There are twenty-six members of the graduating class.

Two Positions Abolished In Public Schools

Two supervisory positions in the Newton public schools were abolished Monday night by vote of the School Committee. These positions—Supervisor of Manual Training, and Supervisor of Penmanship, have been filled by Michael W. Murray and Sophie Genevieve, Murray was formerly director of the Vocational School, which was part of the high school group at Newtonville. This branch of the school system is now known as the Trade School. Murray was assigned as a teacher at the Weeks junior high school at reduced salary. He was on the teaching staff of this school the past school year, but had retained his rating as supervisor. Miss Genevieve was assigned as a teacher at the Stearns School.

Mayor To Speak At West Newton

Mayor Weeks has been invited to speak under the auspices of the Opportunity Club of The Second Church. Mr. Calvin Cronan of West Newton will preside. The meeting will be open to the public. The Director of Religious Education of The Second Church invites all those who are interested in this subject to avail themselves of this opportunity to hear Mayor Weeks.

ALL NEWTON MUSIC SCHOOL FINAL RECITAL

The final concert of the All Newton Music School will be held next Wednesday evening, May 31st, at 7:30 o'clock in the Assembly Hall of the Newton High School. The concert is open to the public.

Aldermen Appropriate $10,000 In New Effort To Drain Cold Spring Swamp

Large Amounts Are Appropriated for Other Drain and Sewer Projects at Special Meeting Monday Night

A special meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night passed appropriations and authorized a bond issue which will result in drain and sewer projects in this city totalling in cost over $129,000. The appropriations included $10,000 for a drain in Cold Spring swamp, $43,000 for sewers and drains in various parts of the city (this amount to be raised by the tax levy), and $1123 for a sewer in Brewsterwood ave. The Aldermen also authorized the issuance of sewer bonds in the sum of $75,000.

The $10,000 appropriation for the drain specified that this improvement would be in "Cold Spring Fen." Apparently the swamp has been officially renamed with the more high-toned designation of "fen." Or perhaps, the new name is more correct. A swamp is defined by Webster's Unabridged (Merriam) as "soft, low ground; saturated, but not usually covered with water." A fen is defined as "low land, overflooded or covered wholly, or partially with water." This latter condition has been that peculiar to the Cold Spring section. And to be correct some name other than "Cold Spring" ought to be found. Try and find the spring!

Of the members present at the special meeting on Monday night, Alderman Temperley was the only one to vote against the $10,000 appropriation for the drain. He explained that he is not opposed to the improvement, but he did so to be consistent, as he was one of the two members of the 1929 Board who voted against a large appropriation for a drain which was supposed to dry out most of the swamp. At that time Temperley and another alderman contended that owners of large tracts of land in the swamp area should be assessed betterments instead of taxing the property owners of all parts of Newton for the alleged improvement.

On February 4, 1929, the Aldermen voted to appropriate $156,146 for the construction of a conduit to drain Cold Spring Swamp. This conduit started at the present City Hall site on Homer st. and proceeded through property of the Newton Cemetery and others to Beacon st., thence towards Beethoven ave. easterly, and also by a smaller drain towards Upland rd. and Glastonbury Oval. It was estimated that about 1000 cubic yards of rock would have to be excavated in constructing the conduit. Several times this much rock was struck and on July 8, 1929, an additional $35,000 was appropriated to compensate the contractor doing the work. On September 23, 1929, another $7000 was appropriated. Subsequently, Pasquale Christafaro, the contractor, made a demand on the city for additional compensation because he claimed it was necessary for him to use a larger size power shovel on the excavating than had been anticipated, and he had to take out even more rock than necessary. So, on July 27, 1931 the Aldermen voted to pay a moral obligation to Christafaro of $5000 although the City Solicitor admitted the doubt of any legal claim against the city. Alderman Temperley and another alderman voted consistently against all these appropriations.

Despite all the expense entailed in constructing the drain it has not dried out much of the area south of Beacon st., and some property owners north of Beacon st. assert that their land is still wet. So it is deemed expedient now to continue the effort to drain the swamp (or Fen) area by digging a large ditch 900 feet in length. This ditch will start near the Metropolitan Ice Company's oil storage plant and will continue in a serpentine course along the new playground towards Beethoven ave. It will be 5 feet wide at the bottom and is expected to lower the water level at the swamp about 5 feet. In some parts of the "fen" there is muck to a depth of 50 feet. It was stated that about half of the $10,000 appropriated for this work will be spent for materials, the other half will be used to pay men on the Welfare Department list who will be employed on this project.

Final Dividend Declared For Nonantum Banks

On Tuesday of this week an announcement was made by Judge W. Lloyd Allen of Newton Centre that he would petition the Supreme Court for permission to pay the depositors in two closed Nonantum banks a final dividend of 2 1/2 per cent. These two banks were the Nonantum Bankers' Company and A. Pescosolido & Company, with offices at the corner of Adams and Watertown sts., Nonantum. These banks were closed in 1925 and Amato Pescosolido, who had headed them, was subsequently tried and sentenced to a term in State's Prison for his part in causing the failure of the banks. Guy Vaughan was appointed receiver for the two banks and he misappropriated the remaining funds before he fled from Massachusetts in 1931. Judge W. Lloyd Allen was then appointed receiver.

Prior to the declaring of the 2 1/2 per cent dividend, one dividend of 10 per cent and another of 5 per cent had been declared, making the total of the three dividends 17 1/2 per cent. The claims against the banks totalled about $190,000, and of this amount the depositors will recover only about $30,000.

Much Muck Taken From Small Ponds Near City Hall

One of the artistic features at Newton's beautiful civic centre, the new City Hall and its grounds, is the group of small ponds in front of the building. Through the three ponds, which were excavated runs Cold Spring brook and the water from Hammond Brook. Naturally, these brooks carry considerable silt when they run rapidly following heavy rains. This past winter and spring the rainfall was extra heavy. So was the quantity of material washed by the brooks along their course, and the amount of surface dirt washed into them from street drains. The result was—that several hundred tons of muck were washed into the three little ponds and they were drained about a week ago. A crew of men from the Welfare Department's list have been engaged in cleaning out the ponds, assisted by a large power crane from the Street Department.

When the city hall project was in the making, it was planned to construct a concrete sump near Homer st. to catch the silt which would flow in the brooks and prevent the filling of the ponds. This was not done, and now it is necessary to go to the expense of draining and cleaning the ponds, which were only completed late last year.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

NEWTON HIGH WINS TEAM HONORS AGAIN IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

In the sixth annual intercollegiate tennis tournament last Saturday the Newton High tennis team captured team honors for the third time. The event has been staged each year for the past several years by the Newton High authorities with the preliminary rounds being played on Saturday at the Longwood Cricket Club courts. The semi-final and final rounds were played on Tuesday. Although Newton had no player who reached the semi-final round it scored enough victories in the preliminary rounds to assure its victory with 12 points. Newton entered six players with five of them winning their first round matches. They were Gordon McKissock, Dick Fraser, Dick Fraser, William Spurrier and Lincoln Merrill. J. Hafner Randolph lost a 6-5, 6-4 match to Edward Slattery of Worcester Classical to be eliminated. This same Newton quintet all won their second round matches to give Newton a commanding lead.

In the third round McKissock and Brennan captured their respective matches from Robert Sibley of Winchester and Julian LeClair of Fitchburg to swell the Newton point total. In that round Leonard Shaefer of Malden, Spurrier lost to Lorimer Walker of Winchester and Merrill was vanquished by Seymour Stearns of Malden.

In the fourth round McKissock lost to Jordan Cotton of Worcester, the ultimate champion, and Brennan was defeated by Saul Cohen of Boston English High who lost to Seymour Stearns of Malden in the semi-finals.

Sports Briefs

Herb Gallagher turned in another great athletic feat Monday afternoon, capturing the Northern University's baseball team to a 5-2 win over Rhode Island State. The victory was notable in that it stopped a nine-game undefeated streak for the Rams. Gallagher allowed but eight scattered hits while with his own bat drove in three of the Huskies' runs with three singles. He is a heavy and timely hitter with an average better than .300 for three years of college competition. When not pitching he is captain-elect of next winter's hockey sextet and won his varsity soccer letter as a freshman in the final year before the sport was dropped. The Newton boy has hopes of becoming the first four major sport athlete at N. U. by earning the berth as regular quarterback on the first varsity football team at the Hub school next fall. And all of this despite the fact that he never participated in high school major sports. Tommy Gillman, a member of the Newton team in the New England league and also with the Harvard graduates team. Bill Hunnefeld is managing Alliston in the Two-league circuit and is playing second base. Johnny Wiers is playing an outfield berth on the same team. Mel Hemen, Lower Falls youth with the Penn University team in the Intercollegiate league, has dropped out of the select list of ten leading batters. He retains a grip on the individual run-scoring leader position. The Newton team is playing Kellett and two Columbia players with 7 runs each. Frank Spain has voluntarily left the Dartmouth nine after playing in every game of the season until Wednesday's affair against Harvard.

F. A. DAY JUNIOR HIGH

The boys in the Mechanical Drawing class of Grade IX and the aeroplanes modeling club at the Day Jr. High School spent a most profitable hour last Monday morning with Lt. Harris of the Aeronautical Department of the Mass. Institute of Technology. Lt. Harris is the pilot and observer of the Tech plane that spends a large part of each morning in climbing to great altitudes to note climatic conditions which help to make our weather forecasts.

The greater part of Lt. Harris' talk consisted of the importance of roof markers, a project which the boys are developing.

Mr. Gorfinkle was recently appointed a member of the License Commission of Newton by Mayor Weeks. He is treasurer of the Chestnut Hill Improvement Association and secretary of the Newton Civic Society.

NEWTON TWILIGHT LEAGUE MAKES 1933 PLANS—TEN TEAMS

Plans for the 1933 season of the Newton Twilight League were formulated at the first meeting of league officials and team managers last week Thursday evening at the Newton Centre playground building. Another meeting was held last night at which the schedule and eligibility rules were discussed.

Two new teams were admitted to membership in the league at the meeting on May 18th bringing the circuit up to ten teams. The two new teams are Newton Centre, under the leadership of E. W. Alexander who was prominent in baseball circles in Auburndale a score of years ago and who returns to the league after a two-year absence, and the Newton Aces, of Nonantum which will be under the management of Albert Beatrice.

Another team, the Our Lady's Alumni has applied for admission to the league and when admitted will be under the management of James "Porky" Murphy. Our Lady High star pitcher of the past season. Other members of this team will be Charley Gallagher, who will graduate next month from Our Lady High, A. Lombardi, Bill Lamsed, L. Buchanan, L. Cannon, and R. Lane.

At the initial meeting Upper Falls was represented by Francis Simpson. Newton Highlands by Norman E. Walker, Auburndale by Del Ryan, West Newton by George Fitzgibbons, Newton Cubs by Joseph MacDonald, Nonantum Boys' Club by Henry Farrell, and the Newton Y. M. C. A. by Richard Simmons.

The following nights were allotted for home games:

Wednesday

CATHOLIC LEAGUE RACE TIGHTENS UP AS TOP TEAMS LOSE

The Greater Boston Catholic High School league race has become pretty much of a free-for-all as the result of games the past week in which several of the top teams last week met defeat. Last week Friday St. Mary's of Brookline staged off defeat from Waltham's St. Mary's in a bitter 10 to 8 struggle and the Brookline victory kept that outfit on the top rung of the ladder. The Brookline nine captured the lead the previous week at the expense of Our Lady High. But the Brookline margin is very scant and any one of three teams may soon overtake the leaders.

In another game on the same afternoon which had no bearing on the standing of the leading teams, St. Clement's of Medford defeated Sacred Heart High of Newton Centre 19 to 10. Tuesday of this week St. Clement's maintained its victorious path by knocking off the leading St. Mary's nine from Brookline with a 5 to 4 decision. In a return match even more, Waltham's St. Mary's kept its self in the running by putting over a 9 to 7 won from Our Lady High. The defeat of the Newton team dropped it from second to third place.

This afternoon Our Lady High meets Catholic High at Longfield and needs to win to stay in the running. Meanwhile St. Charles High of Waltham has a grand opportunity to make the race even closer by knocking off St. Mary's of Brookline at the Waltham field.

The present standing:

	W	L	RF	RA	P.C.
St. Mary's (B)	8	2	54	50	.800

NEW ESSEX TERRAPLANE SCORES SUCCESS

Initial Orders from All Over Country Indicate that New 113-Inch Car Will Be a Leader

According to initial orders received at the factory the new Essex Terraplane Special Six which was announced through the newspapers last Sunday, following a spectacular national radio sales meeting, will be the biggest seller in the Hudson-Exxon line.

In this new model has been provided performance, ruggedness and great amount of roominess in the lowest price bracket. That this new model is scoring a triumph has already been indicated by the fact that in the first week orders have been received totaling over 3,000 cars for shipment during this and next week.

The orders come from all over the nation and are continuing to pour in. The experience at the factory is born out by local sales success with the new Terraplane. According to Mr. Evans of the Newton Hudson-Exxon Co., dealer in this zone for Hudson-Exxon cars, since the first showing of the model last Saturday, three of these cars have been sold. Mr. Evans reports more interest in this new car than in any model introduced since the first Terraplane last summer. "The people of Newton demand roominess in their cars and they also want brilliant performance. We are giving them both in this new car at an astounding price even for these days," he said.

NEWTON PLACES THIRD IN TRACK MEET AT HARVARD

Newton High's outdoor track team placed third in the annual Harvard Intercollegiate Class B competition last Saturday at the Stadium which carries with it State honors. The honors in the class for larger high schools went to Lynn English with 19½ points, Medford second with 16, Newton third with 12, Malden fourth 11½, Brookline fifth 10, and twelve other teams finishing in the remainder of the point division.

Newton scored well in the hurdles with Palmer York and Dave MacLellan winning their trial heats to get into the finals. It was a nip and tuck race in the finals with Palmer York getting the decision over Ray Henderson of Medford and MacLellan taking third over Lawson of Brookline, fourth and Plotkin of Brookline fifth.

Doug Sloane won his trial heat in the 100-yard dash and Bill Quigley, the other Newton sprint entry, won the third trial heat. Sloane won his semi-final over Ed Cady of the Boston High School of Commerce. Quigley was shut out in his semi-final. Sloane had Cady, Taynor of Worcester Commerce, St. Louis of Brookline, Mayberry of Lynn English, and Frawley of Worcester Classical as his opponents in the final in which the Newton youth was defending his 1932 championship. Cady's final lift at the tape gave him the edge and Newton's four-year reign in the 100-yard dash was ended. Sloane took second for four valuable points.

In the 440-yard run Gordon Wilkes was third in his heat but his time was not fast enough to give him a place in the point division which was made on the basis of times in the trials. Allen Freeman of Newton was in the same position as Wilkes after finishing third in the second heat of the 880-yard run.

Run Brookline Today
The annual Newton-Brookline dual track meet will be staged at the Newton track this afternoon as one of the features of the Annual Day reunion program. Coach Don Enoch has high hopes of seeing his charges come through to victory despite the well-balanced strength of the Wealthy Towners. The intense rivalry between the two schools in all branches of sport always adds much to the color of any competition between the two and many thrills are on the program for followers of track athletics.

Y. M. C. A.

The Newton Y. M. C. A., together with other Associations in Greater Boston, observed last week as Youth Opportunity Week. Attention has been given to the vast number of high school boys who will be forced into too large leisure either through inability to go on to college or to find work. Even more critical will be the leisure problems of thousands of youths who will be graduating from college in June.

Thousands who are unemployed or whose work gives them more leisure may turn to the Y. M. C. A. for leisure-time programs during the summer months. Camps and recreation of many kinds are on the summer program of the Newton Y. M. C. A. One of the advantages of this kind is that it does not cost much. One can enjoy simple forms of recreation in the open air and get the best possible benefit from leisure time during the summer months.

Tennis

The Newton Y. M. C. A. Tennis Team defeated the Winsor Club three clubs to two in a return match played Saturday afternoon on the "Y" courts. In the single matches, Roland Coombs of the "Y" defeated J. Clarke, Winsor Club, 2-6, 6-2, 6-2; Gordon Kitchen, "Y," defeated E. Brun, Winsor Club, 4-6, 6-1, 13-11; and Kenneth Gerritson, "Y," defeated R. Anderson, Winsor Club, 6-4, 6-0.

The Winsor Club took both of the doubles matches with J. Clarke and Farrar defeating Roland Coombs and Gordon Kitchen, 7-9, 6-3, 6-3; and Banks and Benson defeating Andrew Kasper and James L. Carr, 6-2, 2-6, 6-4.

Baseball

Coach Bills of the Y. M. C. A. Baseball Team is rounding his team into shape for the beginning of the Newton Twilight League which starts next week. Members of the team so far are "Red" Joyce, George Hokanson, Ray Clarke, Harry Gray, Tim Finn, Horace White, Ed. Gallagher, "Beany" Barnes, Leo Cormier, Jim O'Neill, and Harold Hueg. "Penny" DeMille of High School fame will be out this week with the team, and it is expected that "Bill" Lamsed, who is starting this year with St. Charles of Waltham, will be with the "Y" as soon as the school's schedule of games is completed.

Boys' Division

The Second Annual Round-Up for the Y. M. C. A. boys for Eastern Massachusetts will be held at Norumbega Park on Saturday, June 3rd, from 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. At least ten "Y's" will be included in this affair and a program of interest for all is planned.

The morning hours will be spent in a track meet under the direction of Mr. Stewart Scott of the Huntington Avenue Association. Three classes will compete in the 50-yard dash; 100-yard dash; high jump; running broad jump; and relay race, with six boys to a team. No boy will be allowed to enter more than three events.

Mr. James Hardy of Quincy will be in charge of the Treasure Hunt, and Mrs. John Andrew, Jr., of the local Association will arrange games of other soccer or baseball, depending on the entries received.

The entire group will be identified by blue and white buttons on which will appear the name of the association which the wearer represents. Already a number of members of the local "Y's" have signified their intention of being present and are looking forward to an outstanding day of sports and pleasure.

"The Newton Hospital is your hospital, ready to serve you 24 hours every day, 365 days a year," said Miss Bertha Allen, Superintendent, to the Newton Rotarians on Monday when they were guests of the local hospital.

Miss Allen described the physical equipment of Newton's modern hospital; the work of the various departments, and the personnel of the institution. Each year the services of our local hospital have increased so that it serves many of the surrounding communities, as shown by 6000 cases in 1929 in the out-patient department and 13,128 patients in the 18 different clinics in 1932.

Here is an institution covering 24 acres, with 23 buildings, containing its own power plant, ice plant, and laundry. It has many departments all thoroughly equipped and staffed to serve Newton's needs. Within the institution is a school of nursing of 83 students, headed by Miss Hostetter and her staff of three full-time instructors, where girls are trained for the profession in a full three years' course. Many other departments were interestingly described.

This hospital considers of paramount importance a satisfactory mental attitude of the patient at all times as evidenced by the comforts provided for all patients. Each room is equipped with a radio and a circulating library.

It was the unanimous opinion of the Rotarians that the hospital facilities in Newton are unsurpassed and deserving of Newton's support. This hospital has an A-1 rating by the American Medical Association for its superior training of internes and service to patients.

Bigelow Junior H. S.

On Thursday, May 11, at the Warren Field an exciting game of baseball was played between the Bigelow and Warren Varsity. Bigelow led up to the fifth inning in which Paul Rich with all the bases full, knocked out a home run. Warren in the last inning started to rally, but they were held back by the careful teamwork of Bigelow. The final score was 9-8 in favor of Bigelow.

As it is drawing near Health Day, our assembly on Friday, May 12, was an interesting movie on Dental Health and Nutrition. This served as a reminder that dental certificates are due.

On Tuesday afternoon, May 23, a benefit program was presented to raise money for a new stage curtain. Seven plays were given.

Between two of the plays Myron Burnes offered the two piano pieces which he played in the contest for the New England Championship last Saturday. Myron competed with ten other boys and girls between the ages of 14-16 from all New England and won the trophy and diploma offered by the National Federation of Music Clubs for the best musicianship. Myron is now eligible for the National Contest.

Next Tuesday is Memorial Day. This national holiday was established to honor the memory of those who fought to preserve the Union in that terrible war during the years 1861-1865. Most of the boys and men who fought in this war have passed into eternity. A few of the veterans of the war which ended 68 years ago still survive in Newton and will participate in the exercises in this city next Tuesday. They will be assisted by veterans of the Spanish War and the World War, as well as by members of auxiliary organizations. The people of Newton should also participate in these exercises.

The Memorial Day parade will start on Tuesday at 2:15 p.m. from the fire station on Washington street at Newton Corner and will proceed to Newtonville and along Washington street to the Newton Cemetery, where the customary exercises will be held. With the sorry revelations which have occurred lately and which tend to shake the patriotism of the people, now is the time for a manifestation of patriotic spirit on the day set aside in memory of those who were real patriots.

Under The Gilded Dome

One of the few remaining matters of extreme importance is the taxation program proposed by the Governor and reported by the Committee on Taxation. At this writing it was still before House Ways and Means which has held public hearings and is soon to report. Considerable conjecture obtains concerning the outcome. If extensive opposition develops and the Governor is insistent that some sort of legislation be passed there is bound to be a clash that may result in a more extended session than is now expected. There seems to be sound belief that prorogation may come the latter part of June and yet failure to agree on a tax bill may cause things to be turned topsy-turvy and the session allowed to drag way into July or August.

Next week the two branches will probably have before them the bill requesting the Governor to remove Judge Arthur P. Stone of the Third District Court of Eastern Middlesex. The Judiciary Committee, after weeks and weeks of deliberation, has reported ten to five in favor. The announcement was made that both the majority and minority groups would file written statements, explaining their attitudes. These have not yet been forthcoming, although promised for the week now passing. They will probably be printed next week and if the members of the Senate and House have opportunity to study and read them they may be a vote.

The killing on the enactment stage of the so-called pari-mutuel bill was one of the surprises of the session. The measure authorized a referendum at the State election in 1934 "to ascertain the will of the people," on the question of legalizing horse-racing and establishing the pari-mutuel system of wagering thereon. The outcome of the referendum would not have been binding on the Legislature but to guide them in their deliberations, according to the supporters of the bill. Many things happened to the measure before it reached enactment stage and its final form was not especially satisfactory to the supporters. They would like to have seen it pass, however. The House voted by roll-call, 128 to 94, to strike out the enacting clause, thereby killing the bill.

The Senate has concurred with the House in the accepting adverse reports of the Committee on Power and Light on these petitions: Leo M. Birmingham, relative to control of gas and electric companies by foreign corporations, trusts and associations;

SCHOOL CHATS

An authoritative article each week covering important and interesting phases of public school organization and activity. Prepared under the direction of the School Department.

THE TEACHING OF INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC IN THE NEWTON PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Instruction in instrumental music is one of the important cultural advantages offered the children of the city by the Newton public school system. Established in 1925, the work of the Department of Instrumental Music has grown in popularity until at the present time there are 1,131 pupils registered in one or more of the courses offered. It includes classes on the piano, orchestras, bands, drum and bugle corps and more advanced work under private teachers who do their work under the supervision of the Department.

The work starts in the third grade with beginners' classes on the piano. Drum and bugle work is open to pupils of the fourth grade and up. There are nine orchestras and four bands in the junior and senior high schools.

Instruction on all band instruments, except drums, is free of charge. The fee for instruction on the drum, piano, bugle and violin is 25 cents a lesson. This paid instruction is given in classes by outside teachers. The Department owns 92 instruments which are loaned without charge to deserving pupils.

In addition to the class instruction offered in elementary and more advanced work by the teachers of the Department and the outside teachers who work under the supervision of the Director, a corps of some of the best instrumental teachers in New England has been secured for private work, more advanced and specialized than can legitimately be undertaken at public expense. The charge for this special private instruction is one dollar a lesson.

This work is also given in the school buildings under the supervision of the Director of the Department. All instrumental instruction is given in different schools, making the classes easily accessible to the children in all parts of the city.

The chief aim of the work of the Department is cultural, to enrich the lives of those mastering the instruments, and to give them something of an appreciation of good instrumental music. The secondary value of the work is scarcely less valuable than the primary values. Dr. Edward Howard Griggs, speaking in Newton recently said, "If every member of society could be given the discipline which a high school orchestra receives in following its leader, the problems of democracy would be solved." The strict discipline which these students receive in mastering their instruments and in working in harmony with their groups undoubtedly carries over into many other activities of life. As in athletics the player must subordinate his individuality and contribute his best effort for the success of mass achievement.

The ability to play a musical instrument well provides one of the best and most enjoyable uses of leisure time. Many of the graduates of the Newton High School are now playing in local orchestras, and there is scarcely a college in New England which does not have at least one of the former pupils of our music department in some of its instrumental organizations. The ability to play carries over into after life and gives the musician the means of joyful activity for himself and of providing pleasure for his family and his friends.

The training which these young people receive in learning band and orchestra instruments contributes to their physical and mental health. Their improved habits of breath control and their increased lung capacity are alone worth the time and effort expended.

Another important value of training in instrumental music is its contribution to the development of character. In addition to the training provided in perfect submission to leadership and unselfish service for the success of the whole, it provides a school activity which they can perform well. The self-confidence which results from successful personal effort is the prime foundation upon which attainment in after life will be achieved. It is something which comes to be done well because of love of the work and the desire to realize certain ideals of perfection in achievement.

Considering what is accomplished, the cost to the city is a slight expenditure. The part of the work carried on at public expense is all done by the teacher-director, assisted by five other teachers who devote only a small part of their time to music. It places the rudiments of an instrumental education within the reach of every child in the city, regardless of the financial condition of the home.

To form an opinion as to the quality of work done, one has but to listen to the performance of any one of these musical organizations as they play toward the last of the year at the many public entertainments at which they are heard.

The Newton School Bands have won four first prizes in the past seven years in the New England band contests.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

The investigation going on at Washington of the business methods of the "House of Morgan" is very interesting, and in a way—amusing. For many years the citizens of this nation have suspected that there have been "queer" goings-on in the activities of America's leading banking concern. So, the exposures at Washington of the preferred list of Morgan's customers do not surprise many; although the revelation of the identity of many of this country's "great men" who permitted themselves to accept special favors from the Morgan syndicate will disillusion millions of simple-minded, sincere Americans. But, what rankles most of our countrymen is the expose that Mr. Morgan and his partners have not been (in the years) paying any income taxes.

We can't see anything illegal in the Morgan firm selling stock to friends, or men in political power at reduced prices. Certainly, it isn't ethical for leaders of the Republican and Democratic parties to accept financial gain opportunities from the Morgan crowd for the purposes of reciprocal favors through political action. But, this is the way this country has been run in about all branches of government, Federal, State and local. Most of the people in this country seem to want this kind of government. They elect to office practical men and women who play the mercenary game, and if an honest, sincere man gets into politics and endeavors to work unselfishly for the interests of the public, he finds himself in the minority, as a usual thing, is ridiculed, and he doesn't proceed very far in political life.

The many thousands of persons who bought stock through the Morgan company at market prices shouldn't whine about our statesmen and heroes getting bargain prices. Any wise person who starts playing poker with sharks ought to realize that a slick dealer can slip a few aces to his friends in the game.

But, this income tax exemption of Morgan and his partners is another matter. The hundreds of thousands of "small fry" in the United States who were forced during the past three years to pay income taxes from their greatly reduced resources will rightly have indignation on realizing that Mr. Morgan and his multimillionaire partners paid no income taxes the past couple of years. Morgan maintains palatial estates in this country and a baronial domain in England. He paid about $35,000 to the British government in income taxes during each of the past three years, when he paid nothing in income taxes to his own country. He operates one of the most costly private yachts in the world. Yet, he and his fellow moguls ducked the income tax while the little fellows had to contribute to the government. Great stuff! Isn't it? The exposing activity of the little Sicilian immigrant, Ferdinand Pecora, should have appreciable results in helping the country join the world movement towards a more equitable distribution of wealth. The dumb masses of people who have permitted themselves to be dealt the deuces and "four flushes" by the clever big-time, sure-things manipulators (who don't gamble), will be more ready to demand that the cards cease to be regularly stacked in the economic game.

The Aldermen of Newton are to be commended for having consistently refused in recent years petitions for travelling carnivals to locate temporarily in any part of this city. Such carnivals frequently use some fraternal or veteran organization to obtain the necessary influence to obtain permits in towns and cities by giving a minor share of their profits to such an organization. If you want to observe what a racket a carnival causes in an ordinarily quiet neighborhood, just journey to High St., Waltham, near Newton St. Residents of the neighborhood have protested unavailingly to Mayor Patrick Duane, the Shakespearean scholar, who granted the permit. Perhaps, if Mayor Duane were an abettor to the location where the carnival does business, or even resides within 100 yards, he would have the viewpoint of the neighbors whose peace of mind is disturbed late into the night hours.

Dogs in this city are again being attacked by rabies. Which calls attention to the fact that for years the police of Newton have not enforced the law which requires dogs to wear a collar bearing the dog's license number and his owner's name and address. The result is—that frequently when dog becomes afflicted with rabies and attacks persons or other dogs, the identity of the dog's owner cannot be learned. Another result is—that a large percentage of the dogs in Newton are not licensed. The law pertaining to dogs wearing a collar is a necessary law and should be enforced; particularly in congested areas such as Newton.

High Cost of Repealing

It may be self-induced narcolepsy or out-and-out obtuseness on my part but I can't seem to get all agog, or even half, over the special State election set for June 13. Some, including a majority of the Legislature, must think it highly important that we hurry around and hold a constitutional convention to decide whether or not the 18th amendment to the Federal Constitution should be repealed. Personally, I don't believe it worth spending $200,000 or more of the taxpayers' money at this time, yet that is the amount of the official estimate of the cost. Seems to me it could wait until the regular election next year. Nobody knows now when the convention is to be held. It isn't possible to set a date until after the special election, I am informed. The reason is that there may be a close vote in one or more Congressional districts which will mean a re-election in event of any disputes the convention must be put off until they are settled. This may bring the convention on the hottest days of midsummer which is hardly the time for cool deliberation.

The Old Sob Songs

"Music, when soft voices die, vibrates in the memory," wrote Shelley. And songs, sung without vocal softness, have a way of clinging to the outer edges of one's recollections. Through the kindly offices of a friend with a decided fondness for preserving souvenirs, keepsakes and odd things of his boyhood treasure-box I have come into possession of two venerable volumes of "popular" songs. They are thin, frail pamphlets and must be discreetly handled lest they fall apart. In fact they were cheap enough in the day of their greatest glory, which happens in both instances to have been the year 1888.

One book gives songs with the notes of the upper hand, as a piano player would probably put it, providing he designed to glance at its pages. The other contains the verses and chorus of many a song. Either is sufficient, I predict, to stir old-timers into a quivering effort at warbling. Sentimental ballads must have had a strong appeal in that part of the 19th century. Neppy words and mushy melodies, especially designed for self-made tenors, no doubt caused a cascade of tears in every audience that heard them.

Ladies and gentlemen, with your kind indulgence, I desire to offer a fragment of that touching, heart-throbbing selection, "The Golden Wedding." Let it be the chorus, which ran thus:

"Oh, for the crimson glow,
"Oh, for the golden day-dreams,
"Fifty years ago,
"Oh, for the fairy voices,
"And the songs we used to sing,
"Telling of heavenly joys, my boys,
"Found in a wedding ring."

Undoubtedly the composer was thoroughly aware of the demands of his listeners and the breathing capacities of his interpreters. Four lines start off, you may notice, with "Oh." What would a buxom soprano in abbreviated skirts, striving to be girlish in spite of an obvious failure to diet, do with each "Oh." How the tenor or the baritone, with the bicycle-handle mustache, would throw his soul and full lung-power into what the lyricist plainly intended as a longing sigh—a yearning that was bound to become deeper and more penetrating with each repetition. Picture the vocalist, with continuous upward rolling of the eyes, putting it across. See if you agree with me that when the audience got them the words sounded as follows:

"O-ah, for thuh gold-sun vish-uns,
"O-ah, for thuh crim-sun glo-o-ow,
"O-ah, for thuh gold-sun day-dre-ums
"Fiftee yea-ahs ago, o-o-o;
"O-ah, for thuh fairree voy-ee-z-z-z-z
"And thur so-ongs we u-stah sing-
"Telling-g-g of hev-vun-lee jo-oy-s, my bo-oy-s,
"Found in ah wed-ding r-r-r-ring-g-g-g!"

Fussing Over Flames

Admittedly a slattern, I have never been able to adjust myself to an orderly system of lighting my pipe, cigars (when able to afford them) or cigarettes. A card of paper matches, thrust casually in this or that pocket, or maybe several loose wooden ones resting obscurely in the lining of my waistcoat, have constituted the base of supplies—if I had one. Therefore, my envy of the dandy, with his patented lighter, has never abated. With covetous eyes have I watched many a

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

State Federation

ANNUAL MEETING. Reports of achievements and of plans still going forward, social festivities, addresses of notables, filling the hours of the three official days from Tuesday at 10 a. m. to Thursday noon, May 16th to 18th, not to add the hours on Monday which preceded the formal opening of sessions in Convention Hall at the New Ocean House, Swampscott, gave proof of so much of vital interest and concern in this organization that it becomes a puzzle to decide which of the many events are most noteworthy, and which may be eliminated as known to all clubwomen. It certainly presented a balanced ration of business and pleasure, aims and friendships, ideals and relaxation, and of one thing there is no question, the women's clubs, individually and in federation, are serving in every field of endeavor for the welfare of man, woman, and child of city, town and state, of county, nation, and world. They are feeding, clothing, clothing the poor, giving courage to the needy, whether in actual food, raiment, and money, or in the true food that sustains, spiritual, mental, intellectual; or rich raiment of moral values in art, literature, music, drama; or in real purchasing power of generous contributions toward national peace and world prosperity, through contented minds and hearts of all who have genius and talent to bestow.

In the Convention Hall, dedicated to the Massachusetts State Federation a few years ago by the management of the New Ocean House, in appreciation and respect to this organization which first came to this ocean-side spot for a convention, realizing its possibilities for adequate service, and for delightful surroundings, Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, who for one year has stood gallantly at the head of the state, a trying year with its problems due to world conditions, and who has endeared herself throughout the Bay State for her genuine friendliness, sincerity, and cordiality, opened the first official session on Tuesday morning, at 10 o'clock, May 16th. As sessions progressed she passed over the gavel to her vice-presidents, who assisted in presiding, giving them opportunity for a pleasure that was shared by the delegates, who enjoyed seeing their friends in this new role. To preside over these large sessions three times a day is a task of no mean meaning between seven and eight hours each on two days and another three hours on closing day. Mrs. Bennett was wise in sparing herself this strain, following the example of the officers of the General Federation, for keeping up 328 delegates in attendance, and 137 officers. Clubwomen numbering two thousand, or more, filled the hall to capacity at some sessions, especially on Wednesday evening, Governor's Night. Juniors, young girls still in school, numbering 265, thrilled to their banquet on Tuesday evening, and to their parade into the hall that evening. Yet there are those who say women's clubs have had their day, and ask "what do they do?"

For reply, let us consider the following: The women's clubs have a bright picture of the many fields of endeavor, rich in blessing for folk who speak only from the heart. Gratifying was the report of the treasurer, Mrs. Frederick S. Davis, of Boston, who showed disbursements of $11,659.72 and $72,313.13 had been contributed to the Foundation Fund of which $35,000 has been given to the national organization. The sum of $1747 has been contributed to complete the State Forest at Petersham. Interest from the Shannon Fund of $2000 has been donated for the girls' work of Morgan Memorial.

The president's report on philanthropies, showed that in spite of the depression, the State Federation has given $104,616.98 in community service, to Red Cross, scholarships, hospital and other helpful activities during the past year.

More than $50,000 has been given in scholarships and loan funds by the clubwomen of Massachusetts, according to the announcement of Mrs. Edgar Tregning, of Attleboro, chairman of Education.

Opportunity for education, given to so many eager girls, has no financial summary that can indicate the value for years, even for generations, to come, in such an activity. In addition to this sum as expended by the individual clubs, the State Federation, from funds set aside for some worthwhile purpose, contributed the following:

"Perpetuating the ideals of revered leaders, the State Federation offers liberal scholarships to several girls in the state each year," said Mrs. Frederick Glazier Smith, of Somerville, chairman of the Memorial committee, in her report. "The versatility of these former club leaders is noted in the list of scholarships, one of which sends a student to Simmons College, another to International College at Springfield, a third to the MacDowell Colony at Peterboro, N. H., while no less than five girls have been aided at Massachusetts State College, Amherst, this year."

Speaking of the hundreds of kindly acts performed by clubs under the division of Community Service, Mrs.

Leon P. Dutch, of Winthrop, State chairman, commended the Junior Clubs which have made this their major activity during the year. "Local welfare everywhere has been the main objective," asserted Mrs. Dutch, "and there is hardly a club, large or small, but what has made a contribution, not only of money, but of many hours of personal service, in many capacities." With 60 Junior Clubs in Massachusetts, she to the credit of her committee, set doubled in the past two years. Mrs. I. William Crowell, of Winthrop, chairman, gave an optimistic forecast of junior activities. "We teach these juniors to beautify the lives of others, to develop individuality, and to contribute to the community," declared Mrs. Crowell. "We feel that our program interests the girls in the worthwhile things of life—in the arts, community service, gardens and roadside beautification, international relations, war veterans, the handicapped, and the home."

"Let your conversation be conservation," was the ardent appeal of Mrs. Robert B. Parmenter, of Arlington, State chairman of this activity. She announced the completion of the Federation Forest at Petersham, an outstanding project of the clubs of the state the past three years, saying that clubwomen made generous contributions toward the purchase. The 13th district contributed $515, the 12th district $494.03, and the second district $259.

All of the clubs of the 12th district made contributions. The Worcester Woman's Club was the largest contributor, giving $175; Arlington Woman's club, $93 and Auburndale, $67. The honor role clubs giving four dollars, included the clubs of Barre, Brockton, Leominster, Littleton, Marblehead, Medfield, Natick, Waban, West Boylston, West Roxbury and Worcester.

Over forty clubs have enrolled in the roadside and community beautification contest. Projects being undertaken include elimination of dumps, signs and shacks, planting of road sides, river-banks and railroad embankments, landscaping of communities, and development of parks, nature trails and community gardens.

A number of schools throughout the country are using material, stimulating boys and girls to see, preserve, and encourage outdoor beauty in their own communities. The Junior Garden movement is becoming popular with the younger school children, and Wilmington is the second to establish a school forest, following the lead of East Bridgewater last year. In the sixth grade pupils of the state have been and enthusiastically for the second year in the Forestry Notebook Contest.

That the school children of the state have already entered wholeheartedly into conservation projects was proven in the awarding of prizes in this year's contest. The first prize in a room project went to the Wilbraham school, Wilbraham; the Leonard school, Malden, captured a blue ribbon for having the best notebooks as a room project. The Monaligon school, Braintree, captured a prize, and a blue ribbon went to the Pennington school.

Not the least impressive of Mrs. Parmenter's presentation of her subject was her exhibit at the hotel where a picture machine gave opportunity to view beautifully-colored slides of roadside improvement; the notebooks of flower and forest done by the children; and an interesting collection of things made from wood, such as artistic matches, shoe heels, a rubber dog, and men's and women's hose, was decidedly unique.

On Tuesday afternoon, the eagerly-awaited awarding of prizes in a similar project for appreciation of the artistic took place.

The Art Appreciation prize contest for note books of eighth grade pupils was a new project in the Art division this year. First prize went to Miss Alberta Nowak, West Boylston, who submitted a notebook in copper plate for her notebook in Greek sculpture, and to William E. Farrington, Jr., Braintree, who wrote on architecture. He received an Old New England bottle with a ship inside. Prizes to groups were awarded to the Hosmer school of Pittsburg and the Joseph H. Barnes school of East Boston.

Awarding of prizes in contests being in order, that of Mothercraft also came on this day, Tuesday. In her report on this subject, of which she is State and National founder, Mrs. May Dickinson Kimball said:

"While economy is limiting cultural subjects in many schools today, Mothercraft thus far has been fortunate in its friends. Considering its importance to the human race, we may look forward to continued support from leaders of the educational world." She was quoted by S. Gruver, superintendent of schools in Lynn, where Mothercraft is a part of the curriculum, as saying that nothing in the school program will contribute more in the long run to the purposes of public education than this work.

Mrs. Kimball is advancing many new plans for its furtherance. She has set aside June 13 for an outing of the Mothercraft Club of Massachusetts at Dickinson-Baggs Tavern in Amherst where she will entertain the members at luncheon. They will be the guests of Massachusetts State College, enjoying a social hour and tea on the campus. Among the prominent hostesses who will welcome guests to the tavern is Mrs. Edward M. Cox of Milton, State recording secretary, who will officiate for three days, June 20 to 22.

Full of appeal was the ceremony of awarding prizes in the Mothercraft essay contest. The awards were made by no less a dignitary than Mrs. Poole. First prize, Annie Falconi, Marlboro; second, Phyllis Richman, Reading; third, Dorothy April, Lynn; additional third, Sylvia Williamson, Milford. The Mothercraft year-book was presented to a group honorably mentioned: Margaret Wilson, Winchendon; Elma Tkazyk, Gardner; Ruth Cavanaugh, Methuen; Mildred Hastings, Orange; Marie Curran, Salem; Isabel Provan, East Braintree; Julia Ashley, Winthrop; Norma Barton, Winchendon.

Newton has the honor of claiming the artist whose painting of Rockport harbor was awarded as the prize for outstanding art work to the Art chairman, Mrs. Arthur E. Staff, of the Brockton Woman's Club. Dorothy Staples Emmons.

At noon on Tuesday three different luncheons were served, and at one of these sat the presidents of the clubs in the State Federation.

Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, president of the National Federation of Women's Clubs, was a guest at this latter luncheon and gave a talk on her inspection, tour of the women's clubs in the United States, and also spoke of the friendship tour which members of the national body are planning this Summer in Europe.

Mrs. Poole said that she had traveled in 23 States visiting Federations this season, which she said, was a record for a General Federation president in her first year. She stated that it costs $5000 per month to run the Federation Headquarters in Washington, or $60,000 a year and told of drastic retrenchments in year in expenditures.

Mrs. Bennett, then, evening, invited to the president's table in the hotel dining room, the sixteen directors, whose reports were to make up part of the Tuesday night program, a graceful gesture of hospitality, which they surprised her by acknowledging in as graceful a relation, by singing a song written in her honor by Mrs. Fred B. Cross, to the old tune of "Reuben, Reuben, I've Been Thinking", after which they presented a gift of money.

Meanwhile the Juniors, numbering over 250, held their first annual banquet, celebrating it in the Puritan Grill. Mrs. I. William Crowell, chairman, of Winthrop, and Mrs. Charles C. Willson, of Auburndale, marshalled the happy group. Mrs. Poole addressed them. Miss Agnes Carr, poet of the Boston Traveler, read an original poem "Live With Me." Honor guests included Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. Frederick G. Smith, Mrs. Poole and Mrs. Carl L. Schrader.

Miss Dorothy Cole, of Framingham, presided as toastmistress. Responding to toasts were Miss Marjorie Quinn, of Braintree, Ruth Lathrop, Quincy; Miss Barbara Osgood, Dorchester; Miss Elizabeth Hardwick, Reading; and Miss Doris Volpe, Medford.

Among the girls who have won honors this year are Marjorie Holcomb, of Newton, who is announced as winner in the Poetry contest, with honorable mention going to Anna K. Spiale of the Boston Italian Juniors. In the Drama contest honors go to Revere Junior Woman's Club.

Miss Martha Wight, of Newton Centre, was chosen as the honor delegate to attend the Biennial Council of the General Federation being held this week at Richmond, Va., May 23rd to 26th, having been awarded the State Junior Travel Scholarship.

The spectacular parade into Convention Hall that evening of Juniors, directors, and State officers, headed by Mrs. Bennett and Mrs. Poole, evening frocks and flowers making a delightful picture, opened the musical program given by Juniors. Convention hall was festooned with red, white and blue, and music and baskets of flowers barked the stage. The Revere Junior Club orchestra, Miss Helen N. O'Connor, conductor, played for the parade and the State Federation Choral Society, George S. Dunham, conductor, gave a program of music.

Miss Inez Arzillo, Junior League of Italian Club, conducted a "cello nambe", accompanied by Miss Desmondia Popiano. There was chorus singing by the Junior Monday Club of Weymouth, Mr. Dunham, conductor. Miss Elizabeth Dunn, president of Rockland Junior Club, represented Juniors on the program. All of the Juniors sang "The American Girl."

The presentation of "A Balanced Diet" by the directors, who showed vitamins a, b, c, d, and e, as the staff of life through club activities in art, literature, community service, and a myriad of other club works, gave great enjoyment to the clubwomen, so clever and witty were these concoctions.

Mrs. Poole, welcomed in a great ovation, gave the address of the evening. "Unless the nations of the world are willing to unite the next generation will face worse problems than we have had to face," she declared. "Whether you believe in world co-operation or not, if it doesn't come, heaven help the world." She is strongly against the United States keeping out of such a union.

Referring to the sweat shops Mrs. Poole urged club members to buy clothing that is too cheap in price because it means that girls and women have had to work long hours and have been paid almost nothing.

The national leader suggested that federated clubs take a lead in forming community committees to see that they are fully equipped to "stand in the battle of life."

As prophesied, the Resolution deprecating cheap and exciting radio programs was unanimously adopted by the convention on Tuesday. Other Resolutions adopted included one favoring the continuance of the State Division of Smoke Inspection; one urging support of the Hoover and Roosevelt policies to control the export of munitions, as a means of discouraging conflicts; one supporting disarmament.

TYDOL REVOLUTIONIZES GASOLINE!

The First Lubricating Hi-Test Gas
WATCH FOR NEWS OF TWO OTHER REVOLUTIONARY QUALITIES

AT REGULAR GAS PRICE!

Today, TYDOL announces a new type gasoline. A gasoline that lubricates as it drives.

For the first time! . . . Absolutely free! . . . Top-cylinder lubrication in a hi-test gasoline.

In every gallon of the new Triple "X" TYDOL there has been blended the scientifically correct proportion of a water-white, carbonless lubricant, refined by Tide Water's secret K.A.E. process. This lubricant insures perfect top-cylinder and valve lubrication, acts as a carbon solvent and actually results in a definite increase in gasoline mileage.

The benefits of this remarkable lubricant have actually been proved on the road in tests of more than 11,000,000 miles.

But that is not all the story. In addition to this free, extra lubricating feature, Triple "X" TYDOL will give you two more premium qualities never before combined in any other regular price gasoline.

Watch for news of these two other qualities . . . each as revolutionary as this lubricating feature.
